Minnesota Messenia Expedition Reconstructing A Bronze Age Regional Environment:

The Minnesota Messenia Expedition William Andrew McDonald, George Robert Rapp, 1972 Economy and Politics in the Mycenaean Palace States Sofia Voutsaki, John Killen, 2020-08-30 This volume gathers fourteen papers on the Mycenaean palace states of the late Bronze Age Coverage ranges across Mycene Pylos Knossos and the Near East with topics including administration agriculture ceramic production and Linear B Collapse and Transformation Guy D. Middleton, 2020-04-09 The years c 1250 to 1150 BC in Greece and the Aegean are often characterised as a time of crisis and collapse A critical period in the long history of the region and its people and culture they witnessed the end of the Mycenaean kingdoms with their palaces and Linear B records and through the Postpalatial period the transition into the Early Iron Age But on closer examination it has become increasingly clear that the period as a whole across the region defies simple characterisation there was success and splendour resilience and continuity and novelty and innovation actively driven by the people of these lands through this transformative century The story of the Aegean at this time has frequently been incorporated into narratives focused on the wider eastern Mediterranean and most infamously the Sea Peoples of the Egyptian texts In twenty five chapters written by 25 specialists Collapse and Transformation instead offers a tight focus on the Aegean itself providing an up to date picture of the archaeology before and after the collapse of c 1200 BC It will be essential reading for students and scholars of the Aegean and eastern Mediterranean regions as well as providing data and a range of interpretations to those studying collapse and resilience more widely and engaging in comparative studies Introductory chapters discuss notions of collapse and provide overviews of the Minoan and Mycenaean collapses These are followed by twelve chapters which review the evidence from the major regions of the Aegean including the Argolid Messenia and Boeotia Crete and the Aegean islands Six chapters then address key themes the economy funerary practices the Mycenaean pottery of the mainland and the wider Aegean and eastern Mediterranean region religion and the extent to which later Greek myth can be drawn upon as evidence or taken to reflect any historical reality The final four chapters provide a wider context for the Aegean story surveying the eastern Mediterranean including Cyprus and the Levant and the themes of subsistence and warfare Rethinking Mycenaean Palaces II Michael L. Galaty, William A. Parkinson, 2007-12-31 This revised and expanded edition of the classic 1999 edited book includes all the chapters from the original volume plus a new updated introduction and several new chapters The current book is an up to date review of research into Mycenaean palatial systems with chapters by archaeologists and Linear B specialists that will be useful to scholars instructors and advanced students This book aims to define more accurately the term palace in light of both recent archaeological research in the Aegean and current anthropological thinking on the structure and origin of early states Regional centers do not exist as independent entities They articulate with more extensive sociopolitical systems The concept of palace needs to be incorporated into enhanced models of Mycenaean state organization ones that more completely integrate primary centers with networks of regional settlement and economy The Early Hellenistic Peloponnese D. Graham J. Shipley, 2018-06-14 Using all available evidence literary epigraphic numismatic and archaeological this study offers a new analysis of the early Hellenistic Peloponnese The conventional picture of the Macedonian kings as oppressors and of the Peloponnese as ruined by warfare and tyranny must be revised The kings did not suppress freedom or exploit the peninsula economically but generally presented themselves as patrons of Greek identity Most of the regimes characterised as tyrannies were probably in reality civic governorships and the Macedonians did not seek to overturn tradition or build a new imperial order Contrary to previous analyses the evidence of field survey and architectural remains points to an active even thriving civic culture and a healthy trading economy under elite patronage Despite the rise of federalism particularly in the form of the Achaean league regional identity was never as strong as loyalty to one's city state polis AMILLA Robert B Koehl, 2013-07-31 Contributions by 34 scholars are brought together here to create a volume in honor of the long and fruitful career of Guenter Kopcke who is the Avalon Foundation Professor in the Humanities at the Institute of Fine Arts New York University Articles pertain to various topics on the ancient art architecture and archaeology of the greater Eastern Mediterranean region from Pre Dynastic Egypt to the Bronze Age Aegean and Anatolia Cyprus and the Near East and Etruscan Italy Settlement, Subsistence, and Social Complexity Richard E. Blanton, 2006-12-31 This volume brings together the work of some of the most prominent archaeologists to document the impact of Jeffrey R Parsons on contemporary archaeological method and theory Parsons is a central figure in the development of settlement pattern archaeology in which the goal is the study of whole social systems at the scale of regions In recent decades regional archaeology has revolutionized how we understand the past contributing new data and theoretical insights on topics such as early urbanism social interactions among cities towns and villages and long term population and agricultural change among many other topics relevant to the study of early civilizations and the evolution of social complexity Over the past 40 years the application of these methods by Parsons and others has profoundly changed how we understand the evolution of pre Hispanic Mesoamerican civilization and now similar methods are being applied in other world areas The book's emphasis is on the contribution of settlement pattern archaeology to research in pre Hispanic Mesoamerica but its authors also point to the value of regional research in South America South Asia and China Topics addressed include early urbanism household and gender agricultural and craft production migration ethnogenesis the evolution of early chiefdoms and the emergence of pre modern world systems The Tiled-Roof Phenomenon in Early Helladic Greece Kyle A. Jazwa, 2024-08-01 This study presents the Early Helladic II ceramic roofing tile fragments from Zygouries a site excavated by Carl Blegen more than a century ago It is the first publication of an entire assemblage of Early Helladic roofing tiles an oft neglected find on archaeological sites Details about the tiles forms features and variability are presented first followed by a production oriented analysis reconstructing much of the chaîne opératoire and complementary volumetric and energetic analyses The results of these studies allow for the local reception and sociopolitical implications of Zygouries's ceramic tiled roof to be explored. The assemblage is then contextualized alongside other Early Helladic roofing tile assemblages and the material culture of the period to gain a clearer understanding of the broader cultural significance of such tiled roofs.

