Minty Alley Cyril Lionel Robert James, 1975 C. L. R. James and Creolization Nicole King, 2011-01-01 C L R James 1901 1989 one of the most important intellectuals of the twentieth century expressed his postcolonial and socialist philosophies in fiction speeches essays and book length scholarly discourses However the majority of academic attention given to James keeps the diverse mediums of James s writing separate focuses on his work as a political theorist and subordinates his role as a fiction writer This book however seeks to change such an approach to studying James Defining creolization as a process by which European African Amerindian Asian and American cultures are amalgamated to form new hybrid identities and cultures Nicole King uses this process as a means to understanding James s work and life She argues that throughout his career whether writing a short story or a political history James articulated his attempt to produce revolutionary radical discourses with a consistent methodology James a Trinidad born scholar who migrated to England and then to the United States and who described himself both as a black radical and a Victorian intellectual serves as a definitive model of creolization King argues that James s writings also fit the model of creolization for each is influenced by diverse types of discourses James rarely wrote from within the confines of a single discipline instead choosing to make the layers of history literature philosophy and political theory coalesce in order to make his point As his West Indian and Western European influences converge in his work and life he creates texts that are difficult to confine to a specific category or discipline No matter which writerly medium he uses James was preoccupied with how to represent the individual personality and at the same time represent the community The C L R James that emerges from King s study is a man made more compelling and more human because of his complicated multilayered and sometimes contradictory allegiances The Cambridge Companion to the Modernist Novel Morag Shiach, 2007-04-19 The novel is modernism s most vital and experimental genre With a chronology and guide to further reading this 2007 Companion is an accessible and informative overview of the genre C. L. R. James Aldon Lynn Nielsen, 2010-12 This study of C L R James s writings is the first to look at them as literature and not as theory This sustained analysis of his major published works places them in the context of his less well known writings and offers an encompassing critique of one of the African diaspora s most significant thinkers and writers Here the author of Black Jacobins World Revolution A History of Pan African Revolt Beyond a Boundary and the lyric novel Minty Alley is seen not only as among the great political philosophers but also as the literary artist that he remained from his first writings in his native Trinidad through his underground years in America to his final essays and speeches in London The writings of James have inspired revolutionaries on three continents They have altered the course of historiography shown that way toward independent black political struggles and established a base for much of today's study of culture This study evaluates them as powerful works of literature

Salvage Dionne Brand, 2024-10-01 One of Literary Hub's most anticipated books of 2024 Dionne Brand explores English and American literature and the colonial aesthetic that shaped her sense of self and the world of what was possible and what was not In Salvage Readings from the Wreck Dionne Brand's first major book of nonfiction since her classic A Map to the Door of No Return the acclaimed poet and novelist offers a bracing look at the intersections of reading and life and what remains in the wreck of empire Blending literary criticism and autobiography as artifact Brand reads Aphra Behn's Oroonoko Daniel Defoe's Robinson Crusoe and Jane Austen's Mansfield Park among other still widely studied works to explore encounters with colonial imperialist and racist tropes from the seventeenth to the nineteenth centuries tropes that continue in new forms today Brand vividly shows how contemporary practices of reading and writing are shaped by the narrative structures of these and related works and explores how in the face of this one writes a narrative of Black life that attends to its own consciousness and expression With the power and eloquence of a great poet coupled with the rigor of a deep and subtle thinker Brand reveals how she learned to read the literature of two empires British and American in an anticolonial light in order to survive and in order to live This is the library the wreck and the potential for salvage she offers us now in a brilliant groundbreaking and essential work

