Literary Diseases Gian-Paolo Biasin, 1975-04-01 Disease real or imagined physical or mental is a common theme in Western literature and is often a symbol of modern alienation In Literary Diseases a comprehensive analysis of the metaphorical and symbolic force of disease in modern Italian literature Gian Paolo Biasin expands the geography of the discussion of this important theme Using as a backdrop the perspective of European experiences of the previous hundred years Biasin analyzes the theme of disease as a reflection of certain sociological and historical phenomena in modern European novels as a metaphor for the world visions of selected Italian novelists and especially as a vehicle for understanding the nature and function of fiction itself The core of Biasin's study is found in his discussion of the works of four major Italian writers In his criticism of the novels of Giovanni Verga who stood at the center of many complex developments in the nineteenth century he examines the antecedents of modern Italian prose He then scrutinizes the works of Italo Svevo and Luigi Pirandello who together inaugurated the modern novel in Italy Of particular interest is his exploration of their critical use of psychoanalysis and madness climaxed by apocalyptic visions He then discusses the prose of Carlo Emilio Gadda which epitomizes the problems of the avant garde in its experimentalism and expressionism Biasin utilizes a broad spectrum of critical approaches from sociology psychoanalysis and different trends in modern French American and Italian literary criticism in shaping his own methodology which is a thematic and structural symbolism He concludes that disease in literature should be considered as a metaphor for writing critique and as a cognitive instrument that calls into question the anthropocentric values of Western culture The book with its textual comparisons and unusual supporting examples constitutes a significant methodological contribution as well as a major survey of modern Italian prose and will allow the reader to see traditional landmarks in European fiction in a new light

Renaissance Culture and the Everyday Patricia Fumerton, Simon Hunt, 2014-06-10 It was not unusual during the Renaissance for cooks to torture animals before slaughtering them in order to render the meat more tender for women to use needlepoint to cover up their misconduct and prove their obedience and for people to cover the walls of their own homes with graffiti Items and activities as familiar as mirrors books horses everyday speech money laundry baskets graffiti embroidery and food preparation look decidedly less familiar when seen through the eyes of Renaissance men and women In Renaissance Culture and the Everyday such scholars as Judith Brown Frances Dolan Richard Helgerson Debora Shuger Don Wayne and Stephanie Jed illuminate the sometimes surprising issues at stake in just such common matters of everyday life during the Renaissance in England and on the Continent Organized around the categories of materiality women and transgression and constantly crossing these categories the book promotes and challenges readers thinking of the everyday While not ignoring the aristocratic it foregrounds the common person the marginal and the domestic even as it presents the unusual details of their existence What results is an expansive variegated and sometimes even contradictory vision in which the strange becomes not alien but a defining mark of everyday life

The Passenger: Medieval Texts and Transits James L. Smith, 2017-12-08 What strange transactions take place in the mobile spaces between loci How does the flow of forces between fixed points enliven texts suggest new connections and map out the dizzying motion of myriad interactions The essays in this volume were first presented at the 2014 New Chaucer Society Congress in Reykjavik Iceland where a meeting of minds in a shared intermediate space initiated dialogue from diverse perspectives and wended its way through the invisible spaces between concrete categories objects and entities The resulting volume asks a core question what can we learn by tarrying at the nexus points and hubs through which things move in and out of texts attempting to trace not the things themselves or their supposedly stable significations but rather their forms of emergence and retreat of disorder and disequilibrium The answer is complex and intermediate for we ourselves are emerging and retreating within our own systems of transit and experiencing our own disequilibrium Scholarship like transit is never complete and yet never congeals into inertia Through the manifold explorations of the dynamic transit transports scapes and flows found within literary and Chaucerian thought worlds new vistas of motion and motivation emerge Following John Urry's mobile sociology the volume advances the notion that we can no longer view either social worlds or textual worlds as uniform surfaces upon which one can trace or write a history of the horizontal movements of humans and human mentalities rather everything is in constant motion objects images information ideas and mobility is thus also vertical involving human and non human actants The essays in this volume consider then how medieval literary texts in Chaucer's period rewrap time and space by the means of sophisticated transit and transport structures which might be traced within specific works but also across works such as in text networks Motive entities within literature twist and turn interact and collide and destabilise predictable trajectories with unpredictable vigor

