Joan Miró, Josep Llorens Artigas Joan Punyet Miró, Joan Gardy Artigas, 2007 The catalogue raisonné of Miró's ceramical work is a sequel to the four volume catalogue of his prints and the six volumes of his paintings and the volume of his sculptures. It has been produced by Joan Punyet Miró and Joan Gardy Artigas. It consists of a single volume in English containing 570 reproductions most of them in colour of all Miró's ceramics from the first painted vases from 1941 to the final monumental ceramic walls from 1981. All these pieces are unique, always done in stoneware or earthenware and fired in wood kilns. Comprehensive details are given for each ceramic: title, year of production, medium, materials, dimensions, with indication of signature, owner, provenance, the principal exhibitions it has appeared in, and the main publications in which it has been reproduced. Miró Joan Miró, 1963 Miro, Artigas, Ceramics [Nov. 5 to 30, 1963] Pierre Matisse Gallery, New York. Miró Og Artigas Ceramics, 1963. Tate Introductions: Miró Iria Candela, 2014-03-06. The bright colours and graphic strength of paintings by Joan Miro have made him an immensely popular modern painter, but the artist would have been extremely disappointed to see his work treated as little more than interior décor. In this accessible survey of the artist's life and career, Iria Candela explains the complex roots and darker shades that lie behind the evolution of Miró's work from the culture of his Catalan homeland to his exposure as a young man to the latest experiments of the avant-garde in Paris and the rise of Fascism in Spain. She examines not only Miró's paintings but also his sculpture, prints and murals, quoting from many of the artist's own revealing statements. For anyone wanting to explore the legacy left by the artist who declared that he wanted to assassinate painting, this concise introduction is the perfect guide. Exhibition of Ceramics by Miro and Artigas Pierre Matisse Gallery (N.Y.), 1963. Ceramic, Art and Civilisation Paul Greenhalgh, 2020-12-24. Full of surprises and evocative. The Spectator. Passionately written. Apollo. An extraordinary accomplishment. Edmund de Waal. Monumental. Times Literary Supplement. An epic reshaping of ceramic art. Crafts. An important book. The Arts Society Magazine. In his major new history, Paul Greenhalgh tells the story of ceramics as a story of human civilisation from the Ancient Greeks to the present day. As a core craft technology, pottery has underpinned domesticity, business, religion, recreation, architecture and art for millennia.

Indeed the history of ceramics parallels the development of human society This fascinating and very human history traces the story of ceramic art and industry from the Ancient Greeks to the Romans and the medieval world Islamic ceramic cultures and their influence on the Italian Renaissance Chinese and European porcelain production modernity and Art Nouveau the rise of the studio potter Art Deco International Style and Mid Century Modern and finally the contemporary explosion of ceramic making and the postmodern potter Interwoven in this journey through time and place is the story of the pots themselves the culture of the ceramics and their character and meaning Ceramics have had a presence in virtually every country and historical period and have worked as a commodity servicing every social class They are omnipresent a ubiquitous art Ceramic culture is a clear unique definable thing and has an internal logic that holds it together through millennia Hence ceramics is the most peculiar and extraordinary of all the arts At once cheap expensive elite plebeian high tech low tech exotic eccentric comic tragic spiritual and secular it has revealed itself to be as fluid as the mud it is made from Ceramics are the very stuff of how civilized life was and is led This then is the story of human society s most surprising core causes and effects
