The First Great Political Realist Roger Boesche,2003-01-01 The First Great Political Realist is a succinct and penetrating analysis of one of the ancient world's foremost political realists Kautilya Kautilya's treatise Arthashastra stands as one of the great political books of the ancient world its ideas on the science of politics strikingly similar to those of Thucydides Machiavelli Hobbes Clausewitz and even Sun Tsu Roger Boesche's excellent commentary on Kautilya's voluminous text draws out the essential realist arguments for modern political analysis and demonstrates the continued relevance of Kautilya's work to modern Indian strategic thinking and our understanding of the relationship between politics and economics Striking a balance between textual analysis and secondary scholarship Boesche's work will be an enduring contribution to the study of ancient Indian history Eastern political thought and international relations Rebirth and the

Religious Realism in the Novels of Dostoevsky Wil van den Bercken,2011-01-01 This study offers a literary analysis and theological evaluation of the Christian themes in the five great novels of Dostoevsky Crime and Punishment The Idiot The Adolescent The Devils and The Brothers Karamazov Dostoevsky's ambiguous treatment of religious issues in his literary works strongly differs from the slavophile Orthodoxy of his journalistic writings In the novels Dostoevsky deals with Christian basic values which are presented via a unique tension between the fictionality of the Christian characters and the readers experience of the existential reality of their religious problems A History of Buddhist Philosophy David J.

Kalupahana,1992-03-01 David J Kalupahana s Buddhist Philosophy A Historical Analysis has since its original publication in 1976 offered an unequaled introduction to the philosophical principles and historical development of Buddhism Now representing the culmination of Dr Kalupahana s thirty years of scholarly research and reflection A History of Buddhist Philosophy builds upon and surpasses that earlier work providing a completely reconstructed detailed analysis of both early and later Buddhism Consumer Culture Reborn Martyn J. Lee,2003-09-02 Consumer Culture Reborn focuses on consumption as the point at which economy and culture combine The book draws the often polarised discourses of political economy and cultural studies closer together in a historical context as a means of understanding our social situations as we approach the end of the millenium Taking as its central theme the ability of the capitalist mode of production to transform the material and social world which sustains it the book focuses on some of the ways in which this transformational impulse has altered the means by which ordinary people reproduce their life and their patterns of life Neither a history book nor simply a book of theory Consumer Culture Reborn fuses elements of economic social and cultural theory in an historical perspective Corruption and Realism in Late Socialist China Jeffrey Kinkley,2006-10-26 As China s centrally planned economy and welfare state have given way to a more loosely controlled version of late socialism public concern about economic reform s downside has found expression in epic novels about official corruption and its effects While the media shied away from dealing with these issues novelists stepped in to fill the void Anti corruption fiction exploded onto the marketplace and into public consciousness spawning popular films and television series until a clampdown after 2002 that ended China s first substantial realist fiction since the 1989 Beijing massacre With frankness and imagination seldom allowed journalists novelists have depicted the death of China s rust belt industries the gap between rich and poor social unrest i e riots and the questionable new practices of entrenched communist party rulers Corruption and Realism examines this rebirth of the Chinese political novel and its media adaptations explaining how the works reflect contemporary Chinese life and how they embody Chinese traditions of social criticism literary realism and contemplation of taboo subjects This is the first book to investigate such novels and includes excerpts from personal interviews with China s three most famous anticorruption novelists Realist Ecstasy Lindsay V. Society for Theater Research Explores the intersection and history of American literary realism and the performance of spiritual and racial embodiment Recovering a series of ecstatic performances in late nineteenth and early twentieth century American realism Realist Ecstasy travels from camp meetings to Native American ghost dances to storefront church revivals to explore realism s relationship to spiritual experience In her approach to realism as both an unruly archive of performance and a wide ranging repertoire of media practices including literature photography audio recording and early film Lindsay V

Reckson argues that the real was repetitively enacted and reenacted through bodily practice. Realist Ecstasy demonstrates how the realist imagining of possessed bodies helped construct and naturalize racial difference while excavating the complex shifting and dynamic possibilities embedded in ecstatic performance. Its production of new and immanent forms of being beside Across her readings of Stephen Crane, James Weldon Johnson, and Nella Larsen among others, Reckson triangulates secularism, realism, and racial formation in the post-Reconstruction moment. Realist Ecstasy shows how post-Reconstruction realist texts mobilized gestures, especially the gestures associated with religious ecstasy, to racialize secularism itself. Reckson offers us a distinctly new vision of American realism as a performative practice, a sustained account of how performance lives in and through literary archives and a rich sense of how closely secularization and racialization were linked in Jim Crow America.

