having seizures and life with epilepsy began Challenges with that came having to care for that child and then as an adult and making decisions for and with her The next big challenge came with caring for her husband of fifty six years with end stage congestive heart failure who became almost total care before his death Then approximately three months following his death after getting a booster injection she herself developed symptoms of polymyalgia rheumatica and rheumatoid arthritis Life itself is a challenge for anyone but caring for others and hoping to make the right decisions could only be done by studying God s word for answers and lots and lots of prayer by herself and other prayer warriors
