Media Focus Film Media Focus:

The Visual Focus of American Media Culture in the Twentieth Century Wiley Lee Umphlett, 2004 This is a sociocultural history of the visually oriented mass media forms that beguiled American society from the 1890s to the end of World War II. The purpose of the work is to show how revolutionary technological advances during these years were instrumental in helping create a unique culture of media made origins. By focusing on the communal appeal of both traditional and new modes of visual expression as welcome diversions from the harsh realities of life, this book also attends to the American people's affinity for those special individuals whose talent, vision, and lifestyle introduced daring new ways to avoid the ordinariness of life by fantasizing it. Also examined is the sociocultural impact of an ongoing democratization process that through its nurturing of a responsive media culture gradually eroded the polar postures of the elite and mass cultures so that by the mid 1940s signs of a coming postmodern alliance were in the air. Illustrated. Before his retirement, Wiley Lee Umphlett served as an administrator, professor at the University of West Florida for more than twenty-five years. Epistolary

Entanglements in Film, Media and the Visual Arts Teri Higgins, Catherine Fowler, 2025-10-01 This collection departs from the observation that online forms of communication—the email, blog, text message, tweet—are actually haunted by old epistolary forms: the letter and the diary. By examining the omnipresence of writing across a variety of media, the collection adds the category of Epistolary Screens to genres of self-expression: both literary letters, diaries, auto-biographies, and screenic romance dramas, intercultural cinema, essay films, artists' videos, and online media. The category Epistolary encapsulates an increasingly paradoxical relation between writing and the self: first, it describes selves that are written in graphic detail via letters, diaries, blogs, texts, emails, and tweets; second, it acknowledges that absence complicates communication, bringing people together in an entangled rather than ordered way. The collection concerns itself with the changing visual-textual texture of screen media and examines what is at stake for our understanding of self-expression when it takes Epistolary forms. The collection Auto-graphic Screens: Epistolary Entanglements in Film, Media and Visual Culture is the first to interrogate the presence of epistolary forms of writing on screen. It adds the new category of Auto-graphic screens to genres of self-expression and provides a broad perspective upon epistolary forms of writing on screen by studying romance dramas and intercultural cinema, essay films, artists' filmmaking, and online media. Introduction to Media Production

Robert B. Musburger, PhD, Gorham Kindem, 2012-09-10 Introduction to Media Production Third Edition provides students with a practical framework for all aspects of media production by addressing the technological and aesthetic changes that have shaped the industry.
