Robertson, 2019-09-19 An irresistible call lured Australian artists abroad between 1890 and 1914 a transitional period immediately pre and post federation Travelling enabled an extension of artistic frontiers and Paris the centre of art and London the heart of the Empire promised wondrous opportunities These expatriate artists formed communities based on their common bond to Australia enacting their Australian ness in private and public settings Yet they also interacted with the broader creative community fashioning a network of social and professional relationships They joined ateliers in Paris such as the Acad mie Julian clubs like the Chelsea Arts Club in London and visited artist colonies including St Ives in England and taples in France Australian artists persistently sought a sense of belonging negotiating their identity through activities such as plays balls tableaux parties dressing up and of course the creation of art While individual biographies are integral to this study it is through exploring the connections between them that it offers new insights Through utilising extensive archival material much of which has limited or no publication history this book fills a gap in existing scholarship It offers a vital exploration re consideration of the fluidity of identity place and belonging in the lives and work of Australian artists in this juncture in British Australian history The Cambridge Handbook of Social Sciences in Australia Ian McAllister, Steve Dowrick, Riaz Hassan, 2003-08-07 First published in 2003 The Cambridge Handbook of Social Sciences in Australia is a high quality reference on significant research in Australian social sciences The book is divided into three main sections covering the central areas of the social sciences economics political science and sociology Each section examines the significant research in the field placing it within the context of broader debates about the nature of the social sciences and the ways in which institutional changes have shaped how they are defined taught and researched The Real Matilda Miriam Dixon, 1976 Convict women Irish women The frontier woman frontier woman The Europeans in Australia Alan Atkinson, 2016-07-01 It is the duty of historians to be wherever they can accurate precise humane imaginative using moral imagination above all and even handed Alan Atkinson The second of three volumes of the landmark award winning series The Europeans in Australia gives an account of early settlement by Britain It tells of the political and intellectual origins of this extraordinary undertaking that began during the 1780s a decade of extraordinary creativity and the climax of the European Enlightenment Volume Two Democracy takes the story from around 1815 to the early 1870s By exploring the nineteenth century communications revolution Atkinson casts new light on the way Australia first found its place in a global world This volume is more than a story of geography and politics It describes the way people thought and felt Throughout the trilogy Atkinson traces subtle and sudden shifts of common imagination by analysing the lives of both powerful and ordinary

Australians He sets out the ideas and the imagery that moved and marked the people This book like all his work is grounded in thorough and rigorous scholarship yet imbued with compassion and insight Written from the inside it is as he says history caught up with the flesh and memory it describes The culmination of an extraordinary career in the writing and teaching of Australian history The Europeans in Australia grapples with the Australian historical experience as a whole from the point of view of the settlers from Europe Ambitious and unique it is the first such large single author account since Manning Clark's A History of Australia

Gender, Madness, and Colonial Paranoia in Australian Literature Laura Deane, 2017-05-31

This book offers an original and compelling analysis of women's madness gender and the Australian family Taking up Anne McClintock's call for critical works that psychoanalyze colonialism this radical re-assessment of novels by Christina Stead and Kate Grenville provides a sustained account of women's madness and masculine colonial psychosis from a feminist postcolonial perspective This book rethinks women's madness in the context of Australian colonialism Taking novels of madness by Christina Stead and Kate Grenville as its point of critical departure it applies a post-Reconciliation lens to the study of Australia's gender and racial codes to place Australian sexism and misogyny in their proper colonial context Employing madness as a frame to rethink postcolonial theorizing in Australia Gender Madness and Colonial Paranoia in Australian Literature psychoanalyses colonialism to argue that Australia suffers from a cultural pathology based in the strategic forgetting of colonial violence This pathology takes the form of colonial paranoia about race and gender producing distorted gender codes and ways of being Australian This book maps the contours of Australian colonial paranoia weaving feminist literary theory psychoanalysis and postcolonial theory with poststructuralist approaches to reassess the traditional canon of critical madness scholarship and the place of women's writing within it This provocative work marks a radical departure from much recent feminist cultural and postcolonial criticism and will be essential reading for students of Australian literature cultural studies and gender studies wanting a new insight into how the Australian psyche is shaped by settler colonialism

A Deep Sense of Wrong Beverley Boissery, 1995-01-11

In 1839 fifty-eight men left Montreal for the penal colony of New South Wales They were ordinary people who had been caught up in the political whirlwind of the 1838 rebellion Even though they were all civilians they had been tried by court-martial Convicted of treason their properties forfeited to the crown they paid a heavy price for rebellion And as convicts in Australia they were considered the lowest of a bad lot During their years there however they earned the respect of Sydney's citizens
