There is still more to be learned about the mechanisms that control the development of the brain, and the role of the environment in this process. The study of the brain is a complex task, and it is important to continue to explore the many different aspects of this fascinating organ.

Today's technology allows a much richer aggregation of data, there are significant barriers to applying the widely taught principle of complete (or nearly complete) openness. Access to these data is often restricted and it may be hard to understand the data, structure, and other factors pertinent to analyzing this information, considering a wide range of (related) social issues along with the growing non-quantified social issues.

We want your company to become a leading-edge technology provider and we are seeking a top tier technology leader to provide strategic vision and the organizational and financial leadership to achieve it. The ideal candidate will have a proven track record of leading a technology organization in a high-growth, competitive environment. The successful candidate will have a minimum of 10 years of experience in a senior technology leadership role, with a strong background in product development, project management, and team building. The candidate will also have a strong understanding of the business and a proven ability to drive results. The candidate will be responsible for developing and implementing the technology strategy, managing the technology budget, and leading the technology team. The candidate will also be responsible for identifying and evaluating new technology opportunities, and for managing the relationship with external technology vendors. The candidate will be a key member of the executive team and will report directly to the CEO. The candidate will have a strong communication and interpersonal skills, and will be able to work effectively with cross-functional teams.
