Lorraine Code, 1991 In this lively and accessible book Lorraine Code addresses one of the most controversial questions in contemporary theory of knowledge a question of fundamental concern for feminist theory as well Is the sex of the knower epistemologically significant Responding in the affirmative Code offers a radical alternative to mainstream philosophy's terms for what counts as knowledge and how it is to be evaluated Code first reviews the literature of established epistemologies and unmask the prevailing assumption in Anglo American philosophy that the knower is a value free and ideologically neutral abstraction Approaching knowledge as a social construct produced and validated through critical dialogue she defines the knower in light of a conception of subjectivity based on a personal relational model Code maps out the relevance of the particular people involved in knowing their historical specificity the kinds of relationships they have the effects of social position and power on those relationships and the ways in which knowledge can change both knower and known In an exploration of the politics of knowledge that mainstream epistemologies sustain she examines such issues as the function of knowledge in shaping institutions and the unequal distribution of cognitive resources What Can She Know will raise the level of debate concerning epistemological issues among philosophers political and social scientists and anyone interested in feminist theory Towards a Just and Ecologically Sustainable Peace Joseph Camilleri, Deborah Guess, 2020-08-13 This book addresses the need to develop a holistic approach to countering violence that integrates notions of peace justice and care of the Earth It is unique in that it does not stop with the move toward articulating Just Peace as a human concern but probes the mindset needed for the shift to a Just and Ecologically Sustainable Peace It explores the values and principles that can guide this shift theoretically and in practice International in scope and grounded in the reality of Indigenous and non Indigenous Australia and the wider Asia Pacific context the book brings together important insights drawn from the Indigenous relationship to land ecological feminism ecological philosophy the social sciences more generally and a range of religious and non religious cosmologies Drawn from diverse disciplinary backgrounds the contributors in this book apply their combined professional expertise and active engagement to illuminate the difficult choices that lie ahead Peacemaking , 2021-10-25 Peacemaking includes a large array of activities from local to global attempts to attain peace It includes consideration of international interstate and intertribal conflict resolution communal personal and interpersonal social justice deterrence of the use of nuclear weapons design of international treaties that prevent war or other forms of international conflict disarmament international organizations that secure the order among nations and even from some points of view war As the 20th century drew to a close we have witnessed peacemakers trying to end ethnic cleansing reinstate justly elected political leaders and reach compromises in the ideological differences that perpetuate age old conflicts We also see peacemaking in our schools homes and workplaces Philosophers have long been interested in peacemaking in one form or another and philosophical accounts of peacemaking reflect the variety of perspectives methods and activities developed in pursuing peacemaking In some instances philosophers expand upon the situations activities and methods of the peacemaker in the field The essays in this volume propose some theoretical arguments for various aspects of peacemaking offer nonmilitary alternatives to war and discuss practical examples of peacemaking in daily life The contributors analyze power relations language social groupings and distribution of resources At times they draw insight from social and historical models of conflict and conflict resolution This

Gender, UN Peacebuilding, and the Politics of Space Laura J. Shepherd, 2017-08-02 The United Nations Peacebuilding Commission UNPBC was established in December 2005 to develop outlines of best practice in post conflict reconstruction and to secure the political and material resources necessary to assist states in transition from conflict to peacetime Currently the organization is involved in reconstruction and peacebuilding activities in six countries Yet a 2010 review by permanent representatives to the United Nations found that the hopes of the UN peacebuilding architecture despite committed and dedicated efforts had yet to be realized Two of these hopes relate to gender and power specifically that peacebuilding efforts integrate a gender perspective and that the Commission consult with civil society NGOs and women's organizations This book is the first to offer an extensive and dedicated analysis of the activities of the UN Peacebuilding Commission with regard to both gender politics broadly conceived and the gendered dynamics of civil society participation in peacebuilding activities Laura J Shepherd draws upon original fieldwork that she conducted at the UN to argue that the gendered and spatial politics of peacebuilding not only feminizes civil society organizations but also perpetuates hierarchies that privilege the international over the domestic realms The book argues that the dominant representations of women gender and civil society in UN peacebuilding discourse produce spatial hierarchies that paradoxically undermine the contemporary emphasis on bottom up governance of peacebuilding activities

