Rodrick, 2024-07-25 We are a much lectured people wrote Robert Spence

Watson in 1897 Beginning at mid century cities and towns across England used the popular lecture for purposes ranging from serious education to effervescent entertainment and from regional pride to imperial belonging Over time the popular lecture became the quintessential embodiment of Victorian knowledge based culture which itself ranged from the production of new knowledge in the most elite of learned societies to the consumption of established knowledge in middle class clubs and the hundreds of humble mechanics institutions initially founded to provide scientific instruction to workers What did the average Victorian talk and think about How did the knowledge based culture of lecture and debate enable men and women to demonstrate both civic engagement and cultural competence How does this knowledge based culture and its changing expression give us ways to look at Victorian citizenship long before the extension of the franchise With engaging and accessible prose Anne Rodrick draws from a variety of primary sources to provide fascinating answers to these pertinent questions Based on the analysis of several thousand lectures and debates delivered over more than 50 years this book digs deeply into what those individuals below the most elite levels thought heard debated and claimed as a badge of cultural competence By the turn of the 20th century the popular lecture was competing for attention with new institutions of leisure and of higher education and the discourse surrounding its place in contemporary England helps illuminate important debates over access to and deployment of knowledge and culture

After the Shock City Tom Hulme, 2019 A comparative and trans national study of urban culture in Britain and the United States from the late nineteenth to the twentieth century Using the industrial cities of Manchester and Chicago as case studies this book traces the idea of citizenship across different areas of local life in the first half of the twentieth century from philosophy and festivals to historical re enactment and public housing Coalitions of voluntary associations municipal government and local elites lambasted modern urban culture as the cause of social disintegration But rather than simply decanting the population to new and smaller settlements they tried to re imagine a reformed city as a place that could foster loyal and healthy communities Celebrating civic progress in the period since the shock city of the nineteenth century they sought to create a sense of local pride that could bracket growing class and racial tensions The diverse individuals groups and communities of the city reacted in different ways to this message Some were happy to gather under the identity of one civic banner Others held back by discriminatory structures of society chose to shape their own idea of citizenship one that looked far beyond the city for a sense of belonging and rights Historians have tended to emphasise the rise of national identity state centralisation and popular patriotism at the expense of distinctive local identities municipal autonomy and expressions of civic pride This book aims to redress the imbalance demonstrating how local ideas of belonging could still exert a powerful hold on the making of modern citizenship

TOM HULME is a lecturer in the School of History Anthropology Philosophy and Politics Queen s University Belfast

The Round Table Movement and the Fall of the 'Second' British Empire (1909-1919) Andrea Bosco, 2017-01-06 In spite of the general phobia of federalism there is a strong federalist trend within British political culture In three very different historical contexts federalism inspired the action of political movements such as the Imperial Federation League the Round Table and the Federal Union Indeed it was regarded as the solution to problems arising from the first signs of the possible collapse of Great Britain and its Empire The Round Table Movement played a particularly interesting role in this regard attempting to reverse the rapid and inexorable decline of the British Empire It was a political organisation with roots in all the major peripheries of the Empire and almost unlimited financial resources This volume discusses the strategies and means employed by the group in order to maintain the British Empire s global prominence The book s main argument is that we did not have a British century the nineteenth and an American century the twentieth but rather four centuries of Anglo Saxon supremacy which witnessed the affirmation of the national principle expression of the Continental political tradition and its overcoming through its opposite the federal principle the expression of the insular political tradition The Life and Turbulent Times of Clara Dorothea Rackham Maroula Joannou,2022-10-18 This is the first critical study of Clara Dorothea Rackham ne Tabor 1875 1966 a towering figure in the suffrage labour co operative peace and adult education movements but virtually forgotten today This clearly written and engaging study is based on unpublished primary sources including Rackham s unpublished speeches letters diaries and contemporary media coverage of her work in local and national archives It reassesses this remarkable woman not only as a politician who changed the face of Cambridge the university city in which she lived and worked but also as a public intellectual whose feminist advocacy of a fair just and equal society helped pave the way to Britain s postwar settlement and Welfare State Rackham came to prominence as Chairman of the National Union of Women s Suffrage Societies as a government factory inspector and championing the rights of unemployed women in the 1930s An early broadcaster on BBC radio and among the first women appointed magistrates and councillors her name became synonymous with enlightened local government The transformation of women s lives in Victorian and twentieth century Britain is crucial to understanding Rackham s ideals intellectual formation and priorities as a Labour Party politician This book will be of interest to historians and students of gender history and women s lives Making socialists Jane Martin,2018-04-30 Making Socialists combines a biographical study of a nowadays virtually unknown woman with an original exploration of several major themes in late nineteenth and early twentieth century political and educational history More than a local politician Mary Bridges Adams was among the dynamic late nineteenth century women activists who sought to transform government policy through socialist initiatives with the ultimate utopian aim of creating a social nation The author has assembled a thorough range of sources including new materials that will bring fresh insights to this biography and more generally to Labour Party and socialist historiography well studied topics The people Adams knew and the circles in which she travelled are particularly attractive features of this book Foes thought her an awful woman friends like George Bernard Shaw remembered the power of her oratory Placed against the circumstances in which she lived and presented as part of a militant and anti capitalist tradition within labour history her life story contributes to new ways of seeing both socialist and feminist politics New Perspectives on Welsh Industrial History Louise Miskell,2019-12-15 This volume tells a story of Welsh industrial history different from the one traditionally dominated by the coal and iron communities of Victorian and Edwardian Wales Extending the chronological scope from the early eighteenth to the late twentieth century and encompassing a wider range of industries the contributors combine studies of the internal organisation of workplace and production with outward facing perspectives of Welsh industry in the context of the global economy The volume offers important new insights into the companies the employers the markets and the money behind some of the key sectors of the Welsh economy from coal to copper and from steel to manufacturing and challenges us to reconsider what we think of as constituting industry in Wales

