Magic Cancer Bullet How A Tiny Orange Pill Is Rewriting Medical History:

Magic Cancer Bullet Daniel Vasella, Robert Slater, 2003-06-03 History of the breakthrough of the cancer pill Gleevec

The Truth in Small Doses Clifton Leaf, 2014-08-05 A decade ago Leaf a cancer survivor himself began to investigate why we had made such limited progress fighting this terrifying disease The result is a gripping narrative that reveals why the public's immense investment in research has been badly misspent why scientists seldom collaborate and share their data why new drugs are so expensive yet routinely fail and why our best hope for progress brilliant young scientists are now abandoning the search for a cure

The Already Dead Eric Cazdyn, 2012-04-16 This book considers how a culture of crisis management what Cazdyn calls the new chronic has come to dominate all aspects of contemporary life from biomedicine to economics to politics Drawing from his own experiences battling leukemia and the subsequent effects of his illness on the process of becoming a Canadian citizen Cazdyn unravels the logic of the new chronic where people find themselves suspended in a space between life and death

Personalised cancer medicine Anne Kerr, Choon Key Chekar, Emily Ross, Julia Swallow, Sarah Cunningham-Burley, 2021-01-19 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license What does it mean to personalise cancer medicine Drawing on an ethnographic study with cancer patients carers and practitioners in the UK this book traces their efforts to access and interpret novel genomic tests information and treatments as they craft personal and collective futures Exploring multiple experiences of new diagnostic tests research programmes and trials advocacy and experimental therapies the authors chart the different kinds of care and work involved in efforts to personalise cancer medicine as well as the ways in which benefits and opportunities are unevenly realised and distributed Comparing these experiences with policy and professional accounts of the big future of personalised healthcare the authors show how hope and care are multi faceted contingent and at times frustrated in the everyday complexities of living and working with cancer

Laughing Gas, Viagra, and Lipitor Jie Jack Li, 2006-09-07 This is a book on the history of drug discovery that highlights the intellectual splendor of discoverers as well as the human frailty associated with them

The Truth About the Drug Companies Marcia Angell, 2005-08-09 During her two decades at The New England Journal of Medicine Dr Marcia Angell had a front row seat on the appalling spectacle of the pharmaceutical industry She watched drug companies stray from their original mission of discovering and manufacturing useful drugs and instead become vast marketing machines with unprecedented control over their own fortunes She saw them gain nearly limitless influence over medical research education and how doctors do their jobs She sympathized as the American public particularly the elderly struggled and increasingly failed to meet spiraling prescription drug prices Now in this bold hard hitting new book Dr Angell exposes the shocking truth of what the pharmaceutical industry has become and argues for essential long overdue change Currently Americans spend a staggering 200 billion each year on prescription drugs As Dr Angell powerfully demonstrates claims that high drug prices are necessary to fund research and development are unfounded

The truth is that drug companies funnel the bulk of their resources into the marketing of products of dubious benefit. Meanwhile as profits soar the companies brazenly use their wealth and power to push their agenda through Congress the FDA and academic medical centers. Zeroing in on hugely successful drugs like AZT the first drug to treat HIV AIDS Taxol the best selling cancer drug in history and the blockbuster allergy drug Claritin Dr Angell demonstrates exactly how new products are brought to market. Drug companies she shows routinely rely on publicly funded institutions for their basic research they rig clinical trials to make their products look better than they are and they use their legions of lawyers to stretch out government granted exclusive marketing rights for years. They also flood the market with copycat drugs that cost a lot more than the drugs they mimic but are no more effective. The American pharmaceutical industry needs to be saved mainly from itself and Dr Angell proposes a program of vital reforms which includes restoring impartiality to clinical research and severing the ties between drug companies and medical education. Written with fierce passion and substantiated with in depth research The Truth About the Drug Companies is a searing indictment of an industry that has spun out of control.

Cancer on Trial Peter Keating, Alberto Cambrosio, 2014-04-18 There were no medical oncologists until a few decades ago. In the early 1960s not only were there no such specialists many practitioners regarded the treatment of terminally ill cancer patients with heroic courses of chemotherapy as highly questionable. Physicians loath to assign patients randomly to competing treatments also expressed their outright opposition to the randomized clinical trials that were then relatively rare. And yet today these trials form the basis of medical oncology. How did such a spectacular change occur? How did medical oncology move from a non entity and in some regards a reviled practice to the central position it now occupies in modern medicine? Cancer on Trial answers these questions by exploring how practitioners established a new style of practice at the center of which lies the cancer clinical trial. Ways of Regulating Drugs in the 19th and 20th Centuries V. Hess, 2012-12-03 This collection takes the perspective that the historiography of science technology and medicine needs a broader approach toward regulation. The authors explore the distinct social worlds involved in regulation the forms of evidence and expertise mobilized and means of intervention chosen to tame drugs in factories consulting rooms and courts. Cancer Patients, Cancer Pathways C. Timmermann, E. Toon, 2012-10-10 Eleven essays by historians and sociologists examine cancer research and treatment as everyday practice in post war Europe and North America. These are not stories of inevitable medical progress and obstacles overcome but of historical contingencies cultural differences hope and often disappointed expectations. The Emperor of All Maladies Siddhartha Mukherjee, 2011-08-09 This edition includes a new interview with the author.
