Chinese and Japanese Music-Dramas J. I. Crump, William P. Malm, 2020-08-06 Chinese and Japanese Music Dramas is the result of a conference on the relations between Chinese and Japanese music drama held at the University of Michigan Ann Arbor on October 14 1971 In addition to the Association for Asian Studies four U M departments participated in the conference the Center for Japanese Studies the Center for Chinese Studies the School of Music and the Speech Department One important inspiration for the creation of such an interdisciplinary conference was the fact that each participant had found after years of individual research on music drama in East Asia consistent frustration caused by attempts to deal on their own with multiple cultural and technical problems Another motivating force was an awareness among many members of the four disciplines involved that the topic is in fact one of the largest untouched fields of scholarly endeavor in both Asian and theatrical studies The collection opens with J I Crump's exploration of the Ming commentators who began to subject Yuan musical drama to the same critiques as other literature from the past In the second chapter Rulan Chao Pian looks to the structure of arias in Peking Opera for clues about what distinguishes this art form William P Malm turns to three key sources for the performance conventions of Japanese Noh drama to glean any Sino Japanese music relationships that exist in technical terms and practices In the fourth essay Carl Sesar analyzes a Noh play that stages the tension between Chinese influence and Japanese originality Roy E Teele concludes the volume with a formal study of Noh play structure to assess lineages of influence from Chinese dramatic forms After each contribution the editors print a transcript of the conference participants discussion of that paper providing the reader with a detailed and nuanced view of how the contributors understood and responded to each other's work

Culture, Music Education, and the Chinese Dream in Mainland China Wai-Chung Ho, 2018-01-04 This book focuses on the rapidly changing sociology of music as manifested in Chinese society and Chinese education. It examines how social changes and cultural politics affect how music is currently being used in connection with the Chinese dream. While there is a growing trend toward incorporating the Chinese dream into school education and higher education, there has been no scholarly discussion to date. The combination of cultural politics transformed authority relations and officially approved songs can provide us with an understanding of the official content on the Chinese dream that is conveyed in today's Chinese society and how these factors have influenced the renewal of values-based education and practices in school music education in China.

The Semantics of Chinese Music Adrian Tien, 2015-01-14 Music is a widely enjoyed human experience. It is therefore natural that we have wanted to describe, document, analyse and somehow grasp it in language. This book surveys a representative selection of musical concepts in Chinese language, i.e. words that describe or refer to aspects of Chinese music. Important as these musical concepts are in the language, they have been in wide circulation since ancient times without being subjected to any serious semantic analysis. The current study is the first known attempt at analysing these Chinese musical concepts linguistically, adopting the Natural Semantic Metalanguage (NSM) approach to formulate semantically and cognitively rigorous explications. Readers will be able to better understand not only these musical concepts but also significant aspects of the Chinese culture, which many of these musical concepts represent. This volume contributes to the fields of cognitive linguistics, semantics, music, musicology and Chinese studies, offering readers a fresh account of Chinese ways of thinking, not least Chinese ways of viewing or appreciating music. Ultimately, this study represents trailblazing research on the relationship between language, culture and cognition.
