Barry Till, 1987 Faith and Power in Japanese Buddhist Art, 1600-2005 Patricia J. Graham, 2007-09-30 Faith and Power in Japanese Buddhist Art explores the transformation of Buddhism from the premodern to the contemporary era in Japan and the central role its visual culture has played in this transformation Although Buddhism is generally regarded as peripheral to modern Japanese society this book demonstrates otherwise Its chapters elucidate the thread of change over time in the practice of Buddhism as revealed in temple worship halls and other sites of devotion and in imagery representing the religion's most popular deities and religious practices It also introduces the work of modern and contemporary artists who are not generally associated with institutional Buddhism and its canonical visual requirements but whose faith inspires their art The author makes a persuasive argument that the neglect of these materials by scholars results from erroneous presumptions about the aesthetic superiority of early Japanese Buddhist artifacts and an asserted decline in the institutional power of the religion after the sixteenth century She demonstrates that recent works constitute a significant contribution to the history of Japanese art and architecture providing evidence of Buddhism's compelling presence at all levels of Japanese society and its evolution in response to the needs of new generations of supporters Handbook to Life in Medieval and Early Modern Japan William E. Deal, 2007 This book is an introduction to the Japanese history, culture, and society from 1185 the beginning of the Kamakura period through the end of the Edo period in 1868 Gifts of Art: The Met's 150th Anniversary Max Hollein, 2020-11-01 In honor of the institution's 150th year, this publication celebrates the 203 collectors who committed more than 2,500 works of art to The Met for the sesquicentennial. These meaningful additions change the ways in which we think about the Museum's holdings and deepen the stories The Met can tell about all the works in the collection. Highlights featured in this volume include an imposing stone head from an Egyptian sarcophagus, an opulent horse armor commissioned by King Philip IV of Spain, a Tibetan war mask, an early American daguerreotype, Sir Edward Burne-Jones's enigmatic watercolor, an early twentieth-century Japanese bamboo shrine cabinet, poignant photographs made by Robert Frank for his iconic series The Americans, the Cuban American artist Carmen Herrera's 1949 tondo Iberic, Steve Miller's 1961 Gibson guitar, important works by Georg Baselitz, art from the Iranian Saqqakhana school, the vibrant bark painting of Aboriginal Australian artist Nonggirnga Marawili, and recent creations by artists such as Cecily Brown, Peter Doig, Robert Gober, and Wangechi Mutu Critical Perspectives on Classicism in Japanese Painting Elizabeth Lillehoj, 2004-01-01 In the West, classical art, inextricably linked to concerns of a ruling or dominant class, commonly refers to art with traditional themes and styles that resurrect a past golden era. Although art of the early Edo period (1600-1868)

encompasses a spectrum of themes and styles references to the past are so common that many Japanese art historians have variously described this period as a classical revival era of classicism or a renaissance How did seventeenth century artists and patrons imagine the past Why did they so often select styles and themes from the court culture of the Heian period 794 1185 Were references to the past something new or were artists and patrons in previous periods equally interested in manners that came to be seen as classical How did classical manners relate to other styles and themes found in Edo art In considering such questions the contributors to this volume hold that classicism has been an amorphous changing concept in Japan just as in the West Troublesome in its ambiguity and implications it cannot be separated from the political and ideological interests of those who have employed it over the years The modern writers who first
