Mental Health Practice With The Elderly:

Mental Health Practice with the Elderly Mark A. Edinberg, 1985 Aging and Mental Health Daniel L. Segal, Sara Honn Qualls, Michael A. Smyer, 2017-10-31 Fully updated and revised this new edition of a highly successful text provides students, clinicians, and academics with a thorough introduction to aging and mental health. The third edition of Aging and Mental Health is filled with new updates and features including the impact of the DSM 5 on diagnosis and treatment of older adults. Like its predecessors, it uses case examples to introduce readers to the field of aging and mental health. It also provides both a synopsis of basic gerontology needed for clinical work with older adults and an analysis of several facets of aging well. Introductory chapters are followed by a series of chapters that describe the major theoretical models used to understand mental health and mental disorders among older adults. Following entries are devoted to the major forms of mental disorders in later life with a focus on diagnosis, assessment, and treatment issues. Finally, the book focuses on the settings and contexts of professional mental health practice and on emerging policy issues that affect research and practice. This combination of theory and practice helps readers conceptualize mental health problems in later life and negotiate the complex decisions involved with the assessment and treatment of those problems. Features new material on important topics including positive mental health, hoarding disorder, chronic pain, housing, caregiving, and ethical and legal concerns. Substantially revised and updated throughout, including reference to the DSM 5. Offers chapter-end recommendations of websites for further information. Includes discussion questions and critical thinking questions at the end of each chapter. Aging and Mental Health Third Edition is an ideal text for advanced undergraduate and graduate students in psychology, for service providers in psychology, psychiatry, social work, and counseling, and for clinicians who are experienced mental health service providers but who have not had much experience working specifically with older adults and their families.

Mental Health Practice in Geriatric Health Care Settings T.L. Brink, Peter A. Lichtenberg, 2014-02-04 Mental Health Practice in Geriatric Health Care Settings emphasizes the major research and clinical findings realized in five years of research on mental health issues in older urban medical patients, many of whom represent minority groups. Chapters cover the high comorbidity of health and mental health problems in geriatric patients, neuropsychological or cognitive assessment, depression, alcohol abuse in health care settings, emerging behavioral medicine issues, and family relations and their tie to medical settings. As a practitioner, you will find this book helps your practice by representing the first assessment and treatment techniques normed and validated on minority elderly. If you're a professional working in the mental health system, you will see how to expand your services to health care markets. Mental Health Practice in Geriatric Health Care Settings devotes three chapters to neuropsychological assessment: first, a review of major principles; second, a new test battery for minorities; and third, an extensive review on how to use test results in clinical decision making. Other chapters provide valuable information on the analysis of outcomes for one thousand 60-103 year olds, a new validated behavioral treatment method for depression, methods of detection and treatment. of alcohol abuse emerging issues in behavioral medicine including competency assessments anxiety and pain disorders and shaping the referral process family relations and health care including caregiving and nursing home placement nursing home consultation and survival strategies in health care systems As Author Peter A Lichtenberg describes in the Introduction each chapter in Mental Health Practice in Geriatric Health Care Settings is multidisciplinary empirically and statistically investigated and focused upon urban elderly In addition the major objectives are to provide clinicians with new understandings and new assessment and treatment knowledge to utilize in their practices Finally this book is hoped to provide clinicians with information about emerging trends in the field and effective strategies for practice in healthcare settings
