Lewis,2006-01-01 How did women in the early twentieth century newly arrived in North West Canada cope with their strange new lives so very different from the lives they used to lead How did they see themselves and their role in frontier life In the early twentieth century drawn west by the promise of free land economic success or religious and political freedom women moved from eastern Canada and overseas to farms and ranches in North West Canada They discovered that it was not the utopia touted by government propaganda or land agents They also discovered that there was a select but diverse group of rural women who shared their common experiences of isolation of hard work and duty of poverty and neglect But more importantly they shared knowledge of independence and self reliance and of pride in what they had accomplished Through letters written to the women s pages in agricultural newspapers they forged a vital network that supported encouraged and educated women in ways to improve their rural lives Their letters show how these rural women made significant and vital contributions to the settlement and development of the Canadian North West The Church ,1856 God With Us - CTL - 2009 , My Poetry
