Mirrored Lives Aging Children And Elderly Parents:

Mirrored Lives Tom Koch, 1990 Beautifully written this is one of the best first person accounts of family caregiving Highly recommended for both children and parents Library Journal starred review My Mother's Hip Luise Margolies, 2004 Some 400 000 hip fractures occur every year the vast majority among the elderly all too often these fractures are associated with death or severe disability After her mother's double hip fracture Luisa Margolies immersed herself in identifying and coordinating the services and professionals needed to provide critical care for an elderly person She soon realized that the American medical system is ill prepared to deal with the long term care needs of our graying society The heart of My Mother's Hip is taken up with the author's day to day observations as her mother's condition worsened then improved only to worsen again while her father became increasingly anxious and disoriented As both a devoted daughter and a skilled anthropologist Margolies vividly renders her interactions with physicians nurses hospital workers nursing home administrators the Medicare bureaucracy home care providers and her parents In the Lessons chapter that follows each episode she discusses in a broader context the weighty decisions that adult children must make on their parents behalf and the emotional toll their responsibility takes Here she addresses the complex practical issues that commonly arise in such situations understanding the consequences of hip fracture and its treatment preparing health care proxies and advanced directives enabling elders to remain at home and the heartbreaking dilemma of prolonging life Like many adult children Margolies learned her lessons about eldercare in the midst of crises This book is intended to ease the information gathering and decision making processes for others involved in eldercare Caring for Elderly Parents Deborah M. Merrill, 1997-05-30 Based on open ended interviews with adult children and children in law this book documents how plain folk from the working and middle classes manage to provide care for their frail elderly parents while simultaneously meeting the obligations of their jobs and their own immediate families Adult children who care for elderly parents are pressured daily trying to juggle the responsibilities of work family and caregiving Deborah Merrill shows how plain folk as one caregiver termed herself from the working and lower middle classes manage to provide care for their frail elderly parents while simultaneously meeting the obligations of their jobs and their own immediate families The evidence is drawn from open ended in depth interviews with adult children and children in law all of whom have worked outside of the home at some point during caregiving Merrill examines the strategies that caregivers use to combine work and caregiving and the accommodations they make in their jobs She also points to the pathways that lead family members to caregiving roles and how those pathways vary according to family history gender and in law status By focusing on class differences in caregiving and pointing to policy implications Merrill has provided an invaluable resource for students researchers and policymakers in social work gerontology family studies and social issues Celebrating the Graying Church Richard P. Olson, 2020-11-30 Today many churches and their related agencies and ministries are shrinking Often a large portion of those who remain are older adults Celebrating the Graying Church suggests that this is an opportunity for a new and different kind of ministry a ministry to with and from older adults who may have wisdom to pass on to the legacy of the future generations This book offers opportunities ideas and guidance for this new vision and practice of ministry while also describing how aging adults in ministry can support each other and their faith communities Aging, 1989 Men and Aging Edward H.

Thompson, 1996-01-30 Until recently older men were not a social phenomenon commanding great attention Older men are a distinct minority among men accounting for 15 percent of the adult male population Among elders older men are still outnumbered by older women three to two and there are only two men for every five women over age 85 However the importance of gender to age and age to gender is being acknowledged by gerontologists as well as gender scholars This work is the first thorough study of the research examining older men as men Thompson was able to locate more than 750 articles which are organized by subject Gendered Aging Health and Well Being Sexuality Suicide and Alcohol Religiosity and Spirituality Stereotypes and Social Constructions Relationships and Social Life Family Relations Caregiving Economics and Retirement Living Arrangements and Resources and Needs and selectively annotated Access is also aided by extensive subject and author indexes This groundbreaking volume will be of great interest to gerontologists sociologists and all researchers concerned with gender issues Qualitative Gerontology Graham D. Rowles, 2001-09-24 The authors provide a contemporary perspective on the status of qualitative research in gerontology The second edition examines recent trends in the application of qualitative methodologies and the emergence of new qualitative techniques such as focus groups studies of personal histories and the use of photography Chapters include discussions of critical and feminist perspectives practice issues ethical issues and the contribution of qualitative research to the progress of science Care-Giving In Dementia

