Readings In Living Systems:

Readings in Living Systems, 1972

Readings in Zoosemiotics Timo Maran, Dario Martinelli, Aleksei

Turovski, 2011-11-30 The book is the first annotated reader to focus specifically on the discipline of zoosemiotics

Zoosemiotics can be defined today as the study of signification communication and representation within and across animal species The name for the field was proposed in 1963 by the American semiotician Thomas A Sebeok He also established the framework for the paradigm by finding and tightening connections to predecessors describing terminology developing methodology and setting directions for possible future studies The volume includes a wide selection of original texts accompanied by editorial introductions An extensive opening introduction discusses the place of zoosemiotics among other sciences as well as its inner dimensions the understanding of the concept of communication in zoosemiotics the heritage of biologist Jakob v Uexk ll contemporary developments in zoosemiotics and other issues Chapter introductions discuss the background of the authors and selected texts as well as other relevant texts The selected texts cover a wide range of topics such as semiotic constitution of nature cognitive capabilities of animals typology of animal expression and many other issues The roots of zoosemiotics can be traced back to the works of David Hume and John Locke Great emphasis is placed on the heritage of Thomas A Sebeok and a total of four of his essays are included The Reader also includes influential studies in animal communication honey bee dance language vervet monkey alarm calls as well as theory elaborations by Gregory Bateson and others The reader concludes with a section dedicated to contemporary research Readings in Zoosemiotics is intended as a primary source of information about zoosemiotics and also provides additional readings for students of cognitive ethology and animal communication studies National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1972 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 The Science of Family Systems Theory Jacob B. Priest, 2025-04-25 This fully updated accessible text examines how the science of autonomy and adaptation informs all family therapy approaches and discusses how clinicians can use this science to improve their practice Focusing on how to integrate science as well as theory into clinical practice the book provides an overview of science from multiple domains and ties it to family systems theory through the key framework of autonomy and adaptation Drawing on research from genetics physiology emotion regulation attachment and triangulation chapters demonstrate how a comprehensive science informed theory of family systems can be applied to a range of problematic family patterns The text also explores self of the therapist work and considers how autonomy and attachment are connected to systems of power privilege and oppression New to this edition are two chapters on common presenting problems in family therapy and how they can be understood through a family systems lens as well as discussion questions and added online instructor materials Supported throughout by practical case examples as well as questions for consideration chapter summaries and resource lists to further engage the reader The Science of Family Systems Theory is an essential textbook for marriage and family therapy students as well as mental health professionals working with families Mind Readings Richard S. Marken,1992 Readings in Living Systems Greenstein J S.,1989 Essential Readings in Biosemiotics Donald Favareau,2010-06-10 Synthesizing the findings from a wide range of disciplines from biology and anthropology to philosophy and linguistics the emerging field of Biosemiotics explores the highly complex phenomenon of sign processing in living systems Seeking to advance a naturalistic understanding of the evolution and development of sign dependent life processes contemporary biosemiotic theory offers important new conceptual tools for the scientific understanding of mind and meaning for the development of artificial intelligence and for the ongoing research into the rich diversity of non verbal human animal and biological communication processes Donald Favareau s Essential Readings in Biosemiotics has been designed as a single source overview of the major works informing this new interdisciplinary and provides scholarly historical and analytical commentary on each of the texts presented The first of its kind this book constitutes a valuable resource to both bioscientists and to semioticians interested in this emerging new discipline and can function as a primary textbook for students in biosemiotics as well Moreover because of its inherently interdisciplinary nature and its focus on the big questions of cognition meaning and evolutionary biology this volume should be of interest to anyone working in the fields of cognitive science theoretical biology philosophy of mind evolutionary psychology communication studies or the history and philosophy of science Reading the Family Dance John V. Knapp,Kenneth Womack,2003 The development in recent years of the intersections between the family and literary study continues to emerge as one of the most productive and illuminating arenas of contemporary critique In addition to addressing the family dynamic through which a given literary character develops a fully realized sense of self family systems therapy allows readers to examine the patterns by which characters function in their larger intimate systems whether those systems be social institutional or even global As the intellectual foundation for the forms of therapy practiced by the majority of contemporary American and European psychotherapists the study of family systems theory and its intersections with literary works affords readers with an illuminating glimpse into the terminology and processes involved in this dynamic form of critique Perhaps most significantly family systems therapy allows critics to consider the distinctly social interactions that characterise our pathways to interpersonal development and selfhood John V Knapp is Professor of English with a joint appointment in modern literature and in teacher education at Northern Illinois University Kenneth Womack is Assist

Evolutionary Ontology Josef Šmajš,2008 This book examines new concept of evolutionary ontology based on the idea of radically different ontic orders natural and cultural being It explains how culture evolved out of nature and how it became anti natural The remedy is seen in the global biophilous reconstruction of culture The value of the live planet Earth and the subject capable of creative activity and evolution are given fundamental philosophical interpretation The Science of Family Systems Theory Jacob Priest,2021-03-31 This accessible text examines how the science of autonomy and adaptation informs all family therapy approaches and discusses how clinicians can use this science to improve their practice Uniquely focussing on how to integrate science as well as theory into clinical practice the book provides an overview of science from multiple domains and ties it to family systems theory through the key framework of autonomy and adaptation Drawing on research from genetics physiology emotion regulation attachment and triangulation chapters demonstrate how a comprehensive science informed theory of family systems can be applied to a range of problematic family patterns The text also explores self of the therapist work and considers how autonomy and attachment are connected to systems of power privilege and oppression Supported throughout by practical case examples as well as questions for consideration chapter summaries and resource lists to further engage the reader The Science of Family Systems Theory is an essential textbook for marriage and family therapy students as well as mental health professionals working with families
