Kungl, 2006-04-27 This study examines a number of previously overlooked or undervalued women detective fiction writers of the late 19th and early 20th centuries and traces their relationship to later women writers who shaped the future of the genre Dorothy Sayers Agatha Christie and Gladys Mitchell This work argues that their use of the female detective character served as a means through which they were able to establish their professional authority in the detective fiction genre Women writers employed a variety of narrative strategies to explore the tensions between society's underlying domestic ideology and women's entrance into the work force during this time period Creating female detectives and employing these narrative strategies helped women writers establish professional authority by providing them with ways of expressing their ability to write in this genre and adapting it as a vehicle for women's writing. The study examines the critical importance of early female detectives. Many critics and editors have dismissed these early detectives as conventional and trite, ignoring the genre's rich variety. Yet female fictional detectives appear as both paid professionals and gifted amateurs: single, married, widowed, older spinsters and young adventurers, detecting for pleasure and to clear their own or a loved one's name. In choosing to create female detectives who were both varied and unusual, women writers confronted some of their own literary anxieties and ultimately were able to explore the ways they would create new routes to women's authority within a male-dominated culture and specifically in the genre of detective fiction.

Literary History: Towards a Global Perspective Anders Pettersson, Gunilla Lindberg-Wada, Margareta Petersson, Stefan Helgesson, 2011-12-22. Literary History Towards a Global Perspective is a research project funded by the Swedish Research Council (Vetenskapsrådet). Initiated in 1996 and launched in 1999, it aims at finding suitable methods and approaches for studying and analysing literature globally, emphasizing the comparative and intercultural aspect. Even though we nowadays have fast and easy access to any kind of information on literature and literary history, we encounter more than ever the difficulty of finding a credible overall perspective on world literary history. Until today, literary cultures and traditions have usually been studied separately, each field using its own principles and methods. Even the conceptual basis itself varies from section to section, and the genre concepts employed are not mutually compatible. As a consequence, it is very difficult, if not impossible, for the interested layperson as well as for the professional student to gain a clear and fair perspective both on the literary traditions of other peoples and on one's own traditions. The project can be considered as a contribution to gradually removing this problem and helping to gain a better understanding of literature and literary history by means of a concerted empirical research and deeper conceptual reflection. The contributions to the four volumes are written in English by specialists from a large number of disciplines, primarily from the fields of comparative literature, Oriental studies, and African studies in Sweden. All of the literary texts discussed in the articles are in the original language. Each one of the four volumes is devoted to a special research topic.

A History of Contemporary Chinese Literature Zicheng Hong, 2007-10-15. This groundbreaking book by the eminent Peking University professor Hong Zicheng covers the literary scene in China during the 1949-1999 period, primarily focusing on fiction, poetry, drama, and prose writing. Reprinted sixteen times since its publication in the PRC in 1999, it is now available in English translation at last. The first section of the book deals with the 1949-1976 period. Often derided and ignored as an arid era for literature by both Chinese and overseas critics, Professor Hong describes the literature that was popular and officially acceptable at the time and the cultural policies and political campaigns that shaped the tastes of readers and the literary creativity of writers during the period This part of the book is remarkable for Professor Hong's candidness and open mindedness qualities that would have made this text difficult to publish at an earlier date in China Furthermore the platform that the first part of the text provides renders the second part even more understandable to readers unfamiliar with the post 1976 literary scene and offers new insights to those who are familiar with it demonstrating as it does the close links between the two distinctive eras These links are provided by the resumption of literary traditions that had been more or less abandoned during the preceding ten year period as well as reactions against literature nurtured and guided by the state cultural apparatus The second part of the book consists of a comprehensive description of developments and insightful explanations of those developments in the literary arts and literary criticism since 1976 A unique and much needed accomplishment in contemporary literary studies Also available in paperback The Victorian Novel Francis O'Gorman, 2008-04-15 This guide steers students through significant critical responses to the Victorian novel from the end of the nineteenth century to the present day Coming of Age Kamau, Kiarie, Mitambo, Kirimi, 2016-05-03 The sixteen chapters in this book form a Festschrift in honour of Henry Chakava the distinguished Kenyan publisher With a Forward by Tanzanian publisher Walter Bgoya his long time collaborator in furthering the causes of independent African publishing the topics cover the full range of issues in which he has been central over more than forty years His notable achievements include the first local buy out of a British multinational publishing house being one of the founders of African Books Collective and the African Publishers Network and participation in international counsels such as the Bellagio Publishing Network Amongst the contributors are prominent Kenyan authors Ngugi wa Thiong'o Simon Gikandi and Micere Githae Mugo Kenyan colleagues from the book trade world close collaborators in Uganda and Nigeria and some international colleagues The greatest range of the contributors are from within Africa There are subject specific chapters on such issues as training copyright publishing in the digital age and an overview of publishing at Codesria including the vexed issue of marginalisation of African language publishing Language and Literature Studies Eser ÖRDEM, Ömer Tuğrul KARA, 2023-03-30 Poverty in Contemporary Literature B. Korte, G. Zipp, 2014-02-28 Poverty and inequality have gained a new public presence in the United Kingdom Literature and particularly narrative literature re configures how people think feel and behave in relation to poverty This makes the analysis of poverty themed fiction an important aspect in the new transdisciplinary field of poverty studies Out of Space and Time Clark Ashton Smith, 2006-01-01 Collection of classic macabre and fantastic tales from a master of pulp fiction Why Translation Studies Matters Daniel Gile, Gyde Hansen, Nike K. Pokorn, 2010-02-25 Whether Translation Studies really matters is an important and challenging question which practitioners of translation and interpreting raise repeatedly TS scholars many of whom are translators and interpreters themselves are not indifferent to it either The twenty papers of this thematic volume contributed by authors from various parts of Europe from Brazil and from Israel address it in a positive spirit Some do so through direct critical reflection and analysis arguing in particular that the engagement of TS with society should be strengthened so that the latter could benefit more from the former Others illustrate the relevance and contribution of TS to society and to other disciplines from various angles Topics broached include the cultural mediation role of translators issues in literary translation knowledge as intellectual capital globalization through English and risks associated with it bridging languages mass media corpora training the use of modern technology interdisciplinarity with psycholinguistics and neurophysiology

The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Victorian Women's Writing Lesa Scholl, Emily Morris, 2022-12-15 Since the late twentieth century there has been a strategic campaign to recover the impact of Victorian women writers in the field of English literature However with the increased understanding of the importance of interdisciplinarity in the twenty first century there is a need to extend this campaign beyond literary studies in order to recognise the role of women writers across the nineteenth century a time that was intrinsically interdisciplinary in approach to scholarly writing and public intellectual engagement
