and acceptance in suburban England It is split into three parts Stuart and Mary's story David's story and Ann's story Stuart working on a tea estate in the jungles of Assam fathers a child by a teenage native woman Stuart's letters to his family in pre war England vividly describe his life as a planter in colonial India but conceal his secret love life When war breaks out Stuart joins the Indian army trains as a sapper and is posted to Malaya blowing bridges in the desperate rearguard action against the Japanese invasion Back in wartime England his sister Mary marries Stuart's best friend Arthur who decides to train as an army officer Mary now a young mother pregnant with her second child tells of the year's delay in hearing news of her brother's death at the fall of Singapore Before the child is born she learns that Arthur has been killed in action in Italy The story switches to a jungle village in Assam where a small Anglo Indian child named Ann fights her way through poverty and discrimination always seeking the identity of her father and his family Tea Love and War is a gripping true story narrated by Mary through her son David Much of the text is taken from the many exercise books that she filled with her memories and whilst my investigations have expanded and updated her story the history of the relevant elements of the Second World War the Blitz and public perception of the Malayan campaign leading to the fall of Singapore are more eloquently seen from her individual viewpoint The book will appeal to fans of autobiographies history and social history Anglo Indian culture and exploitation of women in India are key themes in the text and has been inspired by Wild Swans
