Mulhaire, 2025-05-23 Irish Kingship in the Eleventh and Twelfth Centuries examines the power of medieval Irish kings but treats power as a complex concept worthy of study in its own right It starts from the premise that historians of medieval Ireland have interpreted power in a narrow way This book engages with the rich corpus of literature on power produced by political scientists and sociologists which reveals the sheer complexity and vicissitudes of power as a concept Where there is power there is resistance Hence drawing on evidence from medieval Irish chronicles hagiographies saga literature and advice texts this book explores the largely ignored phenomena of revolt resistance and violence in eleventh and twelfth century Ireland It argues against a panoptic narrative of royal centralisation and suggests that the existence of a multiplicity of kings and non royal lords has proven to be more of a problem for historians than it was for the Irish kings themselves This book will appeal to scholars and students of medieval Ireland as well as those interested in the history of kingship power and resistance The Transformation of the Irish Church in the Twelfth and Thirteenth Centuries Marie Therese

Flanagan, 2010 The twelfth century saw a wide ranging transformation of the Irish church a regional manifestation of a wider pan European reform movement This book the first to offer a full account of this change moves away from the previous concentration on the restructuring of Irish dioceses and episcopal authority and the introduction of Continental monastic observances to widen the discussion It charts changes in the religious culture experienced by the laity as well as the clergy and takes account of the particular Irish experience within the wider European context The universal ideals that were defined with increasing clarity by Continental advocates of reform generated a series of initiatives from Irish churchmen aimed at disseminating reform ideology within clerical circles and transmitting it also to lay society even if as elsewhere it often proved difficult to implement in practice Whatever the obstacles faced by reformist clergy their genuine concern to transform the Irish church and society cannot be doubted and is attested in a range of hitherto unexploited sources this volume draws upon Marie Therese Flanagan is Professor of Medieval History at the Queen's University of Belfast

Lordship in four realms Colin Veach, 2015-11-01 This book examines the rise and fall of the aristocratic Lacy family in England Ireland Wales and Normandy This involves a unique analysis of medieval lordship in action as well as a reimagining of the role of English kingship in the western British Isles and a rewriting of seventy five years of Anglo Irish history By viewing the political landscape of Britain and Ireland from the perspective of one aristocratic family this book produces one of the first truly transnational studies of individual medieval aristocrats This results in an in depth investigation of aristocratic and English royal power over five reigns including during the tumultuous period of King John and Magna Carta By investigating how the Lacys sought to rule their lands in four distinct realms this book also makes a major contribution to current debates on lordship and the foundations of medieval European society Illuminating a Legacy Lynley Anne

Wagner, 2024-07-22 This anthology honors Lawrence Nees expansive contributions to medieval art historical inquiry and teaching on the occasion of his retirement from the University of Delaware These essays present a cross section of recent research by students colleagues and friends the breadth of subjects explored demonstrates the pertinence of Nees distinctive approach and methodology centering human agency and creativity The contributions follow three main threads Establishing Identity Patronage and Politics and Beyond the Canon Some authors draw upon Nees systematic analysis of iconographic idiosyncrasies and ornamental schemes whether adorning manuscripts or monumental edifices which elucidates their unique visual and material characteristics Others apply a Neesian engagement with the complex dynamics of cultural exchange visual manifestations of political ambitions and ideologies and selective mining of the classical past Ultimately this collection aims to illustrate the impact of Nees transformative scholarship and to celebrate his legacy in the field of medieval art history Garranes: An Early Medieval Royal Site in South-West Ireland William

Empires of the Normans Levi Roach, 2022-08-02 A brilliant global history of the Normans who beyond the conquest of England spread their empire to eventually dominate Europe the Mediterranean and the Middle East 14th October 1066 As Harold II the last crowned Anglo Saxon king of England lay dying in Sussex the Duke of Normandy was celebrating an unlikely victory William The Bastard had emerged from interloper to successor of the Norman throne He had survived the carnage of the Battle of Hastings and two months later on Christmas day he would be crowned king of England No longer would Anglo Saxons or Vikings rule England this was now the age of the Normans A momentous event in European history the defeat of the Anglo Saxons had the most dramatic effect of any defeat in the high Middle Ages In a few short months the leader of northern France became the dominant ruler of Britain Over the coming decades the Anglo Saxon kingdom would be rebuilt around a new landowning class During the next century as the Norman kings laid the foundations of modern Britain their power would spread irresistibly across Europe From Scandinavia down to Sicily Malta and Seville the Normans built magnificent castles and churches They created a new Europe in the image of their own nobility recording their power with unprecedented vision including the Domesday Book Empire of the Normans tells the extraordinary story of how the descendants of Viking marauders in northern France came to dominate European Mediterranean and Middle Eastern politics. It is a tale of ambitious adventures and fierce pirates of fortunes made and fortunes lost. Across the generations the Normans made their influence felt across Western Europe and the Mediterranean from the British Isles to North Africa and even to the Holy Land with a combination of military might, political savvy, deeply held religious beliefs and a profound sense of their own destiny.

