Victorian Culture and Experiential Learning Kevin A. Morrison, 2022-03-14 This book is a crucial resource for instructors interested in bringing the past alive for their students through hands on immersive educational experiences While sharing a common historical field the contributors hail from multiple disciplines including art history human biology biological anthropology and English literature Ranging from assignments that involve students editing and annotating a primary work to producing an array of digital projects and from participating in study abroad programs to taking part in service learning initiatives the chapters will furnish readers with strategies for creating engaged and dynamic classrooms Although the focus of the book is on Victorian Britain the pedagogical approaches outlined in each chapter will be useful to instructors of any historical field

Reading the Thread Lesley Millar, Alice Kettle, 2024-12-26 Reading the Thread brings together artists theorists and designers to explore the nature and use of cloth as a means of record and communication Cloth is constructed from threads and in acknowledging its qualities of recording or communicating a story we are reading the threads the read thread There is also however an East Asian myth that when you are born you are linked by an invisible red thread to your soul mate no matter what you do this red thread connects you to your fate and although the thread may become tangled or infinitely long it will never break Exploring histories of making and cultural practices a multidisciplinary team of international scholars use the metaphorical thread to link the experiences of cloth production lineage practices contemporary challenges and sustainable futures and to explore through imagery and ideas the agency of cloth to shape and communicate the sensations and emotions connected with human experience Divided into four sections on reading cloth challenging the stories it tells following the thread of its narrative and finally anticipating its future The Read Thread allows a variety of viewpoints and a diversity of voices without favouring theory or specific cultural approaches to interrogate cloth as a record of experience within its social historical psychological and cultural context the authors explore our encounters with cloth and its role in the exploration of identity and biography representative of passage exchange life and death Provocative and timely and beautifully illustrated with over 50 color images it is vital reading for students and scholars of textiles fashion material culture art and anthropology Eating the Ocean Brian Payne,2022-12-02 During the first half of the twentieth century Canadian fisheries regularly produced more fish than markets could absorb driving down profits and wages To address this both industry and government sought to stimulate domestic consumption via increased advertising In Eating the Ocean Brian Payne explores how government funded marketing called upon Canadian housewives to prepare more seafood meals to improve family health and aid an industry central to Canadian identity and heritage The goal was first to make seafood a central element of a wholesome diet as a solution to a perceived nutritional crisis and second to aid industry recovery and growth while decreasing Canadian fisheries dependency on foreign markets But fishery managers and policymakers fundamentally miscalculated consumer demand wrongly assuming that Canadians could and would eat more seafood Fisheries continued to extract more fish than the environment and the market could sustain and the collapse of the nation s fisheries that we are now seeing has as much to do with failed assessments of market demand as it does with faulty extraction practices Using internal communications between industry leaders and Ottawa bureaucrats as well as advertising and promotional material published in the nation s leading magazines national and local newspapers and radio programming Eating the Ocean traces the flawed understanding of not only supply but demand a misguided gamble that caused fisheries to become the most mismanaged resource economy in early twentieth century Canada The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Food J. Michelle Coghlan,2020-03-19 This Companion provides an engaging and expansive overview of gustation gastronomy agriculture and alimentary activism in literature from the medieval period to the present day as well as an illuminating introduction to cookbooks as literature Bringing together sixteen original essays by leading scholars the collection rethinks literary food from a variety of critical angles including gender and sexuality critical race studies postcolonial studies eco criticism and children s literature Topics covered include mealtime decorum in Chaucer Milton s culinary metaphors early American taste Romantic gastronomy Victorian eating African American women s culinary writing modernist food experiments Julia Child and cold war cooking industrialized food in children s literature agricultural horror and farmworker activism queer cookbooks hunger as protest and postcolonial legacy and dude food in contemporary food blogs Featuring a chronology of key publication and historical dates and a comprehensive bibliography of further reading this Companion is an indispensable guide to an exciting field for students and instructors Readers, Reading, and Librarians Linda S Katz,2021-02-27 This vital book reaffirms librarians enthusiasm for books and readers in the midst of the evolution of libraries from reading centers to information centers where librarians are now Web masters information scientists and media experts Readers Reading and Librarians explores the future of the book as a medium With nearly two hundred open ended interviews with readers who read for pleasure this book looks at how and why they choose or reject
