Religion In The Opera House:

Religion in the Opera House R. W. S. Mendl, 2005-12-01 Mark Twain's Religion William E. Phipps, 2003 Although there are many studies of America's most famous literary figure this thorough investigation provides not only new information on Twain's religion but also a different approach from anything published before Interpretations of Twain over the past century have been largely the province of literary critics By skillful textual analysis they have produced an abundance of nuanced studies but they tend to have little interest in and knowledge of the broad religious context of Victorian society which both angered and intrigued Twain Phipps provides perceptions often overlooked into the way Clemens's religion was related to such significant issues as racism imperialism and materialism This study takes a close look at his growing up in the slave culture of Missouri Protestants and his subsequent involvement in the radically different abolition culture in which his wife was raised Like Twain who aimed at communicating with the common person Phipps has written in a style that will attract the educated public while providing fresh insights for Twain scholars His research has taken him to Hannibal Elmira Hartford and to the Twain archives in Berkeley Mostly chronological the book makes extensive use of Twain's works and often neglected in such studies on Twain the Bible his most important literary source Christian Science Sentinel , 1898 The Jewish Encyclopedia: a Descriptive Record of the History, Religion, Literature, and Customs of the Jewish People from the Earliest Times to the Present Day , 1906 The Greatest Religious Novels of All Time Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, Gustave Flaubert, Mark Twain, Henryk Sienkiewicz, Dante Alighieri, George MacDonald, Anatole France, Henry Van Dyke, Robert Hugh Benson, Arthur Christopher Benson, Leonid Andreyev, John Bunyan, Grace Livingston Hill, Voltaire, Paul Laurence Dunbar, John Milton, Charles M. Cinema's Illusions, Opera's Allure David Schroeder,2016-10-06 The invention of cinema was ingenious so much so that virtually no one quite knew what to do with it In its earliest stages especially with the advent of the feature film it needed models and opera proved to be especially useful in that regard The allure of opera to cinema early in the twentieth century held up through the silent era into sound films through the golden age of movies and beyond This book explores the numerous ways some predictable some unexpected and some bizarre in which this has happened The influence of Richard Wagner on filmmakers has been especially striking and some have even devised visual images that seem to emerge from a kind of non verbal Wagnerian essence a formative musical urge that can underlie a cinematic idea defying explanation and remaining purely sensory Directors like Griffith DeMille Eisenstein Chaplin Bunuel or Hitchcock have intuited this possibility Schroeder provides a fascinating well researched and always entertaining account of the influence of one medium on another and shows that opera can often be found lurking in the background or booming in the foreground of an impressive range of films

Religious Telescope ,1906 Islam, Christianity and Tradition Ian Richard Netton,2006-12-22 Offers a unique comparative exploration of the role of tradition in Islam and Christianity The idea of tradition has enjoyed a variety of senses and definitions in Islam and Christianity but both have cleaved at certain times to a supposedly golden age of tradition from the past The author suggests there has been a chain of thinkers from classical Islam to the twentieth century who share a common interest in ijihad or independent thinking Drawing on past and present evidence and using Christian tradition as a focus for contrast and comparison the author highlights the seemingly paradoxical harmony between tradition and itjihad in Islam The author draws on a variety of primary and secondary sources including contemporary newspaper and journal
