Roma Imperious Alternate World History:

Roma Imperious William E. Corrie, 3rd, 2004-08-01 Roma Imperious is an alternate world historical role playing game set in 708 A D where the Roman empire discovered and developed magic A change has swept over the world and the Chinese Romans and Skandians have taken advantage of the new power This book is where alternate history meets Roman fantasy

The Scientific Sublime in Imperial Rome Patrick Glauthier, 2025-03-20 The Scientific Sublime in Imperial Rome charts the role of the sublime in first century debates about how and why we investigate the natural world It shows how the sublimity of the study of nature the scientific sublime animates Manilius Astronomica Seneca's Natural Questions Lucan's Civil War and the anonymous Aetna and explores how these authors inflect and deploy the scientific sublime in their respective historical and socio political contexts Imbued with the triumphal optimism of the Augustan moment Manilius takes the reader on a rollercoaster ride through the expanses of the heavens reveling in the infinite dimensions of the cosmos and the astounding ability of his mathematical calculations to uncover the mind of god this is the ultimate intellectual pursuit The instability and paranoia of the Neronian period fundamentally compromise this posture In Natural Questions Seneca rejects Manilius celestial adventure and redirects the reader's gaze to atmospheric phenomena The turbulence and tumult of meteorological inquiry do not lead to certain knowledge but Seneca hopes that its electric vitality might counteract the allure of morally corrupt pastimes and of political power itself For Lucan the Manilian and Senecan projects are delusional fantasies The study of nature stripped of the illusion that it serves some higher purpose constitutes a distraction from the urgent necessity of civil war and those characters who understand nature's mechanics appear laughably irrelevant or downright deadly In the early Flavian period the Aetna poet rehabilitates the ecstatic charge of natural inquiry Dismissing the lofty aspirations of Manilius and Seneca the author careens over Sicily's jagged terrain and plunges the reader into the depths of the earth searching for terrestrial knowledge By the poem's conclusion however sheer awe before the amphitheatrical spectacle of nature supplants the rush of philosophical analysis as the goal of studying the earth this attitude connects the poet with Longinus and the Elder Pliny Through close readings this book tells a new story about the study of nature at Rome It locates the sublimity of that study at the center of early imperial Latin literature and thereby renders the classical sublime more expansive dynamic and contested

The Limits of Empire: European Imperial Formations in Early Modern World History William Reger, 2016-03-03 This volume published in honor of historian Geoffrey Parker explores the working of European empires in a global perspective focusing on one of the most important themes of Parker's work the limits of empire which is to say the centrifugal forces sacral dynastic military diplomatic geographical informational that plagued imperial formations in the early modern period 1500 1800 During this time of wrenching technological demographic climatic and economic change empires had to struggle with new religious movements incipient nationalisms new sea routes new military technologies and an evolving state system with complex new rules of diplomacy Engaging with a host of current debates the chapters in this book break away from conventional historical conceptions of empire as an essentially western phenomenon with clear demarcation lines between the colonizer and the colonized These are replaced here by much more fluid and subtle conceptions that highlight complex interplays between coalitions of rulers and ruled In so doing the volume builds upon recent work that increasingly suggests that empires simply could not exist without the consent of their imperial subjects or at least significant groups of them This was as true for the British Raj as it was for imperial China or Russia Whilst the thirteen chapters in this book focus on a number of geographic regions and adopt different approaches each shares a focus on and interest in the working of empires and the ways that imperial formations dealt with or failed to deal with the challenges that beset them Taken together they reflect a new phase in the evolving historiography of empire They also reflect the scholarly contributions of the dedicatee Geoffrey Parker whose life and work are discussed in the introductory chapters and we re proud to say in a delightful chapter by Parker himself an autobiographical reflection that closes the book

