'Homo Religiosus' in Mircea Eliade Saliba, 2023-09-20 Archeology in Cultural Systems Sally R. Binford, Lewis Roberts Binford, Archeology shares with other anthropological sciences the goal of explaining differences and similarities among cultural systems Sally R Binford and Lewis R Binford therefore are concerned with theory and arguments which treat

problems of the interrelationship of cultural variables with explanatory value Archeology in Cultural Systems is devoted to four different aspects of archeology This book progresses from theoretical methodological discussions to specific consideration of archeological materials It focuses on the analysis of archeological remains from a single site Its concern is primarily with recognizing measuring and explaining variability in the form and distribution of a site s cultural remains The authors argue that internal variability derives from the composition and distribution of societal segments represented at the site The work then shifts to study of archeological components or their attributes and seeks explanations for observed differences and similarities A final section of the volume comments and discusses materials in the volume Archeology in Cultural Systems is not a monolithic presentation of any particular school of archeological thought There are common interests and many points of agreement among the authors but there is also diversity of opinion on several points These points are the focus of research here Lewis R Binford is professor emeritus of anthropology at the University of New Mexico He is the author of In Pursuit of the Past Decoding the Archaeological Record and Constructing Frames of Reference An Analytical Method for Archaeological Theory Building Using Hunter Gatherer and Environmental Data Sets Sally R Binford was professor of anthropology at the University of New Mexico She is the author of Stone Tools and Human Behavior

Society & Culture , Relating Religion Jonathan Z. Smith, 2004-11-10 One of the most influential theorists of religion Jonathan Z Smith is best known for his analyses of religious studies as a discipline and for his advocacy and refinement of comparison as the basis for the history of religions Relating Religion gathers seventeen essays four of them never before published that together provide the first broad overview of Smith s thinking since his seminal 1982 book Imagining Religion Smith first explains how he was drawn to the study of religion outlines his own theoretical commitments and draws the connections between his thinking and his concerns for general education He then engages several figures and traditions that serve to define his interests within the larger setting of the discipline The essays that follow consider the role of taxonomy and classification in the study of religion the construction of difference and the procedures of generalization and redescription that Smith takes to be key to the comparative enterprise The final essays deploy features of Smith s most recent work especially the notion of translation Heady original and provocative Relating Religion is certain to be hailed as a landmark in the academic study and critical theory of religion
