Billings, 2017-07-25 Acts of the Apostles is normally understood as a historical report of events of the early church and serves as the organizing centerpiece of the New Testament canon In this book Drew W Billings demonstrates that Acts was written in conformity with broader representational trends and standards found on imperial monuments and in the epigraphic record of the early second century Bringing an interdisciplinary approach to a text of critical importance he compares the methods of representation in Acts with visual and verbal representations that were common during the reign of the Roman emperor Trajan 98 117 CE Billings argues that Acts adopts the rhetoric of Roman imperialism as articulated in the images and texts from the period His study bridges the fields of classics art history gender studies Jewish studies and New Testament studies in exploring how early Christian texts relate to wider patterns in the cultural production of the Roman Empire Across the Corrupting Sea Cavan Concannon, Lindsey A. Mazurek, 2016-03-17 Across the Corrupting Sea Post Braudelian Approaches to the Ancient Eastern Mediterranean reframes current discussions of the Mediterranean world by rereading the past with new methodological approaches The work asks readers to consider how future studies might write histories of the Mediterranean moving from the larger pan Mediterranean approaches of The Corrupting Sea towards locally oriented case studies Spanning from the Archaic period to the early Middle Ages contributors engage the pioneering studies of the Mediterranean by Fernand Braudel through the use of critical theory GIS network analysis and postcolonial cultural inquiries Scholars from several time periods and disciplines rethink the Mediterranean as a geographic and cultural space shaped by human connectivity and follow the flow of ideas ships trade goods and pilgrims along the roads and seascapes that connected the Mediterranean across time and space The volume thus interrogates key concepts like cabotage seascapes deep time social networks and connectivity in the light of contemporary archaeological and theoretical advances in order to create new ways of writing more diverse histories of the ancient world that bring together local contexts literary materials and archaeological analysis Wandering Myths Lucy

Gaynor Audley-Miller, Beate Dignas, 2018-10-08 In spite of the growing amount of important new work being carried out on uses of myth in particular ancient contexts their appeal and reception beyond the framework of one culture have rarely been the primary object of enquiry in contemporary debate Highlighting the fact that ancient societies were linked by their shared use of mythological narratives Wandering Myths aims to advance our understanding of the mechanisms by which such tales were disseminated cross culturally and to investigate how they gained local resonances In order to assess both wider geographic circulations and to explore specific local features and interpretations a regional approach is adopted with a particular focus on Anatolia the Near East and Italy Contributions are drawn from a range of disciplines and cross a wide chronological span but all are interlinked by their engagement with questions focusing on the factors that guided the processes of reception and steered the facets of local interpretation The Preface and Epilogue evaluate the material in a synoptic way and frame the challenging questions and views expressed in the Introduction Rome, Empire of Plunder Matthew Loar, 2018 An interdisciplinary exploration of Roman cultural appropriation offering new insights into the processes through which Rome made and remade itself Isis in a Global Empire Lindsey A. Mazurek, 2022-02-24 It introduces a religious dimension to the study of ethnic identity and globalization in the provinces of the Roman Empire ,

Karkov, 2017-03-16 Postcolonial theories have transformed literary historical and cultural studies over the past three decades Yet the study of medieval art and visualities has in general remained Eurocentric in its canon and conservative in its approaches Postcolonising as the eleven essays in this volume show entails active intervention into the field of medieval art history and visual studies through a theoretical reframing of research This approach poses and elicits new research questions and tests how concepts current in postcolonial studies such as diaspora and migration under represented artistic cultures accented art making displacement intercultural versus transcultural hybridity presence absence can help medievalists to reinvigorate the study of art and visuality Postcolonial concepts are deployed in order to redraft the canon of medieval art thereby seeking to build bridges between medievalist and modernist communities of scholars Among the varied topics explored in the volume are the appropriation of Roman iconography by early medieval Scandinavian metalworkers multilingualism and materiality in Anglo Saxon culture the circulation and display of Islamic secular ceramics on Pisan churches cultural negotiation by Jewish minorities in Central Europe and the Iberian peninsula Holy Land maps and medieval imaginative geography and the uses of Thomas Becket in the colonial imaginary of the Plantagenet court

Classical Art Caroline Vout, 2018-05-29 How did the statues of ancient Greece wind up dictating art history in the West How did the material culture of the Greeks and Romans come to be seen as classical and as art What does classical art mean across time and place In this ambitious richly illustrated book art historian and classicist Caroline Vout provides an original history of how classical art has been continuously redefined over the millennia as it has found itself in new contexts and cultures All of this raises the question of classical art s future What we call classical art did not simply appear in ancient Rome or in the Renaissance or in the eighteenth century Academy Endlessly repackaged and revered or rebuked Greek and Roman artifacts have gathered an amazing array of values both positive and negative in each new historical period even as these objects themselves have reshaped their surroundings Vout shows how this process began in antiquity as Greeks of the Hellenistic period transformed the art of fifth century Greece and continued through the Roman empire Constantinople European court societies the neoclassical English country house and the nineteenth century up to the modern museum A unique exploration of how each period of Western culture has transformed Greek and Roman antiquities and in turn been transformed by them this book revolutionizes our understanding of what classical art has meant and continues to mean

Boudica Britannia Miranda Aldhouse-Green, 2014-05-01 When Roman troops threatened to seize the wealth of the Iceni people their queen Boudica retaliated by inciting a major uprising allying her tribe with the neighbouring Trinovantes The ensuing clash is one of the most important and dramatic events in the history of Britain standing testament to what can happen when an insensitive colonial power meets determined resistance from a subjugated people head on In this fascinating account of a legendary figure Miranda Aldhouse Green raises questions about female power colonial oppression and whether Boudica would be seen today as a freedom fighter terrorist or martyr