Narratives of Obeah in West Indian Literature Janelle Rodriques, 2019-04-05 This book explores representations of Obeah a name used in the English Creole speaking Caribbean to describe various African derived syncretic Caribbean religious practices across a range of prose fictions published in the twentieth century by West Indian authors In the Caribbean and its diasporas Obeah often manifests in the casting of spells the administration of baths and potions of various oils herbs roots and powders and sometimes spirit possession for the purposes of protection revenge health and well being In most Caribbean territories the practice and practices that may resemble it remains illegal Narratives of Obeah in West Indian Literature analyses fiction that employs Obeah as a marker of the Black folk aesthetics that are now constitutive of West Indian literary and cultural production either in resistance to colonial ideology or in service of the same These texts foreground Obeah as a social and cultural logic both integral to and troublesome within the creation of such a thing as West Indian literature and culture at once a product of and a foil to Caribbean plantation societies This book explores the presentation of Obeah as an unruly narrative subject one that not only subverts but signifies a lasting Afro folk sensibility within colonial and postcolonial writing of the West Indies Narratives of Obeah in West Indian Literature will be of interest to scholars and students of Caribbean Literature Diaspora Studies and African and Caribbean religious studies it will also contribute to dialogues of spirituality in the wider Black Atlantic

Between the Bocas Jak Peake, 2017-07-19 Situated opposite the mouth of the Orinoco River western Trinidad has long been considered an entrepôt to mainland South America. Trinidad's geographic position seen as strategic by various imperial governments led to many heterogeneous peoples from across the region and globe settling or being relocated there. The calm waters around the Gulf of Paria on the western fringes of Trinidad induced settlers to construct a harbour Port of Spain around which the modern capital has been formed. From its colonial roots into the postcolonial era western Trinidad therefore has played an especial part in the shaping of the island's literature. Viewed from one perspective western Trinidad might be deemed as narrating the heart of the modern state's national literature. Alternatively the political threats posed around San Fernando in Trinidad's southwest in the 1930s and from within the capital in the 1970s present a different picture of western Trinidad one in which the fractures of Trinidad and Tobago's projected nationalism are prevalent. While sugar remains a dominant narrative in Caribbean literary studies this book offers a unique literary perspective on matters too often perceived as the sole preserve of sociological anthropological or geographical studies. The legacy of the oil industry and the development of the suburban commuter belt of East West Corridor therefore form considerable discursive nodes alongside other key Trinidadian sites such as Woodford Square colonial houses and the urban yards of Port of Spain. This study places works by well known authors such as V S Naipaul and Samuel Selvon alongside writing by Michel Maxwell Philip Marcella Fanny Wilkins E L Joseph Earl Lovelace Ismith Khan Monique Roffey Arthur Calder Marshall and the largely neglected novelist Yseult Bridges who is almost entirely forgotten today. Using fiction calypso history memoir legal accounts poetry essays and journalism this study opens with an analysis of Trinidad's nineteenth century literature and offers twentieth century and more contemporary readings of the island in successive chapters. Chapters are roughly arranged in chronological order around particular sites and topoi while literature from a variety of authors of British Caribbean Irish and Jewish descent is represented.

The West Indian Novel and Its Background Kenneth Ramchand, 2004 An account of the emergence of the West Indian novel in English this work provides valuable insights into the social cultural and political background offering concise and focused accounts of the growth of education the development of literacy and the formation of West Indian Creole languages.

