Buddhist Christianity Ross Thompson, 2010-08-16 It is possible to be a Christian Buddhist in the context of a universal belief that sits fairly lightly on both traditions Ross Thompson takes especially seriously the aspects of each faith that seem incompatible with the other no God and no soul in Buddhism for example and the need for grace and the historical atonement on the cross in Christianity Buddhist Christianity can be no bland blend of the tamer aspects of both faiths but must result from a wrestling of the seeming incompatibles allowing each faith to shake the other to its very foundations The author traces his personal journey through which his need for both faiths became painfully apparent He explores the Buddha and Jesus through their teachings and the varied communities that flow from them investigating their different understandings of suffering and wrong self and liberation meditation and prayer cosmology and God or not He concludes with a bold commitment to both faiths

Treating the New Anxiety Kirk A. Bingham, 2007-09-16 A new form of anxiety has emerged stemming in part from our post 9 11 reality but even more stemming from the influence of supermodernity Whereas postmodernism theorizes an anxiety that results from the collapse or loss of meaning through the lens of supermodernity it appears that the new anxiety is evoked more by an excess of meaning generated by the rapid acceleration of human life and the media's daily bombardment with serious global national and local concerns This book explores the nature of the anxiety our supermodern condition provokes and proposes that with the void left by the diminishment of religious involvement and practice the therapy session becomes the definitive place for meaning making Building on a cognitive therapy approach that emphasizes the client's belief system Bingaman demonstrates that to treat this new anxiety most effectively practitioners must help clients identify and explore their core theological beliefs and spiritual values