Towards Teaching in Public Mike Neary, Les Bell, Howard Stevenson, 2012-02-02 Towards Teaching in Public Reshaping the Modern University explores how the contested relationships between policy curriculum and pedagogy are reshaping the modern university and examines the impact of conceptualisations of teaching in public on this debate in this age of academic capitalism It traces the emergence of strategies for open access with particular reference to the contribution of technology and e learning to the emergence of teaching in public as a critique of current educational policy The contributors combine policy analysis with a consideration of pedagogical issues and an exploration of the student experience This collection draws together chapters by experienced scholars and practitioners within the field of teaching and learning in higher education

Haldane John Campbell, 2020-07-16 Can you name the creator of the Territorial Army the British Expeditionary Force the Imperial General Staff and the Officers Training Corps The man who laid the foundation stones of MI5 MI6 the RAF the LSE Imperial College the redbrick universities and the Medical Research Council This book restores Richard Burdon Haldane to his rightful place among the great men of British and Canadian history Serving as war minister in the 1905 Liberal British government his groundbreaking proposals on defence education and government structure were astonishingly ahead of his time the very building blocks of modern Britain Even the Canadian Constitution as now interpreted is unthinkable without Haldane His ubiquitous networks ranged from Wilde to Einstein Churchill to Carnegie king to kaiser his polymathic interests enabled pioneering cross party cross sector cooperation Yet in 1915 he was ejected from the Lord Chancellorship unjustly vilified by an ignorant press campaign as a German sympathizer John Campbell charts these ups and downs reveals the intensely personal side of Haldane through previously unpublished love letters and shows his enormous relevance in our search for just societies and states today Amidst political and national instability it is surely now right to reinstate Haldane as an outstanding example of true statesmanship

Saunders Redding Edmund Wilson Cleanth Brooks Josephine Miles and Simon J Ortiz This new history of English rewrites what we know about the discipline by showing how students helped write foundational works of literary criticism and how English classes at community colleges and HBCUs pioneered the reading methods and expanded canons that came only belatedly to the Ivy League It reminds us that research and teaching which institutions often imagine as separate have always been intertwined in practice In a contemporary moment of humanities defunding the casualization of teaching and the privatization of pedagogy The Teaching Archive offers a more accurate view of the work we have done in the past and must continue to do in the future A Historical Guide to NGOs in Britain M. Theatre with a Purpose Don Watson, 2023-12-28 This study of British amateur theatre in the inter war period examines five different but interwoven examples of the belief common in theatrical and educational circles at the time that amateur drama had a purpose beyond recreation Amateur theatre was at the height of its popularity as a cultural practice between the wars so that by 1939 more British people had practical experience of putting on plays than at any time before or since Providing an original account of the use of drama in adult education projects in deprived areas and of amateur theatre in government funded centres for the unemployed in the 1930s it discusses repertoires participation by working class people and pioneering techniques of play making Amateur drama festivals and competitions were intended to raise standards and educate audiences This book assesses their effect on play making and the use of innovative one act plays to express contentious material as well as looking at the Left Book Club Theatre Guild as an attempt to align the amateur theatre movement with anti fascist and anti war movements A chapter on the Second World War rectifies the neglect of amateur theatre in war time cultural studies arguing that it was present and important in every aspect of war time life Don Watson builds on current scholarship and makes use of archival sources local newspapers unpublished scripts and the records of organizations not usually associated with the theatre His work explores the range and diversity of amateur drama between the wars and the contributions it made to British theatre

Belonging in Europe - The African Diaspora and Work Caroline Bressey, Hakim Adi, 2013-09-13 This publication does not just mark the presence of black people in Europe but brings research to a new stage by making connections across Europe through the experience of work and labour The working experience for black peoples in Europe was not just confined to ports and large urban areas often the place black people are located in the imagination of the European map both today and historically Work took place
