Media Children And The Family Social Scientific Psychodynamic And Clinical Perspective:

Media, Children, and the Family Dolf Zillmann, Jennings Bryant, Aletha C. Huston, 2013-11-05 This book brings together a group of scholars to share findings and insights on the effects of media on children and family Their contributions reflect not only widely divergent political orientations and value systems but also three distinct domains of inquiry into human motivation and behavior social scientific psychodynamic or psychoanalytical and clinical practice Each of these three domains is privy to important evidence and insights that need to transcend epistemological and methodological boundaries if understanding of the subject is to improve dramatically In keeping with this notion the editors asked the authors to go beyond a summary of findings and lend additional distinction to the book by applying the binoculars of their particular perspective and offering suggestions as to the implications of their findings One of the goals of the conference that resulted in this book was consensus building in the area of media and family From examining the findings and insights of a diverse group of scholars it seems that consensus building in several areas is a distinct possibility Addressing the concerns of educators about the influence of the mass media of communication entertainment programs in particular on children and the welfare of the nuclear family this volume projects directions for superior programming especially for educational television The influence of sex and violence on children and adults is given much attention and the development of moral judgment and sexual expectations among other things is explored The critical analysis of media effects includes examination of positive contributions of the media such as the search for missing children and exemplary educational programs Mass Media

James B. Martin, 2002 Mass media has become an integral part of the human experience News travels around the world in a split second affecting people in other countries in untold ways Although being on top of the news may be good at least for news junkies mass media also transmits values or the lack thereof condenses complex events and thoughts to simplified sound bites and often ignores the essence of an event or story The selective bibliography gathers the books and magazine literature over the previous ten years while providing access through author title and subject indexes The Praeger International Collection on Addictions Angela Brownmiller Ph.D., 2009-04-30 Only the very rare among us are completely unscathed by the effects of addiction our own that of a family member friend or coworker Even the addictions of strangers from the drunk driver or drug addict to gambling food spending or violence addicted people may subject us to dangers threaten our well being and drain money from our pockets Recent national estimates in just the US show that substance abuse and addiction alone cost taxpayers a total of nearly 500 billion a year In these volumes experts from around the world present the newest issues research and insights into addictions of all kinds Led by Angela Browne Miller Director of the Metaxis Compulsive and Habitual Behaviors Institute in California this team of contributors includes scholars and practitioners from the United States Canada the United Kingdom Sweden Thailand Africa and Russia Topics range from drug addiction among male female teen and aging populations and among White Hispanic Black Asian Native American and other groups using liquor cocaine methamphetamine khat and or other lesser known drugs to behavioral addictions including online gaming excessive buying and eating disorders Chapters also address issues including addiction as a public health problem and the politics of drug treatment policies Treatment methods for addictions from electrotherapy to holistic approaches are addressed as are spiritual psychological and cross cultural issues involved The experts behind these chapters include those from the University of California Berkeley Johns Hopkins School of Medicine and Purdue University to McGill University Nottingham Trent University and the All India Institute of Medical Sciences Communication, Race, and Family Thomas J. Socha, Rhunette C. Diggs, 1999-08 This volume examines how family communication affects our understanding of race and race relations For scholars studying diversity issues intercultural communication family communication and related areas An Integrated Approach to Communication Theory and Research Don W. Stacks, Michael B. Salwen, 2014-04-08 This volume provides an overview of communication study offering theoretical coverage of the broad scope of communication study as well as integrating theory with research To explicate the integration process the chapter contributors experts in their respective areas offer samples in the form of hypothetical studies published studies or unpublished research showing how theory and research are integrated in their particular fields The book will appeal to graduate students and faculty members who want a thorough overview of not only the field but also sample research stemming from its various component parts The Social Animal Elliot Aronson, 2004 Newly revised and up to date this edition of The Social Animal is a brief compelling introduction to modern social psychology Through vivid narrative lively presentations of important research and intriguing examples Elliot Aronson probes the patterns and motives of human behavior covering such diverse topics as terrorism conformity obedience politics race relations advertising war interpersonal attraction and the power of religious cults Young People and New Media Sonia Livingstone, 2002-07-09 We can no longer imagine leisure or the home without media and communication technologies and for the most part we would not want to Yet as worldwide the television screen in the family home is set to become the site of a multimedia culture integrating telecommunications broadcasting computing and video many questions arise concerning their place in our daily lives Young People and New Media offers an invaluable up to date account of children and young people s changing media environment at the end of the twentieth century By locating the insights drawn from a major empirical research reported in Young People and New Media within a survey of the burgeoning but fragmented research literature on ne Fake, Fact, and Fantasy Maire Messenger Davies, 2013-11-05 Based on a study examining the meaning of the term media literacy in children this volume concentrates on audiovisual narratives of television and film and their effects It closely examines children s concepts of real and unreal and how they learn to make distinctions between the two It also explores the idea that children are protected from the harmful effects of violence on television by the knowledge that what they see is not real This volume is unique in its use of children s own words to explore their awareness of the submerged conventions of television genres of their functions and effects of their relationship to the real world and of how this awareness varies with age and other factors Based on detailed questionnaire data and conversations with 6 to 11 year old children carried out with the support of a fellowship at the Annenberg School for Communication University of Pennsylvania the book eloquently demonstrates how children use their knowledge of real life of literature and of art in intelligently evaluating the relationship between television s formats and the real world in which they live