An Eoraip: Gaelic Ireland in Medieval and Early Modern Europe, 2025-08-14. Medieval and early modern Irish scholars thought of themselves as Europeans. As an expression of territorial association, this belief reflects both their familiarity with the geographical traditions of Antiquity and the integration of their society into economic, cultural and political networks that spanned the continent. But it was also an articulation of a perceived cultural affinity often denied in modern scholarship. The chapters in this volume examine the many and various ways that Gaelic Ireland was integrated into the broader European world, focusing on literature and learning, real world politics, economics and travel, and questions of identity. Contributors are Rachel Brody, Michael Clarke, Simon Egan, Deborah Hayden, Brendan Kane, Victoria L. McAlister, Ken Donnchu, Patricia Palmer, Brian Stone and Patrick Wadden.

Fourteenth Century England XIII, Gwilym Dodd, Helen Lacey, 2025-02-11. Essays on a diverse range of topics presenting the latest research on themes of gender, religion, warfare, the built environment and chronicle writing of the period. This collection brings into dialogue scholarship on social, religious, economic, military and political history, offering exciting new insights into a range of topics based upon meticulous research into published and unpublished archival records. Two studies reveal the influence of gendered norms and expectations at different ends of the social spectrum: one focussing on peasant women charged with extramarital sex, known as leyrwite; the other on the martial achievements and expectations of Edward III. Several essays examine patronage, property investment and the built environment with actors ranging from the papacy to religious guilds and members of the gentry. Further contributions provide new perspectives on conflict and violence: a re-examination of how the Peasants' Revolt was recorded in the Anonimale Chronicle; a consideration of how armies were recruited at the time of civil war in 1321-22; and an investigation of the life and career of Henry Crystede, an Englishman fighting in Ireland.

A History of Settlement in Ireland, Terry Barry, 2012-11-12. A History of Settlement in Ireland provides a stimulating and thought-provoking overview of the settlement history of Ireland from prehistory to the present day. Particular attention is paid to the issues of settlement change and distribution within the contexts of environment, demography and culture. The collection goes further by setting the agenda for future research in this rapidly expanding area of academic interest. This volume will be essential reading for all those with an interest in the archaeology, history and social geography of Ireland.

Castration and Culture in the Middle Ages, Larissa Tracy, 2013. Essays exploring medieval castration as reflected in archaeology, law, historical record and literary motifs. Castration and castrati have always been facets of western culture, from myth and legend to law and theology, from eunuchs guarding harems to the seventeenth and eighteenth century castrati singers. Metaphoric castration pervades number of medieval literary genres particularly the Old French fabliaux exchanges of power predicated upon the exchange or absence of sexual desire signified by genitalia but the plain literal act of castration and its implications are often overlooked This collection explores this often taboo subject and its implications for cultural mores and custom in Western Europe seeking to demystify and demythologize castration Its subjects include archaeological studies of eunuchs historical accounts of castration in trials of combat the mutilation of political rivals in medieval Wales Anglo Saxon and Frisian legal and literary examples of castration as punishment castration as comedy in the Old French fabliaux the prohibition against genital mutilation in hagiography and early modern anxieties about punitive castration enacted on the Elizabethan stage The introduction reflects on these topics in the context of arguably the most well known victim of castration in the middle ages Abelard LARISSA TRACY is Associate Professor of Medieval Literature at Longwood University Contributors Larissa Tracy Kathryn Reusch Shaun Tougher Jack Collins Rolf H Bremmer Jr Jay Paul Gates Charlene M Eska Mary A Valante Anthony Adams Mary E Leech Jed Chandler Ellen Lorraine Friedrich Robert L A Clark Karin Sellberg LenaW nggren     The Archaeology of Early Medieval Ireland Nancy Edwards, 2013-04-15 In the first major work on the subject for over 30 years Nancy Edwards provides a critical survey of the archaeological evidence in Ireland c 400 1200 introducing material from many recently discovered sites as well as reassessing the importance of earlier excavations Beginning with an assessment of Roman influence Dr Edwards then discusses the theme of settlement food and farming craft and technology the church and art concluding with an appraisal of the Viking impact The archaeological evidence for the period is also particularly rich and wide ranging and our knowledge is expanding rapidly in the light of modern techniques of survey and excavation
