emphasis to design rather than production found itself at war's end holding an unrivaled range of designs. The US emphasis on development meanwhile built an institutional basis for postwar production. Taken together, Giffard's work makes a powerful case for a more nuanced understanding of technological innovation, one that takes into account the influence of the many organizational factors that play a part in the journey from idea to finished product.

Allied Aircraft Piston Engines of World War II Graham White, 2019-05-16

Allied Aircraft Piston Engines of World War II now in its second edition coalesces multiple aspects of war-driven aviation and its amazing technical accomplishments leading to the allied victory during the second world war. Not by chance the air battles that took place then defined much of the outcome of one of the bloodiest conflicts in modern history. Forward thinking airplane design had to be developed quickly as the war raged on and the engines that propelled them were indeed the focus of intense cutting edge engineering efforts. Flying higher, faster and taking the enemy down before they even noticed your presence became a matter of life or death for the allied forces.

Allied Aircraft Piston Engines of World War II Second Edition addresses British and American developed engines. It looks at the piston engines in detail as they supported amazing wins both in the heat of the air battles and on the ground supplying and giving cover to the troops. This new edition, fully revised by the original author Graham White, offers new images and information in addition to expanded specifications on the Rolls Royce Packard Merlin and the Pratt Whitney R 2800 engines. Jay Leno, a known enthusiast, wrote the Foreword.

Excerpt: The Rolls Royce Merlin is a British liquid-cooled V 12 piston aero engine of 27 litre 1 650 cu in capacity. Rolls Royce Limited designed and built the engine, which was initially known as the PV 12; the PV 12 became known as the Merlin following the company convention of naming its piston aero engines after birds of prey. The PV 12 first ran in 1933 and after several modifications the first production variants were built in 1936. The first operational aircraft to enter service using the Merlin were the Fairey Battle, Hawker Hurricane and Supermarine Spitfire. More Merlins were made for the four-engined Avro Lancaster heavy bomber than for any other aircraft; however, the engine is most closely associated with the Spitfire, starting with the Spitfire's maiden flight in 1936. A series of rapidly applied developments brought about by wartime needs markedly improved the engine's performance and durability. Considered a British icon, the Merlin was one of the most successful aircraft engines of the World War II era and many variants were built by Rolls Royce in Derby, Crewe and Glasgow as well as by Ford of Britain in Trafford Park near Manchester. The Packard V 1650 was a version of the Merlin built in the United States. Production ceased in 1950 after a total of almost 150 000 engines had been delivered.

aircraft of many different types were built at Brooklands during nine decades of peace and war By the 1980s however it was being eclipsed by larger manufacturing sites elsewhere with longer runways and better communications links its owner by then called British Aerospace finally closed the factory in 1989 This book tells the history of those amazing developments through 100 of the key aircraft engines places and other objects that can still be seen either in or near Brooklands Museum or in other locations around the country It also highlights the stories of six designers whose inspiring creativity produced aircraft engines and weapons ranging from Camel to Concorde Fury to Harrier Wellington to Viscount Merlin to Olympus Between them Thomas Sopwith Barnes Wallis Rex Pierson Sydney Camm Stanley Hooker and George Edwards were responsible for much of what was designed built and flown not only at Brooklands but elsewhere too The book is arranged in successive historical episodes but the many links between the objects and the designers should allow readers to follow different paths if they so wish It is not intended as a technical reference but rather to inspire the reader to seek out the objects and discover more about them
