Minorities, 1975 Minorities: Community and Identity A.M.A. Dummett, A.D. Murray, V. Saifullah Khan, H. Shue, 2012-12-06 they belong Do communities have rights indeed even an existence which are not merely the hypostasis of the individual rights and existences collected in them This conflict is then more striking as it was a conscious decision of the organizers of the workshop to focus attention on what might broadly be called liberal democracies those societies which share a commitment to the principles of democratic participation to the right of equal concern and respect of all members of the community and to the basic liberties of association expression and thought Ours was not the smug premise however that every society which proclaims these principles is sufficiently or even truly devoted to them But we did assume that we would have enough to do if we explored the implications of these widely shared ideals for the topic of linguistic ethnic and national minorities as these problems arise in societies where an appeal to them is not an empty gesture The nations from which our participants were drawn are societies in which appeal to these principles has some point They are all societies in which the efforts of politicians and the intelligence of scholars need not be devoted exclusively to the tactical issues of winning some modicum of respect for basic human rights from unwilling regimes And yet all these societies have experienced significant difficulty in determining what the concrete meaning in actual situations of these general principles might be Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1978 The Sociology of Minority Group Relations Graham Charles Kinloch, 1979 Covers such topics as problems of bias and method major types of minorities assumptions regarding minorities physically defined minorities cultural minorities economic minorities behavioral minorities world context human liberation Poverty deviance gender age and ethnic prejudice have subjected people to injustices for centuries Back cover Indians in Post-apartheid South Africa Anand Singh, 2005 This study seeks to examine the perceptions of and responses to transformation among the people of Indian origin in the context of the debates around race class ethnicity and civil society in post apartheid South africa Race in the Schoolyard Amanda E. Lewis, 2003 Annotation An exploration of how race is explicitly and implicitly handled in school The Structure of Schooling Richard Arum, Irene R. Beattie, Karly Ford, 2014-11-13 The Structure of Schooling Readings in the Sociology of Education by Richard Arum Irene Beattie and Karly Ford exposes students to examples of sociological research on schools with a focus on the school as community Now in its Third Edition this engaging reader has broadened its scope even more presenting additional readings in particular related to the sociology of higher education The book draws from classic and contemporary scholarship to examine current issues and diverse theoretical approaches to studying the effects of schooling on individuals and society In addition to covering traditional areas such as stratification and racial inequality the book also veers off the beaten path including readings on such contemporary topics as bullying school shootings school choice and teen social media use Chinese Islam Nasr M. Arif, Shaojin Chai, 2024-06-28 This book explores the fascinating and complex histories of Islam and China Meticulously researched and captivating it provides a comprehensive history of the encounters and relationship between these two great civilizations as well as the unique development and indigenization of Islam within China. The work looks at the early interactions between Arab Muslim traders and the Tang dynasty in the seventh century, shedding light on the establishment of the first Muslim communities in China. The narrative then progresses through subsequent dynasties, examining the ebbs and flows of Muslim influence, integration and indigenization. It looks at the emergence of the Hui and other Muslim ethnic groups who play a central role in the story of Chinese Islam. By delving into their customs, beliefs and distinctive practices, the authors unveil the intricate process of indigenization where Islam becomes deeply rooted in Chinese culture and society. One of the unique features of this collection is the nuanced analysis of the impact of major political events as well as gradual social changes on the process of adoption and transmission of Islam in China. The authors also highlight the role of economic activities, Chinese Islamic scholars and key architectural landmarks in this multifaceted history. Part of the Global Islamic Cultures series that looks at integrated and indigenized Islam, this book will be of interest to students and researchers of religion, Islamic studies, religious history, political Islam, cultural studies, Islamic law and Asian studies. It will also be useful to readers who are interested in world religions, theology and cultures.

Islam in Hong Kong Paul O'Connor, 2012-09-01
 More than a quarter of a million Muslims live and work in Hong Kong. Among them are descendants of families who have been in the city for generations, recent immigrants from around the world and growing numbers of migrant workers. Islam in Hong Kong explores the lives of Muslims as ethnic and religious minorities in this unique post-colonial Chinese city. Drawing on interviews with Muslims of different origins, O'Connor builds a detailed picture of daily life through topical chapters on language, space, religious education, daily prayers, maintaining a halal diet in a Chinese environment, racism and other subjects. Although the picture that emerges is complex and ambiguous, one striking conclusion is that Muslims in Hong Kong generally find acceptance as a community and do not consider themselves to be victimised because of their religion.

The Consumer Revolution in Urban China Deborah Davis, 2000-01-20
