Feminism and Modernity in Anglophone African Women's Writing Dobrota Pucherová, 2022-07-29 This book re reads the last 60 years of Anglophone African women's writing from a transnational and trans historical feminist perspective rather than postcolonial from which these texts have been traditionally interpreted Such a comparative frame throws into relief patterns across time and space that make it possible to situate this writing as an integral part of women's literary history Revisiting this literature in a comparative context with Western women writers since the 18th century the author highlights how invocations of tradition have been used by patriarchy everywhere to subjugate women the similarities between women's struggles worldwide and the feminist imagination it produced The author argues that in the 21st century African feminism has undergone a major epistemic shift from a culturally exclusive to a relational feminism that conceptualizes African femininity through the risky opening of oneself to otherness transculturation and translation Like Western feminists in the 1960s contemporary African women writers are turning their attention to the female body as the prime site of women's oppression and freedom reframing feminism as a demand for universal human rights and actively shaping global discourses on gender modernity and democracy The book will be of interest to students and researchers of African literature but also feminist literary scholars and comparatists more generally

The Women's Movement in Uganda Aili Mari Tripp, Joy C. Kwesiga, 2002 The women's movements in Uganda flourished in the mid eighties influencing diverse spheres of life They have since become exemplary in Africa and have led many advances in women's rights The contributors of this book look at the achievements of the movements from their roots in the post independence period to the contemporary moment Themes include women's activism in colonial Uganda contributions to girls education women's agency in business and the economy women in agriculture and the struggle for land and women's role in conflict resolution religious institutions and the media The book also contains sections on women's writing and publishing and the importance of creative work for wider female independence and self determination an overview of women's studies research 1986 2001 and brief biographies of Ugandan women leaders

Women's Access to Higher Education in Africa Joy C. Kwesiga, 2002 This book addresses the gender divide in access to higher education and the Ugandan situation It examines theories of girls education human capital gender inequality and gender development bringing views from Africa and its institutions to debates often constructed and conducted in the West Whilst commending the work of women's movements and NGO's in furthering the educational cause it criticises fashionable neo liberal economic educational policies which are diverting resources not institutions thus diminishing local universities and women The volume also presents the results of a survey of female undergraduates at the University of Makerere which give rise to discussions about family societal and institutional influences on women's access to higher education This is a welcome book on women in higher education written by an African female academic insider and popular and outstanding contributor to the progress of women in higher education in East Africa

Making Women's Histories Pamela S. Nadell,Kate Haulman,2013-01-07 Examines how women s histories are explored and explained around the world Making Women s Histories showcases the transformations that the intellectual and political production of women s history has engendered across time and space It considers the difference women s and gender history has made to and within national fields of study and to what extent the wider historiography has integrated this new knowledge What are the accomplishments of women s and gender history What are its shortcomings What is its future The contributors discuss their discovery of women s histories the multiple turns the field has taken and how place affected the course of this scholarship Noted scholars of women s and gender history they stand atop such historiographically defined vantage points as Tsarist Russia the British Empire in Egypt and India Qing dynasty China and the U S roiling through the 1960s From these and other peaks they gaze out at the world around them surveying trajectories in the creation of women s histories in recent and distant pasts and envisioning their futures

Women and Religion in Zimbabwe Ezra Chitando,Kudzai Biri,Sophia Chirongoma,2022-07-07 The chapters in this volume foreground the ambivalent role of religion and culture when it comes to African women s health and well being Reflecting on the three major religions in Africa i e African Indigenous Religions Christianity and Islam the authors illustrate how religious beliefs and practices can either enhance or hinder women s holistic progress and development With a specific focus on Zimbabwean women s experiences of religion and culture the volume discusses how African Indigenous Religions Christianity and Islam tend to privilege men and understate the value of women in Africa Adopting diverse theological ideological and political positions contributors to this volume restate the fact that the key teachings of different religions often suppressed due to patriarchal influences are a potent resource in the quest for gender justice In sync with the goals for gender justice and women empowerment envisioned in the United Nations Agenda 2030 and Africa Agenda 2063 the contributors advocate for gender inclusive and life enhancing interpretations of religious and cultural traditions in Africa

Decolonising State and Society in Uganda Katherine Bruce-Lockhart,Jonathon L. Earle,Nakanyike Musisi,Edgar C. Taylor,2022 Key book on the debates surrounding the knowledge economy and decolonialization of African Studies that brings the subject up to date for the 21st century Decolonization of knowledge has become a major issue in African Studies in recent years brought to the fore by social movements such as RhodesMustFall and BlackLivesMatter This timely book explores the politics and disputed character of knowledge production in colonial and postcolonial Uganda where efforts to generate forms of knowledge and solidarity that transcend colonial epistemologies draw on long histories of resistance and refusal Bringing together scholars from Africa Europe and North America the contributors in this volume analyse how knowledge has been created mobilized and contested across a wide range of Ugandan contexts In so doing they reveal how Ugandans have built disputed and reimagined institutions of authority and knowledge production in ways that disrupt the colonial frames that continue to shape scholarly analyses and state structures From the politics of language and gender in Bakiga naming practices to ways of knowing among the Acholi the hampering of critical scholarship by militarism and authoritarianism and debates over the names of streets lakes mountains and other public spaces this book shows how scholars and a wide range of Ugandan activists are reimagining the politics of knowledge in Ugandan public life Gender, Law and Justice in a Global Market Ann Stewart, 2011-08-25 Theories of gender justice in the twenty first century must engage with global economic and social processes Using concepts from economic analysis associated with global commodity chains and feminist ethics of care Ann Stewart considers the way in which gender contracts relating to work and care contribute to gender inequalities worldwide She explores how economies in the global north stimulate desires and create deficits in care and belonging which are met through transnational movements and traces the way in which transnational economic processes discourses of rights and care create relationships between global south and north African women produce fruit and flowers for European consumption body workers migrate to meet deficits in affect through provision of care and sex British Asian families seek belonging through transnational marriages Global Gender Constitutionalism and Women's Citizenship Ruth Rubio-Marin, 2022-10-06 Constitutions around the world have overwhelmingly been the creation of men but this book asks how far constitutions have affirmed the equal citizenship status of women or failed to do so Using a wealth of examples from around the world Ruth Rubio Mar n considers constitutionalism from its inception to the present day and places current debates in their vital historical context Rubio Mar n adopts an inclusive concept of gender and sexuality and discusses the constitutional gender order as it has been shaped by debates such those around same sex marriage and the rights of trans persons Covering a wide range of themes from reproductive rights to political gender quotas and violence against women this book offers a comprehensive feminist account of constitutional law Truly international in scope and ambitious in subject matter this is an invaluable resource for students and scholars working on gender within multiple disciplines Women and Power in Post-Conflict Africa Aili Mari Tripp, 2015-10-20 The book explains an unexpected consequence of the decrease in conflict in Africa after the 1990s Analysis of cross national data and in depth comparisons of case studies of Uganda Liberia and Angola show that post conflict countries have significantly higher rates of women s political representation in legislatures and government compared with countries that have not undergone major conflict They have also passed more legislative reforms and made more constitutional changes relating to women s rights The study explains how and why these patterns emerged tying these outcomes to the conjuncture of the rise of women s movements changes in international women s rights norms and most importantly gender disruptions that occur during war This book will help scholars students women s rights activists international donors policy makers non governmental organizations NGOs and others better understand some of the circumstances that are most conducive to women s rights reform today and why