The Kingdom of Pylos Sharon R. Stocker, Claire L. Lyons, Jack L. Davis, Evangelia Militsi-Kechagia, 2025-07-22 Presenting archaeological objects from the rich tombs of warrior princes and the best preserved Bronze Age palace on the Greek mainland, this volume features the latest discoveries from the dynamic world of Mycenaean Messenia. Ancient Pylos has long captivated travelers, archaeologists, and historians familiar with Homer's Iliad and Odyssey and his account of King Nestor, the prudent elder counselor in the Trojan War. Excavations begun in 1939 unearthed the storied Palace of Nestor in Messenia, an epicenter of Mycenaean civilization. The Kingdom of Pylos features spectacular arts and crafts, many recently excavated at sites across Messenia, including goldwork of unparalleled artistry, masterfully carved sealstones, weapons, and wall paintings. Essays by international scholars examine the latest discoveries, including the Linear B tablets, the earliest written form of the Greek language, which document the political, religious, and economic organization of the prosperous Pylian realm. New research and cutting edge science cast light on the 2015 find of the grave of the Griffin Warrior, an extraordinary intact burial that held thousands of artifacts, including the celebrated Pylos Combat Agate, perhaps the finest work of art from the prehistoric Aegean. With over 300 illustrations, this is the first major publication in English to reconstruct the society of Pylos and settlements in its orbit during the Late Bronze Age (1700-1070 BCE). This volume is published to accompany an exhibition on view at the Archaeological Museum of Messenia in Kalamata from February 15 to April 27, 2025; the J. Paul Getty Museum at the Getty Villa from June 25, 2025 to January 12, 2026; and the Hellenic National Archaeological Museum in Athens from March 1 to June 30, 2026.

Depositional History of Franchthi Cave William R. Farrand, 2018-10-26 This fascicle describes the background of the Franchthi project and its excavation history and methodology. Particle size, mineralogy, and chemistry are all taken into consideration as the cultural remains and the sediments from the cave are analyzed to determine their origin and history. William Farrand constructs an integrated stratigraphy for the entire cave using excavators' notes, laboratory analyses, and personal field data to correlate sequences in separate trenches. On the basis of some 60 radiocarbon dates, the evolution and chronology of the sedimentary fill is postulated.

Side-by-Side Survey Susan Alcock, John Cherry, 2016-10-02 Twenty years ago John Cherry looked forward to the day when archaeological survey projects working around the Mediterranean region, the Frogs round the pond, would begin to compare and synthesize the information they had collected. He anticipated researchers tackling big questions of interregional scope in new and interesting ways, working at a geographical scale considerably larger than that of the individual survey. Was his optimism misplaced? Despite the extraordinary growth of interest in field survey projects and regional analysis, and despite the developments in survey methodology that have been discussed and implemented in the past two decades, few scholars have attempted to use survey data in a comparative mode and to answer the broad scale questions confronting social historians In this volume which is the outcome of an advanced Workshop held at the University of Michigan in 2002 a number of prominent archaeologists return to the question of comparability They discuss the potential benefits of working in a comparative format with evidence from many different Mediterranean survey projects and consider the practical problems that present roadblocks to achieving that objective From mapping and manuring to human settlement and demography environment and culture each addresses different questions often with quite different approaches together they offer a range of perspectives on how to put surveys side by side Contributors include Susan E Alcock John Cherry Jack L Davis Peter Attema Martijn van Leusen James C Wright Robin Osborne David Mattingly T J Wilkinson and Richard E Blanton

Archaeology and History in Roman, Medieval and Post-Medieval Greece Linda Jones Hall, 2016-12-05 The essays in Archaeology and History in Roman Medieval and Post Medieval Greece honor the contributions of Timothy E Gregory to our understanding of Greece from the Roman period to modern times Evoking Gregory's diverse interests the volume brings together anthropologists art historians archaeologists historians and philologists to address such contested topics as the end of Antiquity the so called Byzantine Dark Ages the contours of the emerging Byzantine civilization and identity in post Medieval Greece These papers demonstrate the continued vitality of both traditional and innovative approaches to the study of material culture and emphasise that historical interpretation should be the product of methodological self awareness In particular this volume shows how the study of the material culture of post Classical Greece over the last 30 years has made significant contributions to both the larger archaeological and historical discourse The essays in this volume are organized under three headings Archaeology and Method the Archaeology of Identity and the Changing Landscape which highlight three main focuses of Gregory's research Each essay interlaces new analyses with the contributions Gregory has made to our understanding of Medieval and Post Medieval Greece Read together these essays not only make a significant contribution to how we understand the post Classical Greek world but also to how we study the material culture of the Mediterranean world more broadly

Archaeologies of the Greek Past Susan E. Alcock, 2002-08-15 Social memory the shared remembrances of group experience creates shared identity and provides people with both an image of their past and a design for their future But how are we to conceive the memories of past peoples such as for example the ancient Greeks This 2002 book makes a strong case for the use of archaeology particularly the evidence of landscape and of monuments to trace patterns in commemoration and forgetfulness Three detailed case studies early Roman Greece Hellenistic and Roman Crete and Messenia in Archaic to Hellenistic times focus on societies undergoing different types of social transformation Material evidence allows us to observe how groups responded to these challenges and how they made different uses of the past in the past