Quintus Claudius: A Romance of Imperial Rome (Complete) Ernst Eckstein, 2020-09-28 It was the morning of the 12th of September in the Year of Our Lord 95 the first cold gleam of dawn was shining on the steel grey surface of the Tyrrhenian sea To the east over the gently undulating coast of Campania the sky was tinged with that tender dewy green which follows on the paling of the stars to the west the waters still lay in impenetrable darkness Their almost unruffled face was swiftly parted by a large trireme just now making its way from the south and opposite to Salernum between the Posidium promontory and the Island of Capreae The oars of the crew who sat in rows on three ranks of benches rose and fell in rhythm to a melancholy chant the steersman yawned as he looked into the distance hoping for the moment of release A small hatchway fitted with silver ornaments now opened on to the deck from the cabin between decks a fat round head with short hair showed itself in the opening and a pair of blinking eyes looked curiously round in every direction Presently the head was followed by a body of which the squat rotundity matched the odd head Well Chrysostomus is Puteoli in sight yet asked the stout man stepping on to the deck and looking across to the blue black rocks of Capreae Ask again in three hours time replied the steersman Unless you can succeed in looking round the corner like the magician of Tyana you must need wait till we have the island yonder behind us What exclaimed the other drawing a little ivory map from his tunic Are those rocks only Capreae Thou sayest O Herodianus Out there on the heights to the right hardly visible yet stands the palace of the glorified Caesar Tiberius Do you see that steep cliff straight down to the sea That was where such useless fellows as you were dropped over into the water by Caesar s slaves Chrysostomus do not be impudent How dare you a common ship s mate make so bold as to scoff at me the companion and confidential friend of the illustrious Caius Aurelius By the gods but it is beneath me to hold conversation with you an ignorant seaman a man who carries no wax tablets about him who only knows how to handle the tiller and not the stylus a common Gaul who is ignorant of all history of the gods such a man ought not even to exist so far as the friend of Aurelius is concerned

Money in Imperial Rome Merav Haklai, 2025-05-31 Money in Imperial Rome offers an in depth examination of the institutional framework within which money operated as an economic agent in the Roman empire emphasising its systemic complexity Analyses focus on classical Roman law as reflected in the writings of Roman jurists from the second and early third centuries AD The legal sources are augmented with documentary materials which give independent evidence of actual practice and with Jewish legal sources which give evidence of a separate contemporary legal tradition The work promotes Keynesian claims for the endogenous nature of money and adopts approaches advanced by new institutional economics NIE while its innovative contribution is in suggesting a complexity oriented approach to understanding the conceptual framework that dictated the use of money in private transactions Money is a complex phenomenon in the sense that it allows for new patterns of activity to be created by individuals who adjust their use of it to the continuously evolving system in which they operate The book is divided into four parts The first part is introductory The second part traces a line of thought consistent in legal developments that regulated exchange which perceived money as a unique phenomenon different from all other items therefore specific rules were applied to money and a special role was allocated to it in defining the status of the parties This is detectable for price pretium in the Roman contract for sale emptio venditio remuneration merces in the Roman contract for lease and hire locatio conductio and Jewish legal rules regarding sales conducted via a mode of acquisition known as acquisition by drawing qinyan meshikha The third part examines money as a financial tool It observes the various innovative ways Romans used the instrument of interest Then follows a discussion of regulations regarding interest bearing deposits its flexible application by individuals and the interconnected dynamics within and between three legal traditions operating under Roman regime Roman Jewish and Egyptian Hellenistic laws Investigation then moves to credit money in the Roman world and its capacity to increase the money supply The fourth part offers a summary of the work and some conclusions

Lucan's Imperial World Laura Zientek, Mark Thorne, 2020-02-06 These new essays comprise the first collective study of Lucan and his epic poem that focuses specifically on points of contact between his text and the cultural literary and historical environments in which he lived and wrote The Bellum Civile Lucan's poetic narrative of the monumental civil war between Julius Caesar and Pompey Magnus explores the violent foundations of the Roman principate and the Julio Claudian dynasty The poem composed more than a century later during the reign of Nero thus recalls the past while being very much a product of its time This volume offers innovative readings that seek to interpret Lucan's epic in terms of the contemporary politics philosophy literature rhetoric geography and cultural memory of the author's lifetime In doing so these studies illuminate how approaching Lucan and his text in light of their contemporary environments enriches our understanding of author text and context individually and in conversation with each other The Return of Geopolitics and Imperial Conflict Francesco M.

Bongiovanni,2024-07-01 After the brief respite that followed the fall of the USSR geopolitics and major wars are back affecting everyone everywhere In a world transitioning to multipolarity Great Powers jostle for supremacy regional powers feel emboldened to act on their own ambitions supply chains are disrupted and instability becomes the norm America has an empire that it wants to keep Russia lost an empire that it wants to recover and China doesn't have an empire and wants one with India the wildcard But there is more to it than Great Power rivalry From Ukraine to the South China Sea from the Middle East to Central Asia from the Arctic to outer space Bongiovanni lays it bare in this fascinating journey across the geopolitics of our time with in the background de globalization the battle against the dollar and the new AI driven age
