This meticulously researched book provides a sweeping tour of the issues arising from that leadership. Jonathan Zittrain, Professor Harvard Law School. As policy makers around the world grapple with how to configure their intellectual property policies to promote innovation and economic growth as well as public access to the fruits of intellectual labour, they would do themselves a huge favour by reading Lea Shaver's excellent book. Madhavi Sunder, Professor of Law, University of California Davis. Films With Multiple Versions Ethan Parker, 2025-03-29 Films With Multiple Versions explores the multifaceted world where a single film exists in various forms: from director's cuts to censored editions. The book investigates how these versions impact our understanding of film as both art and commodity and examines the influence of censorship on creative expression. Did you know home video and digital distribution have given filmmakers new ways to release alternative cuts? The book argues that multiple versions complicate the idea of a definitive cinematic text, prompting a critical reassessment of film authorship. The book journeys through this subject by defining key terms and examining case studies where films have undergone alterations due to creative differences, censorship or commercial considerations. It analyzes how these changes affect narrative and thematic resonance. Throughout the book, it maintains an accessible tone, blending rigorous analysis with engaging storytelling for film students, scholars and enthusiasts.
