Replicant Night No 3:

Replicant Night K. W. Jeter, 1997 Acclaimed author K W Jeter adds another chapter to the adventures of Rick Deckard the android hunter hero created by SF legend Philip K Dick and brought to life in the 1982 Ridley Scott movie In the Los Angeles of the future Deckard is in dire need of cash To earn money he consults on a movie adaptation of his hunt for the original replicants as seen in the film Blade Runner But when a living replicant and Deckard s former LAPD partner are slain the movie fantasy becomes grimly real The Cinematic Novel and Postmodern Pop Fiction Décio Torres

Cruz, 2019-12-05 D cio Torres Cruz approaches connections between literature and cinema partly through issues of gender and identity and partly through issues of reality and representation In doing so he looks at the various ways in which people have thought of the so called cinematic novel tracing the development of that genre concept not only in the French cin roman and film scenarios but also in novels from the United States England France and Latin America The main tendency he identifies is the blending of the cinematic novel with pop literature through allusions to Pop Art and other postmodern cultural trends His prime exhibits are a number of novels by the Argentinian writer Manuel Puig Betrayed by Rita Hayworth Heartbreak Tango The Buenos Aires Affair Kiss of the Spider Woman and Pubis angelical Bringing in suggestive sociocultural and psychoanalytical considerations Cruz shows how in Puig s hands the cinematic novel resulted in a pop collage of different texts films discourses and narrative devices which fused reality and imagination into dream and desire

American Cities in Post-Apocalyptic Science Fiction Robert Yeates, 2021-11-15 Visions of the American city in post apocalyptic ruin permeate literary and popular fiction across print visual audio and digital media American Cities in Post Apocalyptic Science Fiction explores the prevalence of these representations in American culture drawing from a wide range of primary and critical works from the early twentieth century to today Beginning with science fiction in literary magazines before taking in radio dramas film video games and expansive transmedia franchises Robert Yeates argues that post apocalyptic representations of the American city are uniquely suited for explorations of contemporary urban issues Examining how the post apocalyptic American city has been repeatedly adapted and repurposed to new and developing media over the last century this book reveals that the content and form of such texts work together to create vivid and immersive fictional spaces in ways that would otherwise not be possible Chapters present media specific analyses of these texts situating them within their historical contexts and the broader history of representations of urban ruins in American fiction Original in its scope and cross media approach American Cities in Post Apocalyptic Science Fiction both illuminates little studied texts and provides provocative new readings of familiar works such as Blade Runner and The Walking Dead placing them within the larger historical context of imaginings of the American city in ruins Blade Runner Matt Hills, 2011-12-13 More than just a box office flop that resurrected itself in the midnight movie circuit Blade Runner 1982 achieved extraordinary cult status through video laserdisc and a five disc DVD collector s set Blade Runner has become a current boom in realityTV comes to mind In the seventeen years since the publication of Baudrillard s Simulacra and Simulation ever more sophisticated technologies based on the computer as the simulacrum machine par excellence have offered us powerful new means of manipulating data and consequently means of manipulating editing and inventing reality The aim of this study is to unmask false representations showing history personal and cultural identity especially gender and racial identities the simulacrum of speed and American reality itself to be constructs
