Kirkland,2014-08-15 Includes the War in North Africa Illustration Pack 112 photos illustrations and 21 maps This study is a historical analysis to determine why Rommel s tactical success on the battlefield could not accomplish strategic objectives in North Africa Rommel s operations are reviewed from his arrival in North Africa in February 1941 through his last offensive to destroy the British Eighth Army at Alamein in August September 1942 The study compares his ability to conduct tactical operations with his apparent inability to plan and execute actions at the operational level of war Rommel s problems with operational planning are addressed within the scope of campaign planning principles set forth in FM 100 5 Operations Final Draft His planning is expressly judged on how he shaped his operational plans by using the concepts of aims resources constraints and restrictions to conform to strategic guidance Rommel s tactical execution is contrasted with his operational performance This comparison is based on the AirLand Battle tenets of agility initiative depth and synchronization The study concludes that Rommel s failure lies in planning operations that exceeded his resources and conducting needless operations that resulted in the loss of the initiative at the decisive point Rommel s plans exceeded the strategic objectives desired by the theater strategists His execution was ultimately defeated by his quest for tactical victories without regard to how they contributed to achieving campaign objectives Rommel s weakness at the operational level led to failure to sequence tactical victories to achieve campaign goals This failure illustrates the importance of understanding how operational art orchestrates tactical activities to achieve strategic objectives within a theater of operations World War II in Europe, Africa, and the Americas, with General Sources

the late summer of 1942 Rommel's Afrika Korps stood perilously close to breaking through to Cairo and the Nile having already taken the fortress of Tobruk. In a desperate effort to halt the Germans and buy time for the Allies British forces including the Royal Marines Royal Navy the SAS and the Long Range Desert Group attempted to storm Tobruk and destroy the Axis port there. The operation failed with terrible losses. Peter C. Smith unearths many previously unrevealed facts and highlights the bravery and endurance of those who participated. Rommel Reconsidered Ian F. W. Beckett, 2014-07-15 New look at the notorious Desert Fox of World War II by leading military historians. Thought provoking reassessment of the most famous German general of the war. Focusing on the learning culture of the British Imperial Forces it looks at the Allied campaign during the Second World War against the Afrika Korps of Rommel. The volume highlights the hitherto unexplored yet key role of the British Indian Army the largest volunteer force in the world. It also introduces learning culture as a heuristic device. South Africans versus Rommel David Brock Katz, 2017-11-15 After bitter debate South Africa a dominion of the British Empire at the time declared war on Germany five days after the invasion of Poland in September 1939. Thrust by the British into the campaign against Erwin Rommel's German Afrika Korps in North Africa the South Africans fought a see-saw war of defeats followed by successes culminating in the Battle of El Alamein where South African soldiers made a significant contribution to halting the Desert Fox's advance into Egypt. This is the story of an army committed somewhat reluctantly to a war it didn't fully support ill prepared for the battles it was tasked with fighting and sent into action on the orders of its senior alliance partner. At its heart however this is the story of men at war. The War in North Africa, 1940-1943 Colin F. Baxter, 1996-03-30 Few of the major campaigns of World War II aroused as much controversy as the War in North Africa 1940-1943. Figures such as Rommel Montgomery and Eisenhower would become world famous because of the fighting in North Africa. This book opens with seven historiographical essays that evaluate and critically assess the major contributions to the literature on the War in North Africa. It then includes an alphabetically arranged bibliography of the 504 entries cited in the essays. The material is easily accessible with cross references between the text and the bibliography and a full index. The volume includes chapters on the Desert War 1940-42 the Axis Powers in North Africa Montgomery Alam Halfa and El Alamein TORCH the Landings in French North Africa and the Tunisian Campaign. Full attention is given to questions and issues historians have raised on such controversies as the Auchinleck Montgomery dispute the debate over Operation TORCH.
