Nicomachean Ethics 8-9 Michael of Ephesus, Aspasius, 2014-04-10 Aristotle devotes books 8-9 of the Nicomachean Ethics to friendship distinguishing three kinds a primary kind motivated by the other's character and other kinds motivated by utility or pleasure He takes up Plato's idea that one knows oneself better as reflected in another's eyes as providing one of the benefits of friendship and he also sees true friendship as modelled on true self love He further compares friendship with justice and illustrates the ubiquity of friendship by referring to the way in which we help wayfarers as if they were kin oikeion a word he takes from Plato's discussion of love In many of these respects he probably influenced the Stoic theory of justice as based on the natural kinship oikeiotes one feels initially for oneself at birth and eventually for lost wayfarers Of the three commentaries translated here that by the second century AD Aristotelian Aspasius is the earliest extant commentary on

Aristotle the second is by Michael of Ephesus in the twelfth century the third is of unknown date and authorship Aspasius worries whether there is only one kind of friendship with a single definition But he plumps for a verdict not given by Aristotle that the primary kind of friendship serves as a focal point for defining the other two Aspasius picks up connections with his Stoic contemporaries Michael cites Christians and draws from Neoplatonists the idea that there is a self aware part of the soul and that Aristotle saw individuals as bundles of properties Saint-Evremond and His Friends Quentin Manning Hope,1999 The New Complete General Letter-writer and Universal Correspondent ...