For at least a century, scholarship on realist narrative and occasional polemics against realist narrative have assumed that realism promotes the values of sameness against those of otherness and that it does so by use of a narrative mode that excludes certain epistemologies, ideologies, and ways of thinking. However, the truth is more complex than that, as the essays in this volume all demonstrate. Realism's Others examines the various strategies by which realist narratives create the idea of difference, whether that difference is registered in terms of class, ethnicity, epistemology, nationality, or gender. The authors in this collection examine in detail not just the fact of otherness in some canonical realist and canonical magical realist and postmodern novels, but the actual means by which that otherness is established by the text. These essays suggest that neither realist narrative nor narratives positioned as anti-realist take otherness for granted; rather, the texts discussed here actively create difference, and this creation of difference often occasions severe difficulties for the novels' representational schema. How does one represent different types of knowledge, other aesthetic modes, or other spaces, for example, in texts whose epistemology has long been seen as secular and empirical, whose aesthetic mode has always been approached as pure descriptive mimesis, and whose settings are largely domestic? These essays all begin with a certain collision of nationalities, of classes, of representational matrices, of religions, and go on to chart the challenges that this collision presents to our ideas or stereotypes of realism, or to the possibilities of writing against and beyond realism. This question motivates examination of key realist or social realist texts in some of these essays: by Honoré de Balzac, George Eliot, Franz Grillparzer, Theodor Storm, Gottfried Keller, Theodor Fontane, Wilhelm Raabe, María Amparo Ruiz de Burton, Henry James, William Dean Howells, Charles Chesnutt, Theodore Dreiser, H. T. Tsiang, Alan Sillitoe, and Richard Yates. However, it is no less central a question in certain non-realist texts which engage realism to a surprising degree, often to debate them openly. Some of these essays discuss, in this light, fantastic, magical realist, and postmodern works by Abram Tertz, Paul Auster, Alejo Carpentier, Toni Morrison, Gabriel García Márquez, Salman Rushdie, and A. S. Byatt. Realism becomes more than an aesthetic aim or narrative mode. It becomes rather a value evoked and discussed by all of the works analyzed here in order to reveal its impact on fiction's treatment of ethnicity, nationality, ideology, space.

Abstracts of The Collected Works of C. G. Jung, 1978 Classical Indian Metaphysics: Refutations of Realism and the Emergence of New Logic Stephen H. Phillips, 1998-01-01 Our knowledge of the most ancient times in India rests mainly on tradition The Puranas the Mahabharata and in a minor degree of Ramayana profess to give accounts from tradition about the earliest occurrences The Rgveda contains historical allusions of which some record contemporary persons and events but more refer to bygone times and persons and are obviously based on tradition Almost all the information therefore comes from tradition The results obtained from an examination of Puranic and epic tradition as well as of the Rgveda and Vedic literature are set forth in the present book which happens to be a pioneering work in the area by an important orientalist of the nineteenth century Ordinary Enchantments Wendy B. Faris, 2004 Ordinary Enchantments investigates magical realism as the most important trend in contemporary international fiction defines its characteristics and narrative techniques and proposes a new theory to explain its significance In the most comprehensive critical treatment of this literary mode to date Wendy B Faris discusses a rich array of examples from magical realist novels around the world including the work not only of Latin American writers like Gabriel Garcia Marquez but also of authors like Salman Rushdie Gunter Grass Toni Morrison and Ben Okri Faris argues that by combining realistic representation with fantastic elements so that the marvelous seems to grow organically out of the ordinary magical realism destabilizes the dominant form of realism based on empirical definitions of reality gives it visionary power and thus constitutes what might be called a remystification of narrative in the West Noting the radical narrative heterogeneity of magical realism the author compares its cultural role to that of traditional shamanic performance which joins the worlds of daily life and that of the spirits Because of that capacity to bridge different worlds magical realism has served as an effective decolonizing agent providing the ground for marginal voices submerged traditions and emergent literatures to develop and create masterpieces At the same time this process is not limited to postcolonial situations but constitutes a global trend that replenishes realism from within In addition to describing what many consider to be the progressive cultural work of magical realism Faris also confronts the recent accusation that magical realism and its study as a global phenomenon can be seen as a form of commodification and an imposition of cultural homogeneity And finally drawing on the narrative innovations and cultural scenarios that magical realism enacts she extends those principles toward issues of gender and the possibility of a female element within magical realism

Postwar Literary Emergence Iris Calder, AI, 2025-05-06 Postwar Literary Emergence explores the profound impact of World War II and subsequent social upheaval on global literature It examines how writers navigated historical trauma and crafted new narrative forms to articulate previously unvoiced experiences The book reveals how literature became a tool for social critique political activism and personal healing in the face of unprecedented change The collection of essays analyzes the reinvention of realism the rise of experimental narratives and the exploration of identity in a fractured world For example the book addresses the resurgence of historical fiction as a means of confronting collective memory By examining literary collections and essays from Europe Latin America Asia and Africa the book demonstrates how writers grappled with legacies of war colonialism and injustice The book progresses across chapters by exploring different geographical areas and thematic concerns offering a scholarly yet accessible tone
