Reconstructing the Historical Background of Paul's Rhetoric in the Letter to the Colossians Adam Copenhaver, 2018-01-25 In approaching the debate surrounding the opponents in Colossians from a methodological standpoint Copenhaver contends that Paul was not actually confronting active opponents when he wrote the letter Rather Copenhaver takes the view that Paul s letter was written to the churches in the Lycus Valley in a desire to develop their identity as a new people in Christ and to appeal to them to live a new kind of life His warnings in Colossians 2 function as oppositional rhetoric contrasting the religious practices of the Lycus Valley with this new belief Paul s warnings are therefore broadly representative of the ancient world while at the same time focused especially on two threads of historical referents Judaism and pagan religions Development of the above argument demonstrates that the challenge of reconstructing a singular opponent arises not only from the limitations of textual and historical evidence but also from the assumptions and methodologies inherent in historical approaches to the text By modifying these assumptions and adjusting the methodology Copenhaver can show how Paul s letter takes on a new relationship to its historical context

Heaven's Kin Zwahk Muchoney, 2024-06-06

And God said Let there be light and there was light In that moment the first son of the Lord came into being and he was beautiful The angel was the herald of the dawn and as his younger brothers were fashioned by the guiding hand of the cosmos they all came to know Lucifer as their elder and placed their trust in him for he was the first and the loveliest to behold For untold ages he was a figure of respect and beloved by his brothers He taught Michael to fight Gabriel to sing Uriel to laugh and was all things to his many brethren But the Lord saw fit to place the highest beings of creation into the roles of servants and it was more than the son of Heaven could bear His pride overwhelmed him and when he called for war against his creator many of his brothers proclaimed Is he not the eldest and thus the wisest among us Why should we not follow him A civil war broke out amongst the angelic host and the angel of light was cast into darkness doomed to fall into madness and despair Some of the angels who followed him begged their father in Heaven for forgiveness and while they would never be permitted to return to the celestial realms they were allowed to maintain their connection with God provided they willingly submitted themselves to the whims of mankind The fallen angels who refused God's mercy followed Lucifer into the abyss from which there is no return and became the worst kinds of Devils to ever walk the Earth The angel of light knew no more for his mind had shattered and was swallowed up by his own pride never to return to his former state of Glory I will ascend higher than the highest clouds I will be the Most High Isaiah 14:14

Dialogues with Lucifer Chet Roberts, 2025-04-04 Few would disagree with the observation that we are living in very challenging times While individual rights are touted as the highest goal our culture continues to descend into violence crime and personal depression No one would dare utter the words Shame on you that was so common just fifty years ago Shame on you was a handy phrase by which society would challenge inappropriate behavior The recognition of a higher power was legislated away for fear of offending someone and time would reveal an increasing acceptance of weakness and indulgence as our true rights Honor honesty and integrity were abandoned by a culture who only recognized feelings as the true barometer of human experience A good idea The fruit of these choices has resulted in paranoia degradation unchallenged crime and despair Why Because we have cheerfully believed the lies of an evil force that desires the crushing of our very souls a force that will give us what we want now but for a terrible price later Worse when we cooperate with this force we soon find that something is still missing There are only distractions to fill a void that only a reconciliation with God will heal Dialogues with Lucifer may bring you closer to that which you really seek
