Xi's New Year speech draws praise

World has seen China's acceleration of reform and its resolve to 'open ever wider', president says

What could China bring to the world in 2019? The answer, for President Xi Jinping, might be more imports of beef from the United States, given China's strong intentions to boost opening-up.

Saltzer, manager of the International Business Development Department of Citic Group, said his company has a "great ambition" goal to develop business in China after the country lifted its ban on U.S. beef imports in late 2017.

"All the products launched earlier are sold out," he said. China Daily while talking about the country's Chinese market, China's beef imports from the U.S. in 2017, when the European country was hit by an outbreak of mad cow disease.

The lift of the ban on U.S. beef imports is among China's increasing efforts to boost opening-up, as planned by President Xi Jinping in his New Year's speech. Xi also mentioned his intention to develop reform and opening-up.

The world has seen China's acceleration of reform and opening-up as well as its determination to carry it forward, he said.

"China's reform will never stop, and its door will only open ever wider," Xi said in the speech delivered on New Year's Eve.

China will continue to push ahead the building of Belt and Road Initiative projects this year and it will continue to advance its reform and opening-up with a shared future for mankind, Xi said.

Last year marked the 40th anniversary of reform and opening-up, and China launched more than 100 major reform measures and increased opening-up through such efforts as lowering import tariffs for vehicles, easing market access and facilitating investment.

China continued to reform its market to further deepen reform and expand opening-up in the new era by joining the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank, the Shanghai Cooperation Organization Summit in Qingdao, the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation in Beijing and the first China-Africa Trade Expo.

"We put China's proposals on the table and made our voice heard in the global dialogue," Xi said, adding that he had visited five continents last year and Chinese style of trade had been enlarged.

At a New Year gathering held by the country's top political authority body on Saturday, Xi greeted his in-laws, his wife and children.

WORLD WATCH
by WANG YI

New form of global relations takes shape

With the inaugural issue of the Global Edition to the Wednesday of the new year, China Daily has opened a new window for communication and understanding between China and the rest of the world. I wish to express warm congratulations on the launch of China Daily Global Edition, and extend New Year greetings to readers around the world.

As the tide of globalization surges with vigor, our world today is undergoing profound changes across its entirety. This is a watershed in human history.

Wang Yi, Chinese Foreign Minister, said through his interview.

Along with the challenges and opportunities in the world, the construction of economic globalization and multi-polarization is moving forward on a steep slope, and the application of ICT (information and communication technology) and artificial intelligence is reshaping our work and life. In this context, the world has entered a new era of globalization.

China, US should meet in the middle

By CHEN WENJIA in Beijing

China and the United States, which are facing industrial revolutions, are in an exciting time. In 2019, the two countries should meet in the middle, according to leading experts in the new year.

President Xi Jinping and US President Donald Trump both spoke at the 2019 World Economic Forum on Jan. 29, during which they exchanged congratulations on the 40th anniversary of the reform and opening-up of China.

The US has improved positive trade with China by 100 billion dollars since July, and China has reduced its trade deficit with the US by 100 billion dollars. The US has not yet seen the impact of its trade war on its economy.

Religious Violence Today Michael Jerryson, 2020-07-15 Through sections containing overview essays and reference entries related to particular religions, this resource explores the rise of religious violence, hate crime, and persecution around the world. Religious violence and persecution have been growing steadily both within the United States and around the world. Drawing on the expertise of a wide range of scholars, this current and comprehensive reference helps readers understand the persecution of members of particular faiths as well as violence committed by members of those faiths. In doing so, it promotes a greater understanding of the role of religion in global politics, domestic and international terrorism, and religious bigotry. The book contains sections on particular religious traditions from around the world. Each section begins with an overview essay surveying violence related to that particular religion, whether committed by or against members of that faith. Reference entries in each section then provide objective, fundamental information about particular topics related to violence and the religion discussed. The entries provide cross-references and suggestions for further reading, and the work closes with a bibliography of resources for further study.

Red Star over the Pacific, Second Edition Toshi Yoshihara, James Holmes, 2018-12-15 Combining a close knowledge of Asia and an ability to tap Chinese language sources with naval combat experience and expertise in sea power theory, the authors assess how the rise of Chinese sea power will affect U.S. maritime strategy in Asia. They argue that China has laid the groundwork for a sustained challenge to American primacy in maritime Asia, and to defend this hypothesis, they look back to Alfred Thayer Mahan's sea power theories, now popular with the Chinese. The book considers how strategic thought about the sea shapes Beijing's deliberations and compares China's geostrategic predicament to that of the Kaiser's Germany a century ago. It examines the Chinese navy's operational concepts, tactics, and capabilities and appraises China's missile force. The authors conclude that China now presents a challenge to America's strategic position of such magnitude that Washington must compete in earnest.

China's Influence and the Center-periphery Tug of War in Hong Kong, Taiwan and Indo-Pacific Brian C. H. Fong, Jieh-min Wu, Andrew J. Nathan, 2020-12-30 Bringing together a team of cutting-edge researchers based in Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Indo-Pacific countries, this book focuses on the tug of war between China's influence and forces of resistance in Hong Kong, Taiwan, and selected countries in its surrounding jurisdictions. China's influence has met growing defiance from citizens in Hong Kong and Taiwan who fear the extinction of their valued local identities. However, the book shows that resistance to China's influence is a global phenomenon, varying in motivation and intensity from region to region and country to country, depending on the forms of China's influence and the balances of forces in each society. The book also advances a concentric center-periphery framework for comparing different forms of extra-jurisdictional Chinese influence mechanisms, ranging from economic, military, and diplomatic influences to united front operations.
