Reading Republican Oratory Christa Gray, Andrea Balbo, Richard M. A. Marshall, Catherine E. W. Steel, 2018-02-09 Public speech was a key aspect of politics in Republican Rome both in theory and in practice and recent decades have seen a surge in scholarly discussion of its significance and performance Yet the partial nature of the surviving evidence means that our understanding of its workings is dominated by one man whose texts are the only examples to have survived in complete form since antiquity Cicero This collection of essays aims to broaden our conception of the oratory of the Roman Republic by exploring how it was practiced by individuals other than Cicero whether major statesmen jobbing lawyers or exceptionally the wives of politicians It focuses particularly on the surviving fragments of such oratory with individual essays tackling the challenges posed both by the partial and often unreliable nature of the evidence about these other Roman orators often known to us chiefly through the tendentious observations of Cicero himself and the complex intersections of the written fragments and the oral phenomenon Collectively the essays are concerned with the methods by which we are able to reconstruct non Ciceronian oratory and the exploration of new ways of interpreting this evidence to tell us about the content context and delivery of those speeches They are arranged into two thematic Parts the first addressing questions of reception selection and transmission and the second those of reconstruction contextualization and interpretation together they represent a comprehensive overview of the non Ciceronian speeches that will be of use to all ancient historians philologists and literary classicists with an interest in the oratory of the Roman Republic The Roman

Imperial Institutions in Ancient Rome and Early China Michael Loewe, Michael Nylan, T. Corey Brennan, 2025-05-15 Written by the eminent sinologist Michael Loewe and edited for publication by T Corey Brennan and Michael Nylan this book gives an overview of the considerations and practices of two major world empires that together ruled half of the earth's population in the first centuries BCE ancient Rome and Han China Approaching the historical material with a comparative perspective Loewe examines the strengths and weaknesses and the successes and failures which can be seen in the organisation and government of these two political systems Though each empire was largely ignorant of the other the problems they faced were similar given the rudimentary transportation and communication facilities of the time the high mortality rates and the low levels of literacy Yet each empire ruled its people in distinctly different ways with the Roman empire governed largely by military officials in contrast to the Chinese empire whose administration was well stocked with roughly 130 000 highly trained professionals The ten chapters of this book set out to compare the ways that these two contemporary regimes similar in size and population sought to control human activities and impose a set of regulated discipline over those who were ruled Each chapter concerns the degrees and methods of forming a united people the assumptions that lay behind such attempts the reliance that imperial authority placed on religious practices legal impositions and the structure of institutions and the bases of social cohesion and economic co-operation The result is an engaging study of two remarkable empires whose rise and fall are contrasted in a way that deepens our understanding of empire and civilisation War and Society in the Roman World Dr John Rich, Graham Shipley, 2020-07-24 This volume focuses on the changing relationship between warfare and the Roman citizenry from the Republic when war was at the heart of Roman life through to the Principate when it was confined to professional soldiers and to the Late Empire and the Roman army's eventual failure Dictionary of New Testament Background CRAIG A EVANS, STANLEY E PORTER, 2020-05-21 The
