Consuming History Jerome de Groot,2016-02-08

Consuming History examines how history works in contemporary popular culture Analysing a wide range of cultural entities from computer games to daytime television it investigates the ways in which society consumes history and how a reading of this consumption can help us understand popular culture and issues of representation In this second edition Jerome de Groot probes how museums have responded to the heritage debate and how new technologies from online game playing to internet genealogy have brought about a shift in access to history discussing the often conflicted relationship between public and academic history and raising important questions about the theory and practice of history as a discipline Fully revised throughout with up to date examples from sources such as Wolf Hall Game of Thrones and 12 Years a Slave this edition also includes new sections on the historical novel gaming social media and genealogy It considers new ground breaking texts and media such as YouTube in addition to entities and practices such as re enactment that have been underrepresented in historical discussion thus far Engaging with a broad spectrum of source material and comparing the experiences of the UK the USA France and Germany as well as exploring more global trends Consuming History offers an essential path through the debates for readers interested in history cultural studies and the media

, Finding Your Family Tree Sharon Leslie Morgan,2023-03-28 Finding Your Family Tree is the perfect guide for beginners of all backgrounds entering the world of genealogy providing techniques for finding and understanding your family history

Watching While Black Beretta E. Smith-Shomade,2013-01-10 Television scholarship has substantially ignored programming aimed at Black audiences despite a few sweeping histories and critiques In this volume the first of its kind contributors examine the televisual diversity complexity and cultural imperatives manifest in programming directed at a Black and marginalized audience Watching While Black considers its subject from an entirely new angle in an attempt to understand the lives motivations distinctions kindred lines and individuality of various Black groups and suggest what television might be like if such diversity permeated beyond specialized enclaves It looks at the macro structures of ownership producing casting and advertising that all inform production and then delves into television programming crafted to appeal to black audiences historic and contemporary domestic and worldwide Chapters rethink such historically significant programs as Roots and Black Journal such seemingly innocuous programs as Fat Albert and Bro Town and such contemporary and culturally complicated programs as Noah's Arc, Treme and The Boondocks. The book makes a case for the centrality of these programs while always recognizing the racial dynamics that continue to shape Black representation on the small screen. Painting a decidedly introspective portrait across forty years of Black television, Watching While Black sheds much needed light on under-examined demographics, broadens common audience considerations, and gives deference to the preferences of audiences and producers of Black-targeted programming.

Adventures in Three Worlds Natesan Ramalingam Iyer, 2019-10-09 This book is a recollection of the events that happened in the author's life and the lessons he learned. This memoir is an attempt to describe how his life began and nurtured. Apart from his personal life, it also covers significant instances from the upstream oil and gas industry. His father taught him honesty in an era where the author realized with dismay that he can be honest but he can't make the world honest. He is unable to erase this sickening feeling even today. One day all of us will get separated from each other; we will miss our conversations of everything and nothing, and the dreams that we had. Days will pass by months, years until this contact becomes rare or when life comes to an end. This is certain, unlike birth which is an accident. We are born without bringing anything, and our first incident is tears. We die without taking anything. Absolutely nothing. And the sad fact is that in the interval between birth and death, we fight for what we did not bring and what we will not take. What we are looking for in this interval is recognition, popularity, and self-worth. The book covers the three worlds of the author's life: World 1: Borne with shackles and the struggles his family went through; World 2: Sojourn with the offshore oil and gas industry; World 3: Post-turtle world and renaissance of his journey through the upstream Indian oil and gas industry. Hopefully, this memoir will remind readers that a good reputation is the most valuable asset to a family for this one has to toil hard with least expectations from the outside world.
