Church Michael R. Wagenman, 2020-11-20 It is fascinating that in all the media reports and discussions of the church's abuse of power in the early years of the twenty first century few if any seemed to notice that the accusation of the church's misuse of power presupposed a shared understanding of the positive use of power within the church that had been violated. Rather than an interest in the sociological aspect of this question this book examines the more ontological and normative aspects of it. That is it investigates and discerns the foundational theological framework of culture and society and the location and purpose of the church within them. As a cultural force and societal institution what does the church constructively bring to the human community.

Christian Philosophy J. Aaron Simmons, 2019 One of the marks of being a philosopher is participating in debates about what counts as philosophy. Of particular note in such debates is the question of how to distinguish philosophy from theology. Although a variety of answers to this question have been offered in the history of philosophy in recent decades the prominence of Christian philosophy has been heralded by many as a genuine triumph over the problematic narrowness of strong foundationalism positivism and scientism. For others however it signals that philosophy continues to risk being replaced by confessional theology. Wherever one comes down on such issues and however one interprets recent trends in philosophy of religion the idea of Christian philosophy continues to present pressing questions for those working in meta philosophy epistemology metaphysics hermeneutics and value theory. In this volume established scholars representing a variety of cultural traditions religious perspectives and philosophical priorities all wrestle with how the idea of Christian philosophy should be understood appropriated and engaged in light of where philosophy is and where it is likely to go. The volume includes classical essays that have deeply marked the field and also new essays that explore the relevance of Christian philosophy to issues in disability studies engaged pedagogy lived phenomenology the academic study of religion and the workings of social power. Rather than offer a unified view that seeks to settle things the contributors demonstrate that Christian philosophy remains a topic of lively debate. Wherever one comes down on the issues considered here this volume shows that Christian philosophy is neither merely of historical interest nor of interest only to Christians but instead remains a thoroughly philosophical topic worthy of serious consideration and substantive critique. Nicholas Wolterstorff Noah Porter Professor Emeritus of Philosophical Theology at Yale University Senior Research Fellow in the Institute for Advanced Studies in Culture at the University of Virginia and Honorary Professor of Australian Catholic University

The Covenant Connection Daniel Judah Elazar, John Kincaid, 2000-01-01 American European political and theological histories intersect in this important new exploration of the founding of the United States The Covenant Connection examines the way in which the Protestant Reformation and federal covenant theology which lay at the foundation of Reformed Protestantism in its Calvinist version played a major role in shaping the political life and ideas of the colonies of British North America and ultimately the new United States of America Contributors to the volume look at the most critical facets of this connection over nearly three centuries from the beginning of the Reformation in sixteenth century Zurich to the declaration of American independence and the writing of the U S Constitution Individual chapters show how federal theology led to a revival of Biblical republicanism in Reformation Europe how it was applied and modified in countries such as Switzerland the Netherlands Scotland and England and how it was carried across the Atlantic by the early settlers of North America most particularly the Puritans but also other groups such as the Dutch and the Scots to form the matrix for American constitutionalism democratic republicanism and federalism As a collection The Covenant Connection provides an irrefutable analysis of the profound biblical and Reformation influences on the founding of America

A Christian Perspective on Political Thought Stephen Charles Mott, 1993 The author seeks to advance the role of biblical and theological values in the political lives of individual Christians and the public discourse of American society He argues that Americans want to make choices in terms of standards of right and wrong but tend to lack the formulation of a theory

God and Passion in Kierkegaard's Climacus Johannes Corrodi Katzenstein, 2007 Johannes Corrodi Katzenstein offers a contribution to the current debate on Kierkegaard mostly concerning the rationality of religious belief and the presumed religious neutrality autonomy of philosophical and scientific thought More specifically his book is an attempt to relate Kierkegaard's theory of the stages of life aesthetic ethical religious to issues that have been of utmost concern to Anglo American analytical philosophy such as the nature of truth rational knowledge objectivity etc From this angle Kierkegaard turns out to be not the irrationalist he has often been made into but rather the outspoken witness of a passion that guides all thinking i e the passion to think what cannot be thought An attempt is made to show that for Kierkegaard anticipating some of the arguments of contemporary postsecular philosophy the ideal of pure or autonomous reason inevitably has its basis in a pre rational often tacit commitment to an origin whose primary home is in religious faith Rather than precluding dialogue awareness of these deeper forces and starting points of our various philosophical and scientific outlooks is a critical requirement for mutual understanding between secularist and religious perspectives and traditions competing for cultural and political dominance

Dutch Calvinism in Modern America James D. Bratt, 1984 A rare combination of scholarship and wit Delightful for anyone seeking insight on the Dutch in modern America George Marsden In this scholarly yet entertaining book James D Bratt takes a look at the Dutch in America from the late 19th century to the present A comprehensive study of an ethnic subculture the book is in large part a study of the groups religious history as well since as Bratt points out the contours of the Dutch presence in America have been overwhelmingly shaped by the church and its subsidiary organizations Although the book is extensively and scrupulously documented Bratt has infused his scholarship with a considerable amount of anecdote that is by turns poignant and tragic and hilarious In Bratts analysis of the fitful progress of Americanization that this close knit religious community has undergone we are treated to the sharp insights of a bemused and sometimes disaffected insider Included is a chapter on novelists Arnold Mulder David Cornel DeJong Frederick Manfred and Peter DeVries four sons of the Dutch who fled the subculture only to reflect upon it almost obsessively from the outside Well written scholarly and highly readable Dutch Calvinism in Modern America will have wide appeal among both academic and general readers James D Bratt is Professor of history at Calvin College in Grand Rapids Michigan

Liberates Wonho Jung, 2018-02-08 This book is for both evangelicals and ecumenicals interested in a holistic approach to the Christian vision of social transformation The author compares Richard Mouw s Reformed political theology and Nam dong Suh s Minjung theology to suggest a vision of transformation that is theologically more cogent and politically more engaged In general Minjung theology understands transformation in terms of political liberation and Reformed theology in terms of spiritual redemption and theologians of the two theologies have criticized the other s approach as theologically inadequate However Suh s formulation of Minjung theology and Mouw s Reformed political theology based on the neo Calvinist worldview show significant affinities with each other in their understanding of transformation in Christ Both Suh and Mouw show a broad understanding of liberation and redemption They develop their theologies in an inclusive both and way of thinking and their holistic approach is contrasted with the exclusive either or way of thinking in the Minjung theology of Byung mu Ahn and the Reformed theology of David VanDrunen The book concludes that redemption in Christ aims at an all encompassing transformation that includes not only spiritual renewal but also liberation from social alienation economic