Gender, Agency and War Tina Managhan, 2012-01-30 This book traces practices of militarization and resistance that have emerged under the sign of motherhood in US Foreign Policy Gender Agency and War examines this discourse against the background of three key moments of American foreign policy formation the anti nuclear movement of the 1980s the Gulf War of the early 1990s and the recent invasion of Iraq For each of these moments the author explores the emergence of a historically specific and emblematic maternalized mode of female embodiment ranging from the hysterical antinuclear protester to the figure of Supermom in order to shed light onto the various practices which define and enable expressions of American sovereignty In so doing the text argues that the emergence of particular raced gendered and maternalized bodies ought not to be read as merely tangential to affairs of state but as instantiations of global politics This work urges an approach that rereads the body as an event with significant implications for the ways in which international politics and gender are currently understood This book will be of much interest to students of gender politics critical security studies US foreign policy and IR in general policy makers and diplomats Women and Peace in the Islamic World Yasmin Saikia, Chad Haines, 2015-01-20 How realistic is the prospect of peace in the Muslim world This question is the predominant focus for global analysis today but its debate frequently ignores the cultural and social complexity of the Muslim world reducing it into a system of states and select actors This book addresses such a failing by exploring how the everyday interactions of women in accordance with Islamic personal ethics can offer the world a new interpretation of peace In particular it focuses on the women in Islamic societies from Aceh to Bosnia Morocco to Bangladesh initiating a dialogue on the role of these women in peacemaking This concentration upon the complex issues of the everyday both enables a detailed exploration of how people conceptualise peace and opens up new frameworks for conflict resolution The discussions that emerge lead to a critical questioning of assumptions about peace as a state policy and cessation of violence Drawing upon original research from different parts of the Middle East North Africa and Asia including Iran India Afghanistan Bangladesh Bosnia Egypt and Sudan the contributors offer a refreshing new look at Muslim women as peacemakers challenging any assumptions of Islam as an inherently violent religion Such a timely work provides new and important analyses on the role of Muslim women in forging new pathways of peace in the contemporary world Turning Operations Mary Dietz, 2015-01-28 Through the re interpretation of influential thinkers such as Arendt Weil Beauvoir and Habermas Mary G Dietz weaves the concerns of democratic thought with that of feminist political theory demonstrating how important feminist theory has become to democratic thinking more generally Bringing together fifteen years of commentary on critical debates Turning Operations begins with problems central to feminism and ends with a series of reflections on the the politics of politics inviting the reader to think more expansively about the expressly public nature of political life Officer, Nurse, Woman Kara Dixon Vuic, 2010-01-01 Winner 2010 Lavinia L Dock Award American Association for the History of Nursing An American Journal of Nursing Book of the Year in History and Public Policy I never got a chance to be a girl Kate O Hare Palmer lamented thirty four years after her tour as an army nurse in Vietnam Although proud of having served she felt that the war she never understood had robbed her of her innocence and forced her to grow up too quickly As depicted in a photograph taken late in her tour long hours in the operating room exhausted her both physically and mentally Her tired eyes and gaunt face reflected the weariness she felt after treating countless patients some dying some maimed all like her forever changed Still she learned to work harder and faster than she thought she could to trust her nursing skills and to live independently She developed a way to balance the dangers and benefits of being a woman in the army and in the war Only fourteen months long her tour in Vietnam profoundly affected her life and her beliefs Such vivid personal accounts abound in historian Kara Dixon Vuic s compelling look at the experiences of army nurses in the Vietnam War Drawing on more than 100 interviews Vuic allows the nurses to tell their own captivating stories from their reasons for joining the military to the physical and emotional demands of a horrific war and postwar debates about how to commemorate their service Vuic also explores the gender issues that arose when a male dominated army actively recruited and employed the services of 5 000 nurses in the midst of a growing feminist movement and a changing nursing profession Women drawn to the army s patriotic promise faced disturbing realities in the virtually all male hospitals of South Vietnam Men who joined the nurse corps ran headlong into the army s belief that women should nurse and men should fight Officer Nurse Woman brings to light the nearly forgotten contributions of brave nurses who risked their lives to bring medical care to soldiers during a terrible and divisive war

Women, Gender Equality, and Post-Conflict Transformation Joyce P. Kaufman, Kristen P. Williams, 2016-10-04 The end of formal hostilities in any given conflict provides an opportunity to transform society in order to secure a stable peace This book builds on the existing feminist international relations literature as well as lessons of past cases that reinforce the importance of including women in the post conflict transition process and are important to our general understanding of gender relations in the conflict and post conflict periods Post conflict transformation processes including disarmament demobilization and reintegration DDR programs transitional justice mechanisms reconciliation measures and legal and political reforms which emerge after the formal hostilities end demonstrate that war and peace impact and are impacted by women and men differently By drawing on a strong theoretical framework and a number of cases this volume provides important insight into questions pertaining to the end of conflict and the challenges inherent in the post conflict transition period that are relevant to students and practitioners alike
