Consciousness from a Broad Perspective Anders Hedman, 2017-05-23 This volume offers an introduction to consciousness research within philosophy psychology and neuroscience from a philosophical perspective and with an emphasis on the history of ideas and core concepts The book begins by examining consciousness as a modern mystery Thereafter the book introduces philosophy of mind and the mind body problem and proceeds to explore psychological philosophical and neuroscientific approaches to mind and consciousness The book then presents a discussion of mysterianist views of consciousness in response to what can be perceived as insurmountable scientific challenges to the problem of consciousness As a response to mysterianist views the next chapters examine radical approaches to rethinking the problem of consciousness including externalist approaches The final two chapters present the author's personal view of the problem of consciousness Consciousness remains a mystery for contemporary science a mystery raising many questions Why does consciousness persist as a mystery Are we humans not intelligent enough to solve the riddle of consciousness If we can solve this mystery what would it take What research would

we need to conduct Moreover the mystery of consciousness prompts the larger question of how well the cognitive sciences have actually advanced our understanding of ourselves as human beings After all consciousness is not just a minor part of our existence Without consciousness we would not be human beings at all This book aims to increase the accessibility of major ideas in the field of consciousness research and to inspire readers to contribute to the ongoing discussion of the place of consciousness in nature Books in Print ,1982 Making Minds Petra Hauf,Friedrich Försterling,2007-01-01 Social stimuli are important proximate determinants of human thought action and behaviour But does the social environment also have deeper profounder and possibly more distal impact on more lasting psychological structures and forms generalizing across time and domains such as traits self consciousness abilities and talents This volume takes an interdisciplinary approach to the question of if how and how far the mind is socially fabricated Philosophical contributions address conceptual tools for analyses of how person perceivers shape the psychological structures of the person perceived Social psychologists consider some of the more local mechanisms of mind making including self fulfilling prophecies attributions and self verification Moreover they address the dramatic consequences of being ostracised From a clinical perspective it is investigated how patients immediate social environment e g the family impacts on schizophrenic relapse In addition developmental psychologists report on investigations of the role of social factors e g imitative learning for the development of the social self Finally an ethological perspective demonstrates the susceptibility of animals to social stimuli These papers were previously published as Interaction Studies 6 1 and 6 3 2005 Open Minds Wolfgang Prinz,2012-03-16 A novel proposal that the cognitive architecture for volition and cognition arises from particular kinds of social interaction and communication In Open Minds Wolfgang Prinz offers the novel claim that agency and intentionality are first perceived and understood in others and that it is only through practices and discourses of social mirroring that individuals come to apply these features to themselves and to shape their architectures for volition and cognition accordingly Developing a social science constructive approach within a cognitive science representational framework Prinz argues that the architectures for agency volition and intentionality cognition arise from particular kinds of social interaction and communication Rather than working as closed individual systems our minds operate in ways that are fundamentally open to other minds Prinz describes mirror systems and mirror games particular kinds of representational mechanisms and social games that provide tools for aligning closed individual minds with other minds He maps the formation of an architecture for volition addressing issues of agency and intention based top down control then outlines the ways the same basic ideas can be applied to an architecture for cognition helping to solve basic issues of subjectivity and intentionality Addressing the reality and efficacy of such social artifacts as autonomy and free will Prinz contends that our beliefs about minds are not just beliefs about their workings but powerful tools for making them work as we believe It is through our beliefs that our minds work in a particular way that we actually make them work in that way The Mind's Mirror Daniela Rus,Gregory Mone,2024-08-06 An exciting introduction to the true potential of AI from the director of MIT's Computer Science and Artificial Intelligence Laboratory. Imagine a technology capable of discovering new drugs in days instead of years, helping scientists map distant galaxies and decode the language of whales, and aiding the rest of us in mundane daily tasks from drafting email responses to preparing dinner. Now consider that this same technology poses risks to our jobs and society as a whole. Artificial Intelligence is no longer science fiction; it is upending our world today. As advances in AI spark fear and confusion, The Mind's Mirror reminds us that in spite of the very real and pressing challenges, AI is a force with enormous potential to improve human life. Computer scientist and AI researcher Daniela Rus, along with science writer Gregory Mone, offers an expert perspective as a leader in the field who has witnessed many technological hype cycles. Rus and Mone illustrate the ways in which AI can help us become more productive, knowledgeable, creative, insightful, and even empathetic, along with the many risks associated with misuse. The Mind's Mirror shows readers how AI works and explores what we as individuals and as a society must do to mitigate dangerous outcomes and ensure a positive impact for as many people as possible. The result is an accessible and lively exploration of the underlying technology and its limitations and possibilities, a book that illuminates our possible futures in the hopes of forging the best path forward.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1985     The Neurodiversity Playbook
Matthew Zakreski, Psy.D., 2024-11-08. This book represents a summation of a decade's worth of therapy research, workshops, and presentations around the unique aspects of social-emotional development in the neurodivergent community. The book grounds its approach in neuroscience and then applies those data to how our brains impact our thoughts, feelings, and behaviors. As a child psychologist who specializes in working with this population, I pride myself on identifying the challenging aspects of having a different brain and empowering kids to manage those differences. As such, this book will contain sections that directly address the parts of being gifted that have traditionally been emphasized less: making friends, maintaining relationships, regulating emotions, communicating your feelings and needs appropriately, and being able to identify contextual factors to understand why people are acting the way they are. Naming the issues is one thing, but each section will contain case examples, clinical advice, and tangible skills that will help students grow in the areas of social-emotional learning (SEL). These skills are deliverable, generalizable, and appropriate for school, home, and the community. Most importantly, they work. I often say that I want my clients to have a little pocket Dr. Matt to help them navigate the world; this book is my attempt at creating that kind of external support.

Minds, Bodies, Machines, 1770-1930 D. Coleman, H. Fraser, 2011-04-11. It is during the nineteenth century, the age of machinery, that we begin to witness a sustained exploration of the literal and discursive entanglements of minds, bodies, machines. This book explores the impact of technology upon conceptions of language, consciousness, human cognition, and the boundaries between materialist and esoteric sciences.
