Meaningless Motion:

Embodied Communication in Humans and Machines Ipke Wachsmuth, Manuela Lenzen, Günther

Knoblich, 2008-09-04 When people communicate face to face they don't just exchange verbal information. Rather, communication encompasses the whole body. Communication partners synchronize their body sway and mimic or imitate each other's body postures and actions. They produce a multitude of manual and facial gestures that help to illustrate what is being said, show how communication partners feel or reveal verbal deception. Moreover, face-to-face communication takes place in shared contexts where partners jointly attend and refer to the same objects, often while working on joint tasks such as carrying a table or repairing a car together. Traditionally, communication research has neglected these parts of communication, using the engineering model of signal transmission as the main theoretical metaphor. This book takes a new look at recent empirical findings in the cognitive and neurosciences, showing that the traditional approach is insufficient and presenting a new interdisciplinary perspective: the Embodied Communication perspective. The core claim of the Embodied Communication perspective is that human communication involves parallel and highly interactive couplings between communication partners. These couplings range from low-level systems for performing and understanding instrumental actions like the mirror system to higher systems that interpret symbols in a cultural context. The book can also serve as a guide for engineers who construct artificial agents and robots that should be able to interact with humans. Softimage

Ingrid Hoelzl, Remi Marie, 2015-09-01 With today's digital technology, the image is no longer a stable representation of the world but a programmable view of a database that is updated in real time. It no longer functions as a political and iconic representation but plays a vital role in synchronic data-to-data relationships. It is not only part of a program but it contains its own operating code: the image is a program in itself. Softimage aims to account for that new reality, taking readers on a journey that gradually undoes our unthinking reliance on the apparent solidity of the photographic image and building in its place an original and timely theorization of the digital image in all its complexity, one that promises to spark debate within the evolving fields of image studies and software studies. Lucifer Jeffrey Burton Russell, 1986 Describes the medieval concept of the devil, discusses witchcraft and devil folklore, and examines the depiction of evil in art and literature of the period. Forum and Column Review, 1924 The Evolution of Scientific Thought from Newton to Einstein A.

D'Abro, 1927 The Forum, 1924 Perception and Action Jean Decety, 1998 Presents original contributions from cognitive neuroscientists and cognitive neuropsychologists who address this area from different complementary perspectives. The Apocalypse in Germany Klaus Vondung, 2000 Originally published in German in 1988, The Apocalypse in Germany is now available for the first time in English. A fitting subject for the dawn of the new millennium: the apocalypse has intrigued humanity for the last two thousand years, serving as both a fascinating vision of redemption and a profound threat. A cross-disciplinary study, The Apocalypse in Germany analyzes fundamental aspects of the apocalypse as a religious, political, and aesthetic phenomenon Author Klaus Vondung draws from religious philosophical and political texts as well as works of art and literature Using classic Jewish and Christian apocalyptic texts as symbolic and historical paradigms Vondung determines the structural characteristics and the typical images of the apocalyptic worldview He clarifies the relationship between apocalyptic visions and utopian speculations and explores the question of whether modern apocalypses can be viewed as secularizations of the Judeo Christian models Examining sources from the eighteenth century to the present Vondung considers the origins of German nationalism World War I National Socialism and the apocalyptic tendencies in Marxism as well as German literature from the fin de siècle to postmodernism His analysis of the existential dimension of the apocalypse explores the circumstances under which particular individuals become apocalyptic visionaries and explains why the apocalyptic tradition is so prevalent in Germany The Apocalypse in Germany offers an interdisciplinary perspective that will appeal to a broad audience This book will also be of value to readers with an interest in German studies as it clarifies the riddles of Germany's turbulent history and examines the profile of German culture particularly in the past century

Being and becoming Jose Luis Perez Velazquez, Vera Nenadovic, 2021-08-25 Many people spend considerable time seeking a sense of purpose in life and concomitant with that a sense of personal identity This book demystifies this search revealing why this search is a fallacy The purpose is to inform readers about results in neuroscience and biophysics that may guide us to some liberation needed in the current age of great complexity in life with a diverse burden of chores a deliverance from some afflictions that prevent individuals from achieving the true purpose of our lives Among these afflictions we find two primordial concerns the belief and subsequent attachment to a self and the conviction that life must have a deep purpose in which we are major players While this is a scientific text it can easily be read by a lay audience written with minimal technical jargon and with references to scientific papers enough to satisfy the curious We have tried to extract the essence of scientific observations such that we can glimpse at those aforementioned concerns about the self and life observations which help us comprehend what we are and what we become the being and becoming of our own selves and natural phenomena around us Jose Luis Perez Velazquez received a PhD in Molecular Physiology Biophysics His research seeks principles of biological organisation He worked at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto and was Professor at the University of Toronto Currently he is a Research Scholar at the Ronin Institute and lives in the natural paradise of Asturias in Northern Spain Vera Nenadovic is a nurse practitioner neuroscientist and entrepreneur She has 30 years of experience in healthcare from First Nations communities to intensive care units Her research focuses on predicting brain injury outcomes She is a clinician and researcher at Holland Bloorview Kids Rehab Hospital Her startup company BrainsView is commercializing software that analyzes brainwaves to monitor brain function and recovery after head injury She is married and lives in Toronto with her husband and Rottweiler
