Italian Medieval Sculpture in the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Cloisters Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), Lisbeth Castelnovo-Tedesco, Jack Soltanian, 2010 The collection of Italian medieval sculpture in The Metropolitan Museum of Art and The Cloisters began with the acquisition in 1908 of a Romanesque column statue today the Museum's holdings comprise more than seventy works dating from the ninth to the late fifteenth century The birthplaces of these works range from Sicily to Venice some typify local styles others illustrate the intense artistic exchanges taking place within Italy and between Italy and the wider world Technological advances of the last decades have made it possible to determine more precisely the materials and techniques from which works of art are made the history of their alteration and the mechanisms of their deterioration Using such techniques scholars have been able to ascertain for example that sculptures previously thought to be modern works carved in the medieval manner were in fact completely authentic This innovative volume represents a watershed in the study of sculpture a collaborative dialogue between an art historian and a conservator between art history and art science that deepens our understanding of the object we see while illuminating its elusive enigmatic history From publisher's description
