A Multimodal Perspective on Applied Storytelling Performances Soe Marlar Lwin, 2019-09-18 In this volume Soe Marlar Lwin proposes a contextualized multimodal framework that brings together storytelling practitioners and academic researchers conceptions of storytelling It aims to highlight the ways in which various institutions in contemporary society have been using live storytelling performances as an effective communicative educative and meaning making tool Drawing on theories of narrative from narratology as well as from related fields such as discourse analysis multimodal analysis communication and performance studies the author proposes a contextualized multimodal framework to a uncover the potential narrativity of a live storytelling performance through an analysis of narrative elements constituting the story b capture the process of developing actual narrativity through a multimodal analysis of performance features in the storytelling discourse and c highlight the importance of context and dynamics between the storyteller and audience for an achievement of optimal narrativity in a particular storytelling event The sample analysis shows how the framework not only describes the system governing institutionalized storytelling performances in general but also serves as a useful model to examine individual performance as a unique realization of the general system The book also offers implications for possible applications of such contextualized multimodal frameworks more broadly across the disciplines

Jesus, Contradicted Michael R. Licona, 2024-05-28 The differences and discrepancies in the Gospels constitute the foremost objections to their reliability and the credibility of their message Some have tried to resolve Gospels contradictions with strained harmonization efforts Many others conclude that the Gospels are hopelessly contradictory and therefore historically unreliable accounts of Jesus In Jesus Contradicted New Testament scholar Michael Licona shows how the genre of ancient biography to which the Gospels belong actually allows biographers to be flexible in how they report events construct a narrative and make an argument Licona demonstrates that the intentional changes to the Jesus tradition by the Evangelists reveal that the differences in how the Gospels report events are not grounds for their rejection Instead they are a result of the Gospel writers employing standard literary conventions common in their time for writing ancient biography Licona introduces readers to the genre of ancient biography through Plutarch who wrote 48 of the 90 extant biographies written within 150 years of Jesus giving numerous examples of compositional devices employed by Plutarch and comparing them with instances in the Gospels where the Evangelists appear to use similar techniques Licona also examines Theon's Progymnasmata a first century textbook that provides six techniques for paraphrasing one's sources when writing a narrative In doing so he helps readers understand why the Gospels report many events differently Finally Licona concludes by addressing the thorny question of whether the editorial moves commonplace in ancient biography are compatible with the doctrines of the divine inspiration and the inerrancy of Scripture Rather than trying to resolve discrepancies by bending the Gospel narrative which risks making them say things they aren't saying Jesus Contradicted situates the Gospels within their proper context and helps readers account for differences in the Gospels in a cohesive and historically cogent way A Harmony of the Four Gospels Orville E.