The Material Culture of Sex, Procreation, and Marriage in Premodern Europe A. McClanan, K. Encarnación, 2016-09-23

This interdisciplinary anthology takes as its starting point the belief that as the material grounds of lived experience material culture provides an avenue of historical access to women's lives extending beyond the reaches of textual evidence. Studies here range from utilitarian tools used in Late Roman abortion to sacred magical or ritual objects associated with sex, procreation and marriage in the Renaissance. Together the essays demonstrate the complex relationship between language and object and explore the ways in which objects become forms of communication in their own right, transmitting both rather specific messages and more generalized social and cultural values. The Critical Difference Barbara Johnson, 1985-03

Barbara Johnson investigates the significant and illuminating ways in which both literature and criticism are critically different from what they purport to be. Her subtle and provocative studies of Balzac, Mallarmé, Baudelaire, Apollinaire, Melville, Poe, Barthes, Lacan, Austin, and Derrida take a refreshing new approach to the fundamental questions of meaning, interpretation, and the relationship between literature and criticism. In each of seven essays, a clear, precise, and detailed reading of the rhetoric of one of more literary or critical works reveals the text's fundamental discrepancies, ambiguities, and contradictions. If rhetoric is seen as language's capacity to differ from literal statement and if to differ can also mean to disagree, then the reading of the rhetoric of literature and theory here is an attempt to capture the logic of a text's own disagreement with itself.

As It Is in Heaven Caitlin Smith Gilson, 2022-04-05 The loss of a real and heartfelt belief in God and by real I mean an experience that is both steady and moving, ethereal though down to earth, sentimental but never trite, comes from an earlier, more foundational loss, namely that of an ardent and directed desire for heaven and more specifically that paradisaic longing for the resurrected life. This book seeks to recover the neglected nature of heaven, degraded into something out there and unknown, degraded further into a vague wish for immortality and the often empty words of consolation. Or even worse, the almost comic book reduction of heaven to an earthly, social,ist paradise, the immanentization of the Christian eschaton. The vague, better place which is meant well often means nothing at all, or worse than that, can hamper us when approaching and engaging the mystery of grief. This book will address and interrogate various questions about the nature of the afterlife, on the status of guilt, forgiveness, friendship, love, embodiment, sexuality, and propose various paths to answers. We are talking about that sacred, innermost promise, the hope of paradisaic reunion, most secret and yet most universal, never abstract and shapeless but embodied and individual. We must wonder whether our casual forgetting of this estuary of human hope, the resurrected life, has caused us to lose ourselves in such a way that we do not even know what we have lost. Where Gods Die P.

Shankar., 2014-05-19 It is the Land of Plenty where the events of the novel take place, but they are presented in such a way that they indicate worldly happenings. These events have the global phenomena of the so-called Modernity and Progress, which left humanity far behind while itself proceeding miles and miles ahead. The story of the novel contains the bunch of events that depict Man, Money, and Market. Here, money symbolizes the Power and Market, the progress. Man is the Common

Man who is openly harassed and exploited The events are mostly set on Satire which is the backbone of the book Satire makes the theme extraordinarily effective and appealing By nature Fantasy makes satire more pleasing and convincing The novel for that matter pasteurizes the fantasy of various forms depicting different anomalies of the progressive world Besides Satire and Fantasy one more thing to mention This novel has a touch of Philosophy The Philosophy that would not bore but add a dimension to the readers thinking Turkish Nationalism and Western Civilization Ziya Gökalp,2025-04-01 Turkish Nationalism and Western Civilization 1959 presents Ziya G kalp s synthesis of nationalism Islam and Western civilization in a developmental and systematic way More than as a sociologist poet man of public affairs or ideological slogan maker Ziya G kalp 1876 1924 deserves the attention of social practitioners and scientists for his insight into the problems of accommodating non Western cultures and Western civilization progressively and creatively Despite Oneself Claudia Welz,Karl Verstryng,2008
