1 Processed Cheese J L Kraft grew up on a dairy farm in Stevensville Ontario While working as a grocer he was struck by the amount of cheese that was wasted on wheels of cheddar when the dried rind was scraped off to get at the fresh interior He resolved to find a way to use this waste product experimenting with double boilers preservatives and cheddar Eventually he found a way of stabilizing the dairy product that has come to be known as processed cheese

2 Frozen Foods The technology to freeze food quickly and transport it to markets far away was developed in Halifax in 1928 Within a year ice fillets were being sold to fish deprived Torontonians who loved the taste and didn t seem to mind the high price tag Despite this the fishing industry and private companies lost interest and quickly mothballed the project In 1930 a feisty American Colonel Clarence Birdseye claimed responsibility for developing frozen foods and promptly made a fortune

3 Pablum Invented in 1930 by Dr Alan Brown assisted by researchers Theodore Drake and Fred Tisdall The add water baby cereal revolutionized infant nutrition and of course became synonymous with food that was bland and mushy

4 Poutine Although many claim responsibility for the crowd pleasing combination of squeaky cheese curds canned gravy and french fries it is generally agreed that the first order of this regional specialty of Quebec was served up by restaurant owner Fernand Lachance in 1957 Many variations on the original recipe exist including one deluxe version with foie gras served in Montreal s Pied de Cochon bistro Canadiana, 1982 The Canadian Year Book for ..., 1899 Fascinating Canada John Robert Colombo, 2011-05-27 Few people have read as widely in the field of Canadiana as has John Robert Colombo The curiosity of this Toronto writer editor and anthologist knows few if any bounds when it comes to the lore literature history culture and character of Canada He has an inquiring mind and he seems able to find national and even international twists to subjects of interest or importance Fascinating Canada his latest book is the product of over half a century of research reading writing and thinking Some years ago the author produced a trilogy of question and answer books 1 000 Questions about Canada 999 Questions about Canada 1 000 Questions about Canada The first two were published by Doubleday Canada the third one in 2001 by Dundurn Press The same format is adapted to the material in the present book but this time the majority of the questions are short whereas a good many of the answers are quite long discussions of the subjects at hand concise questions followed by considered answers Here is a book about the Canadian past present and future The information in Fascinating Canada is organized under four headings People Places Things Ideas and there is a detailed Index for ready reference This book may serve as a work of popular reference but it has been written to stimulate inquiry and spark the sense of surprise in the minds of readers who know something about this amazing country but perhaps not as much as the author Open this book and begin to read and match wits with author and researcher John Robert Colombo Bridges to Understanding Linda M. The Canada Gazette Canada,1905 The Canadian Year Book ,1899 Deindustrializing Montreal Steven High,2022-06-13 Point Saint Charles a historically white working class neighbourhood with a strong Irish and French presence and Little Burgundy a multiracial neighbourhood that is home to the city s English speaking Black community face each other across Montreal s Lachine Canal once an artery around which work and industry in Montreal were clustered and by which these two communities were formed and divided Deindustrializing Montreal challenges the deepening divergence of class and race analysis by recognizing the intimate relationship between capitalism class struggles and racial inequality Fundamentally deindustrialization is a process of physical and social ruination as well as part of a wider political project that leaves working class communities impoverished and demoralized The structural violence of capitalism occurs gradually and out of sight but it doesn t play out the same for everyone Point Saint Charles was left to rot until it was revalorized by gentrification whereas Little Burgundy was torn apart by urban renewal and highway construction This historical divergence had profound consequences in how urban change has been experienced understood and remembered Drawing extensive interviews a massive and varied archive of imagery and original photography by David Lewis into a complex chorus Steven High brings these communities to life tracing their history from their earliest years to their decline and their current reality He extends the analysis of deindustrialization often focused on single industry towns to cities that have seemingly made the post industrial transition The urban neighbourhood has never been a settled concept and its apparent innocence masks considerable contestation divergence and change over time Deindustrializing Montreal thinks critically about locality revealing how heritage becomes an agent of gentrification investigating how places like Little Burgundy and the Point acquire race and class identities and questioning what is preserved and for whom Canadian Books in Print ,1997
