Higher Education and Equality of Opportunity Fred A. Lazin, N. Jayaram, Matt Evans, 2012-07-10 The movement to broaden access to public universities the dominant strategy during the 1970s and 1980s has largely shifted to enable the marketplace rather than the government to shape the contours of higher education Government funding is being reduced affirmative action and other programs designed to insure broader access are in decline and personal fulfillment is replacing a public good designed to insure greater equality of opportunities This book explores the impact of diminishing government resources and expanding market forces in developing and developed countries to either foster or lessen equality of opportunities in higher education for different racial ethnic religious and gender groupings What are the consequences of a market driven higher education for student access teaching and scholarship Through case studies this book explores issues such as access of minority groups within the larger societies the place of foreign students in a national system and access for students with mental health difficulties and evaluates the success of funding schemes designed to expand opportunities and access The research provides an interesting contrast of the diversity and uniqueness of higher education in the United States France Australia India Israel South Korea The Netherlands Ghana and several other countries while at the same time revealing surprising commonalities These studies reveal world wide trends in higher education including a cutback in government financing a decline in access and a receding of affirmative action This book is an important addition to the literature on higher education during the age of globalization and the decline of government funding of higher education The studies provide important data about the current situation in higher education in countries around the world

Higher Education: Handbook of Theory and Research John C. Smart,2009-04-24 Published annually since 1985 the Handbook series provides a compendium of thorough and integrative literature reviews on a diverse array of topics of interest to the higher education scholarly and policy communities Each chapter provides a comprehensive review of research findings on a selected topic critiques the research literature in terms of its conceptual and methodological rigor and sets forth an agenda for future research intended to advance knowledge on the chosen topic The Handbook focuses on twelve general areas that encompass the salient dimensions of scholarly and policy inquiries undertaken in the international higher education community The series is fortunate to have attracted annual contributions from distinguished scholars throughout the world Black Male Collegians: Increasing Access, Retention, and Persistence in Higher Education Robert T. Palmer,J.

Luke Wood, T. Elon Dancy, Terrell L. Strayhorn, 2014-06-24 Improving college access and success among Black males has garnered tremendous attention. Many social scientists have noted that Black men account for only 4.3% of the total enrollment at 4-year postsecondary institutions in the United States, the same percentage now as in 1976. Furthermore, two-thirds of Black men who start college never finish. The lack of progress among Black men in higher education has caused researchers, practitioners, and policymakers to become increasingly focused on ways to increase their access and success. Offering recommendations and strategies to help advance success among Black males, this monograph provides a comprehensive synthesis and analysis of factors that promote the access, retention, and persistence of Black men at diverse institutional types, e.g., historically Black colleges and universities, predominantly White institutions, and community colleges. It delineates institutional policies, programs, practices, and other factors that encourage the success of Black men in postsecondary education. This is the 3rd issue of the 40th volume of the Jossey-Bass series ASHE Higher Education Report. Each monograph is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education issue based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences. Topics are identified by a national survey. Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports, with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication.