The Cambridge Companion to the Twentieth-Century English Novel Robert L. Caserio, 2009-04-30 The twentieth century English novel encompasses a vast body of work and one of the most important and most widely read genres of literature. Balancing close readings of particular novels with a comprehensive survey of the last century of published fiction this Companion introduces readers to more than a hundred major and minor novelists. It demonstrates continuities in novel writing that bridge the century's pre and post War halves and presents leading critical ideas about English fiction's themes and forms. The essays examine the endurance of modernist style throughout the century the role of nationality and the contested role of the English language in all its forms and the relationships between realism and other fictional modes fantasy romance science fiction. Students scholars and readers will find this Companion an indispensable guide to the history of the English novel      What's My Name? Grant Farred, 1997      Cricket, Migration and Diasporic Communities Thomas Fletcher, 2017-10-02 Ever since different communities began processes of global migration sport has been an integral feature in how we conceptualise and experience the notion of being part of a diaspora Sport provides diasporic communities with a powerful means for creating transnational ties but also shapes ideas of their ethnic and racial identities In spite of this theories of diaspora have been applied sparingly to sporting discourses Despite W G Grace's claim that cricket advances civilisation by promoting a common bond binding together peoples of vastly different backgrounds to this day cricket operates strict symbolic boundaries defining those who do and equally do not belong C L R James now famous metaphor of looking beyond the boundary captures the belief that to fully understand the significance of cricket and the sport's roles in changing and shaping society one must consider the wider social and political contexts within which the game is played Contributions to this volume do just that Cricket acts as their point of departure but the way in which ideas of power representation and inequality are played out is unique in each This book was published as a special issue of Identities      C.L.R. James Kent Worcester, 1996-01-01 A fascinating immensely readable biography of one of the most important radical intellectuals of the twentieth century      The Routledge Companion to Anglophone Caribbean Literature Michael A. Bucknor, Alison Donnell, 2011-06-14 The Routledge Companion to Anglophone Caribbean Literature offers a comprehensive critically engaging overview of this increasingly significant body of work The volume is divided into six sections that consider the foremost figures of the Anglophone Caribbean literary tradition and a history of literary critical debate textual turning points identifying key moments in both literary and critical history and bringing lesser known works into context fresh perspectives on enduring and contentious critical issues including the canon nation race gender popular culture and migration new directions for literary criticism and theory such as eco criticism psychoanalysis and queer studies the material dissemination of Anglophone Caribbean literature and generic interfaces with film and visual art This volume is an essential text that brings together sixty nine entries from scholars across three generations of Caribbean literary studies ranging from foundational critical voices to emergent scholars in the field The volume's reach of subject and clarity of writing provide an excellent resource and springboard to further research for those working in literature and cultural studies postcolonial and diaspora studies as well as Caribbean studies history and geography      Minty Alley; by C. L. R. James with an Introduction by Kenneth Ramchand Cyril Lionel Robert James, Liberation Cricket Hilary Beckles, Brian Stoddart, 1995 Of the global community of cricketers the West Indians are arguably the most well known and feared This book shows how this tradition of cricketing excellence and leadership emerged and how it contributed to the rise of West Indian nationalism and independence      Experiments in Exile Laura Harris, 2018-08-07 Comparing the radical aesthetic and social experiments undertaken by two exile intellectuals Experiments in Exile charts a desire in their work to formulate alternative theories of citizenship wherein common reception of popular cultural forms is linked to a potentially expanded non exclusive polity By carefully analyzing the materiality of the multiply lined multiply voiced writing of the undocuments that record these social experiments and relay their prophetic descriptions of and instructions for the new social worlds they wished to forge and inhabit however it argues that their projects ultimately challenge rather than seek to rehabilitate normative conceptions of citizens and politics as well as authors and artworks James and Oiticica s experiments recall the insurgent sociality of the motley crew historians Peter Linebaugh and Marcus Rediker describe in The Many Headed Hydra their study of the trans Atlantic cross gendered multi racial working class of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Reading James s and Oiticica s projects against the grain of Linebaugh and Rediker s inability to find evidence of that sociality s persistence or futurity it shows how James and Oiticica gravitate toward and seek to relay the ongoing renewal of dissident dissonant social forms which are for them always also aesthetic forms in the barrack yards of Port of Spain and the favelas of Rio de Janeiro the assembly lines of Detroit and the streets of the New York The formal openness and performative multiplicity that manifests itself at the place where writing and organizing converge invokes that sociality and provokes its ongoing re invention Their writing extends a radical collective Afro diasporic intellectuality an aesthetic sociality of blackness where blackness is understood not as the eclipse but the ongoing transformative conservation of the motley crew s multi raciality Blackness is further instantiated in the interracial and queer sexual relations and in a new sexual metaphors of production and reproduction whose disruption and reconfiguration of gender structures the collaborations from which James s and Oiticica s undocuments emerge orienting them towards new forms of social aesthetic and intellectual life
