Mirroring Belief Gary Ferguson, 1992 Offering new readings of Marguerite de Navarre's verse works by situating them within their contemporary religious and literary context this work reviews theological and mystical writings but pays particular attention to the devotional writing which flourished in the 15th and 16th centuries and which is virtually unknown today Four theological issues central to the Reformation are discussed the nature of justification the role of the Church and the sacraments the problem of faith and works and the question of the Bible and its interpretation Examining the religious structures and language that inform de Navarre's poems and plays Ferguson draws conclusions regarding the author's religious beliefs as they are mirrored in her poetry This text should be of interest to students of French Renaissance literature

Dido's Daughters Margaret W. Ferguson, 2007-11-01 Winner of the 2004 Book Award from the Society for the Study of Early Modern Women and the 2003 Roland H Bainton Prize for Literature from the Sixteenth Century Society and Conference Our common definition of literacy is the ability to read and write in one language But as Margaret Ferguson reveals in Dido's Daughters this description is inadequate because it fails to help us understand heated conflicts over literacy during the emergence of print culture The fifteenth through seventeenth centuries she shows were a contentious era of transition from Latin and other clerical modes of literacy toward more vernacular forms of speech and writing Ferguson's aim in this long awaited work is twofold to show that what counted as more valuable among these competing literacies had much to do with notions of gender and to demonstrate how debates about female literacy were critical to the emergence of imperial nations Looking at writers whom she dubs the figurative daughters of the mythological figure Dido builder of an empire that threatened to rival Rome Ferguson traces debates about literacy and empire in the works of Marguerite de Navarre Christine de Pisan Elizabeth Cary and Aphra Behn as well as male writers such as Shakespeare Rabelais and Wyatt The result is a study that sheds new light on the crucial roles that gender and women played in the modernization of England and France

Joining the Conversation Janet Levarie Smarr, 2010-02-24 Avoiding the male authored model of competing orations French and Italian women of the Renaissance framed their dialogues as informal conversations as letters with friends that in turn became epistles to a wider audience and even sometimes as dramas No other study to date has provided thorough comparative view of these works across French Italian and Latin Smarr's comprehensive treatment relates these writings to classical medieval and Renaissance forms of dialogue and to other genres including drama lyric exchange and humanist invective as well as to the real conversations in women's lives in order to show how women adapted existing models to their own needs and purposes Janet Levarie Smarr is Professor of Theatre and Italian Studies at the University of California San Diego

Earthly Treasures Catharine Randall, 2007 Earthly Treasures maps the presence position and use in the narrative of a variety of material objects in Marguerite de Navarre's Heptameron There is a wide selection of objects ranging from tapestries with scripture passages woven into the borders fine arts paintings chalices incised with proverbs emblems table linens copies of Bibles or manuscripts clothing masks stage props jewelry furniture and foodstuffs Although the presence of such material objects seems paradoxical given the scriptural mandate to disregard things of this world and to store up treasure rather in heaven Marguerite found license to use such objects both in the Bible and in the daily life oriented and artifact studded sermons and writings collected in the Table Talk of Martin Luther

Broomhall, 2005-12-15 This work considers how Frenchwomen participated in Christian religious practice during the sixteenth century with their words and their actions Using extensive original and archival sources it provides a comprehensive study of how women contributed to institutional theological devotional and political religious matters Challenging the view of religious reforms and ideas imposed by male authorities upon women this study argues instead that women Catholic and Calvinist lay and monastic were deeply involved in the culture meanings and development of contemporary religious practices Encyclopedia of Women in the Renaissance Anne R. Speaking of Love: The Love Dialogue in Italian and French Renaissance Literature Reinier Leushuis, 2017-03-27 Re evaluating the dialogue s place in the literary landscape of the Italian and French Renaissance Speaking of Love presents the love dialogue at the intersection of a revival of the form and the period s philosophies of love and desire Between 1540 and 1580 authors such as Speroni Tullia d Aragona the Venetian poligrafi Tyard Le Caron Pasquier Taillemont Marguerite de Navarre and Louise Lab feature interlocutors not only deliberating on love but imitating the experience of love in their dynamics of speaking These love dialogues allow early modern ideologies and discourses of love to be imitated by the reader and rival lyric poetry in conveying amorous experience validating dialogue as an authentic literary form rather than a tool of philosophical thinking

Clément Marot and Religion Dick Wursten, 2010-05-20 Famous mainly for his chansons and epigrams the French poet Clément Marot 1496 1544 also supplied the texts for the Huguenot Psalter Did he only paraphrase the Psalms to do Marguerite de Navarre the leading lady of reform oriented France a favour or was there more to it This book offers a new approach to this question which has got stuck in a yes no discussion A breakthrough is forced by the author s focussing on the Psalm paraphrases themselves which until now have never actually been included in Marot research Analysed from a multidisciplinary perspective the successive versions of these paraphrases reveal that Marot was interested in reaching a consistent literary and historically reliable versification of the Psalms thus implicitly questioning the traditional christological exegesis The author s perusal of Jewish exegetical insights Kimhi Ibn Ezra in Martin Bucer s Commentary shows where Marot acquired a satisfactory hermeneutical framework
