Bradley-Birt, 2017-12-24 Excerpt from The Romance of an Eastern Capital Eastern bengal lying outside the beaten track Of the tourist and making no insistent claim to notice has long failed to attract the attention it deserves The much discussed question of the Partition of Bengal however has recently brought it prominently before the general public both in India and at home and it is hoped that the story of its Capital which the following pages attempt to relate in popular form will be of special interest at the present time The task Of setting forth something Of its history in a manner calculated to appeal to the general reader has not been without difficulty Of the record of its earlier years during Buddhist and Hindu supremacy little that is authoritative has survived while so fast did events move and so rapid were the changes About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Dacca Francis Bradley Bradley-Birt, 1914 Epigraphy and Islamic Culture Mohammad Yusuf Siddiq, 2015-11-19

Architectural inscriptions are a fascinating aspect of Islamic cultural heritage because of their rich and diverse historical contents and artistic merits. These inscriptions help us understand the advent of Islam and its gradual diffusion in Bengal which eventually resulted in a Muslim majority region making the Bengali Muslims the second largest linguistic group in the Islamic world. This book is an interpretive study of the Arabic and Persian epigraphic texts of Bengal in the wider context of a rich epigraphic tradition in the Islamic world. While focusing on previously untapped sources, it takes a fresh look into the Islamic inscriptions of Bengal and examines the inner dynamics of the social, intellectual, and religious transformations of this eastern region of South Asia. It explores many new inscriptions, including Persian epigraphs that appeared immediately after the Muslim conquest of Bengal, indicating an early introduction of Persian language in the region through a cultural interaction with Khurasan and Central Asia. In addition to deciphering and editing the epigraphic texts, the information derived from them has been analyzed to construct the political, administrative, social, religious, and cultural scenario of the period. The first survey of the Muslim inscriptions in India ever to be attempted on this scale, the book reveals the significance of epigraphy as a source for Islamic history and culture. As such, it will be of interest to students and scholars of Asian Studies, Asian History, and Islamic Studies.