Communication and Emotion Jennings Bryant,David R. Roskos-Ewoldsen,Joanne Cantor,2003-05-14 This collection serves two important functions it synthesizes theory and research in the vital and vibrant area of communication and emotion and it highlights the scholarly work and contributions of Dolf Zillmann the preeminent contributor to this area of inquiry As one of the most productive and influential scholars in the annals of communication inquiry Zillmann is well known for his contributions in the areas of communication emotion media effects and aggression Editors Jennings Bryant David Roskos Ewoldsen and Joanne Cantor have collected groundbreaking essays from scholars active in the field all of whom studied under or worked with Zillmann during his exemplary career The contributions included here acknowledge the significance of Zillmann s work and identify many of the intellectual streams that contributed to his scholarship Utilizing both psychology and communication perspectives this volume covers the current literature in communication and emotion with a focus on key theories media effects and entertainment theory As a comprehensive synthesis of theory and research in communication and emotion it will be of great interest to scholars in communication theory cognitive and social psychology and psychophysiology With a concluding state of the art chapter by Dolf Zillmann himself this volume offers a thorough and distinctive examination of communication and emotion scholarship and it will serve as an invaluable resource for current and future generations of scholars

The Consumer Society Neva R. Goodwin, Frank Ackerman, David Kiron,2013-04-16 The developed countries particularly the United States consume a disproportionate share of the world s resources yet high and rising levels of consumption do not necessarily lead to greater satisfaction security or well being even for affluent consumers The Consumer Society provides brief summaries of the most important and influential writings on the environmental moral and social implications of a consumer society and consumer lifestyles Each section consists of ten to twelve summaries of critical writings in a specific area with an introductory essay that outlines the state of knowledge in that area and indicates where further research is needed Sections cover Scope and Definition Consumption in the Affluent Society Family Gender and Socialization The History of Consumerism Foundations of Economic Theories of Consumption Critiques and Alternatives in Economic Theory Perpetuating Consumer Culture Media Advertising and Wants Creation Consumption and the Environment Globalization and Consumer Culture Visions of an Alternative This book is the second volume in the Frontier Issues in Economic Thought series which provides surveys of the most significant writings in emergent areas of economics an invaluable aid in fast growing fields where genuine new ground is being broken The series brings together economists sociologists psychologists and philosophers to develop analyses that challenge and enrich the dominant neoclassical paradigm The Consumer Society is an essential guide to and summary of the literature of consumption and will be of interest to anyone concerned with the deeper economic social and ethical implications of consumerism