Gemma Jones, Bere Miesen, 2021-12-17 Care giving in dementia is a new speciality with its own rapidly growing body of knowledge This second volume of contributions from leading practitioners and researchers around the world is a handbook for all those involved in hands on caring or in planning care for persons with dementia Volume 2 of Care Giving in Dementia provides a rich source of information on most recent thinking about individualized long term care of both dementia sufferers and their families Key themes in Volume 2 are the subjective experience of dementia the provision of care for family carers differing cultural perspectives of dementia the crucial importance of life history information for understanding a person s reaction to their illness Chapters on the search for an ethical framework and the best environment within which to provide care are particularly timely Thieves of Virtue Tom Koch, 2014-08-29 An argument against the lifeboat ethic of contemporary bioethics that views medicine as a commodity rather than a tradition of care and caring Bioethics emerged in the 1960s from a conviction that physicians and researchers needed the guidance of philosophers in handling the issues raised by technological advances in medicine It blossomed as a response to the perceived doctor knows best paternalism of the traditional medical ethic and today plays a critical role in health policies and treatment decisions Bioethics claimed to offer a set of generally applicable universally accepted guidelines that would simplify complex situations In Thieves of Virtue Tom Koch contends that bioethics has failed to deliver on its promises Instead he argues bioethics has promoted a view of medicine as a commodity whose delivery is predicated not on care but on economic efficiency At the heart of bioethics Koch writes is a lifeboat ethic that assumes scarcity of medical resources is a natural condition rather than the result of prior economic political and social choices The idea of natural scarcity requiring ethical triage signaled a shift in ethical emphasis from patient care and the physician s responsibility for it to neoliberal accountancies and the promotion of research as the preeminent good The solution to the failure of bioethics is not a new set of simplistic principles Koch points the way to a transformed medical ethics that is humanist responsible and defensible A New Day for Family Ministry Richard P.

Seeking Medicine's Moral Centre Tom Koch,2025-01-16 For the first time in two millennia the Hippocratic ethic of medical care has been supplanted by a new bioethics The bottom up set of injunctions to care of the patient and for society ha been replaced by a top down commercial ethic focused on patient autonomy in a limited system of medical care To understand this transformation and its the effect Seeking Medicine s Moral Centre focuses on the issue of medical aid in dying MAiD in Canada Uniquely it introduces ethnography as a tool to parse a set of academic and public articles reflecting the changing face of medical ethics from 1996 to the present In doing so it joins the professional and the popular as a single dataset It is the first book to seriously critique bioethics as a medical ethic through its focus on medical aid in dying as a still contested program in care of the chronically ill and fragile Key audiences include journalists medical anthropologists and sociologists ethicists and bioethicists medical and scientific researchers and policy makers

Stories from the Front Line: The People Behind the NHS Headlines Yvonne Bennett,Christina Stead,2025-01-07 NHS Scotland appears to be in crisis Today the British media is full of headlines such as 89 year old great grandmother waits 5 hours for an ambulance These are a talking point for a day or two and then another headline of a similar ilk takes over This book examines the traumatic experiences of the elderly people whose stories make up these headlines The authors have carried out research into the effects of long waiting times for ambulances and the problems that NHS Scotland is facing through chronic staff shortages The waits and the limitations to patient care have long term implications for the patients the relatives and the staff Throughout the book we discuss iatrogenic disease harm that is occurring daily for patients visitors and staff The book concentrates on the new Glasgow hospital The Queen Elizabeth University Hospital which opened its doors in 2015 This is one of the largest hospitals in Europe and replaces 5 older Glasgow hospitals and has been beset by major problems since its opening By interviewing relatives and staff the authors have examined their experiences both during and following a traumatic event Themes found throughout the book include poor communication trauma low staff morale suicide and the problems caused by the size and design of the hospital The authors have also analysed statistics from NHS Scotland and Scottish Ambulance Service regarding waiting times and the use of agency staff The overarching goal of this book was to give a voice to those behind the statistics Contemporary Physician-Authors Nathan Carlin,2021-11-23
