Writing and Seeing Rui Manuel G. de Carvalho Homem,Maria de Fátima Lambert,2006

The essays in this volume are informed by a variety of theoretical assumptions and of critical methodologies but they all share an interest in the intersections of word and image in a variety of media This unifying rationale secures the present collection's central position in the current critical context defined as it predominantly is by ways of reading that are based on a relational nexus The intertextual the intermedial the intersemiotic are indeed foregrounded and combined in these essays conceptually as much as in the critical practices favoured by the various contributions Studies of literature in its relation to pictorial genres enjoy a relative prominence in the volume but the range of media and of approaches considered is broad enough to include photography film video television comic strips animated film public art material culture The backgrounds of contributors are likewise diverse culturally academically linguistically The volume combines contributions by prominent scholars and critics with essays by younger scholars from a variety of backgrounds The resulting plurality of perspective is indeed a source of new insights into the relations between writing and seeing and it contributes to making this collection an exciting new contribution to word and image studies

Quinn, 1996 The aim of Recharting the Thirties is to revitalize the awareness of the reading public with regard to eighteen writers whose books have been largely ignored by publishers and scholars since their major works first appeared in the thirties The selection is not based on a political agenda but encompasses a wide and divergent range of philosophies clearly the contrasts between Empson and Upward or between Powell and Slater indicated the wide ranging vision of the period Women writers of the period have largely been marginalized and the writings of Sackville West and Burdekin for example not only present distinct feminine voices of the period but also illuminate how much good literature has been forgotten

Arthurian Literature X Richard Barber, 1991-01-24 The tenth volume of Arthurian Literature continues some of the themes of earlier issues as well as exploring unfamiliar and controversial ground The second part of CHRISTINE POULSON s survey of the Arthurian legend in 19th century art is an analysis by subject of the works catalogued by artist in Arthurian Literature IX A H W SMITH provides a substantial update to Mary Wildman s bibliography of modern Arthurian literature which appeared in Arthurian Literature II adding not only recent works but also many items missing from the earlier list Mr Smith also contributes an article on Ponticus Virumnus and the text of Gildas one of the more intriguing mysteries of Arthurian text history and sets out Virumnus claim to have seen a poem by Gildas which has since disappeared ARMEL DIVERRES writes on the origins of Chretien de Troyes Conte del Graal he argues that we should seek the poet s inspiration

David Jones and the Craft of Theology Elizabeth R Powell, 2020-10-01 This is an imaginative exploration of the art of David Jones which addresses Christian teaching through engagement with selected artistic works a poem a painted inscription and a wood engraving Elizabeth R Powell's study does not just enable readers to understand Jones but also to use his kind of loving attention in their own lives which Jones would argue is theology's most important task Through close readings of material objects Powell draws the reader into the participatory performative and dialogical possibilities of the craft of theology She frames an older style of theology in a distinctive and modern way as a graced human practice and a place of transforming relation with the divine Powell argues that Jones's art works offer places of beauty in which to become beauty along the way Located at the cross section of theology literature and the arts this volume shows that being interdisciplinary is nothing less than finding ways for theology and humanity to be more richly itself

The Third Spring Adam Schwartz, 2005-02 This book is the first detailed examination of these four authors as part of a Roman Catholic counter modern community of discourse It is informed by extensive research in the writers works scholarship on them and their personal papers
