Media Diversity in South Africa Julie Reid, 2021-12-30 This timely book argues that the Global North s research methods and traditional assumptions are not valid to the media landscapes and audiences of the Global South With South Africa as the focus the authors offer a new understanding of media diversity along an audience centred approach Disappointingly research shows that most South African citizens most of whom are economically marginalised are found to experience extremely low levels of media content diversity in their personal media diets The contributing factors are inter related and complex but include the inequitable distribution of media content a lack of African language media and most especially the cost of media access which is unaffordable to many In this book the authors examine what went wrong with post apartheid attempts to democratise the media landscape and why the experienced levels of media diversity by the majority South African audience remain so woefully low While media diversity is usually measured by policymakers sector stakeholders or by market related imperatives this book foregrounds the perspective of the media consumer In doing so traditional media measuring is inverted leading to a more in depth understanding of how ordinary people in the Global South receive media content how much and why The authors offer a holistic analysis of the ineffectuality of key media policymaking processes projects and institutions while also suggesting how these could be transformed to create a more diverse and broadly accessible media landscape Media

Diversity and Localism Philip M. Napoli, 2009-03-04 Questions concerning the quality of media performance and the effectiveness of media policymaking often revolve around the extent to which the media system fulfills the values inherent in diversity and localism principles This edited volume addresses challenges and issues relating to diversity in local media markets from a media law and policy perspective Editor Philip M Napoli provides a conceptual and empirical framework for assessing the success failure of media markets and media outlets in fulfilling diversity and localism objectives Featuring well known contributors from a variety of disciplines including media law political science and economics Media Diversity and Localism explores the following topics media ownership and media diversity and localism conceptual and methodological issues in assessing media diversity and localism minorities media and diversity and contextualizing media diversity and localism audience behavior and new technologies This substantive and timely volume speaks to scholars and researchers in the areas of media law and policy political science and all others interested in media regulation It can also be used in a graduate seminar on media policy topics Diversity and the Media Monika Metykova, 2017-09-16 This core textbook offers a concise and interdisciplinary overview of the relationship between diversity and the media Focusing on media regulation in democratic societies each chapter explores how different conceptions of diversity relate to media audiences media workforces media outlets and media content Drawing on research approaches grounded in the political economy of media political communication media economics and critical media industry studies this insightful book analyses a wide range of current and historical examples from the UK the US and Europe This far reaching and inclusive text is an invaluable resource for students and academics from media communication studies journalism cultural studies and sociology backgrounds Clear and accessible it will also appeal to members of non governmental organizations or activist groups involved in media policy and reform Minorities and Media Clint C. Wilson, II, Felix Gutierrez, 1985-07-01 Minorities and Media is a highly readable analysis of the ways in which the mass media have portrayed minorities in the United States since the late nineteenth century The book examines the ways in which the media have reinforced racial stereotypes and provides an analysis of current trends which reflect the growing recognition of ethnic diversity The authors conclude that the increasing racial diversity of the United States and continued audience segmentation will reduce the role of communication media in transmitting and developing the common culture of American society African Americans and Mass Media Richard T. Craig, 2014-12-23 In African Americans and Mass Media Richard T Craig explores the relationship among the lack of media ownership diversity in addition to the political and economical influences and policy developments influencing media ownership Craig also addresses the concern of growing media monopolies and the decline in minority media ownership since the passing of the Telecommunications Act of 1996 Focusing the policy argument on this act and the deregulation of media ownership this book explores the jeopardy jeopardizing of diminished as well as the influence on content Observing Black Entertainment Television BET in the last five years of African American ownership and the first five years of conglomerate ownership paralleling the first decade after the Telecommunications Act was passed the book includes information about the changes made to information programming on the network Craig asserts that despite the overwhelming presence of African Americans holding executive positions with the network Viacom BET's current owner influences the network's programming and relegates the cultural identity of the network to profit interests BET is observed as a case study reflective of the importance ethnic media and perspectives reflective of cultural ethnic identities targeting ethnic audiences African Americans and Mass Media chronicles the significance of ethnic media drawing particular attention to African American media in the United States and advocates for increased communication policy development bolstering minority ownership Media International Australia ,1997 CITY OF LANSING V EDWARD ROSE REALTY, INC.;
